GIVE OUT PLAN FOR 6 BILLION VICTORY LOAN

Glass Proposes Bill Governing Future Issues.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The Victory Liberty loan to be floated to the American people in April will be for approximately $6,000,000,000 and will consist of short term bonds providing a comparatively high return to the investor.

These prospects were indicated by a letter Secretary of the Treasury Glass addressed tonight to Chairman Kitchin of the house committee on ways and means and the draft of a bill providing for future issues of bonds which accompanied the letter.

More Loans Predicted.

With Representative Kitchin and Senator Smoot agreeing that the expenses of the government next year will be $10,000,000,000, whereas the tax revenue will be only $4,000,000,000, it is apparent that the forthcoming loan will not end the war borrowing from the people. While taxes may be increased it is certain that another loan will be necessary during the next fiscal year and possibly others thereafter.

To make the bonds attractive to investors Mr. Glass proposes that he be clothed with authority to increase the interest rate on short term securities, pay premiums at maturity, and exempt future and past bonds from taxation.

Proposed Bond Program.

The bill submitted by the secretary of the treasury proposes:

To increase the authorized issue of bonds from $20,000,000,000 to $25,000,000,000.

To remove the limitation as to interest rate so far as regards bonds maturing not more than ten years from the date of issue.

To authorize the issue of not to exceed $10,000,000,000 of interest bearing, noncirculating notes having maturities from one to five years.

To confer authority upon the secretary of the treasury to determine the exemptions from taxation in respect to future issues of bonds and notes and to enlarge the exemptions of existing Liberty bonds in the hands of subscribers for new bonds and notes.

Tax Exemption Clause.

To exempt from income surtaxes and profits taxes, all issues of Liberty bonds, and bonds of the war finance corporation held abroad.

To extend the period for conversion of 4 per cent Liberty bonds.

To create a 2½ per cent cumulative sinking fund for the retirement of the war debt.

To continue the existing authority for the purchase of obligations of foreign governments after the termination of the war.

To extend the authority of the war finance corporation so as to permit it to make loans in aid of our commerce, thus supplementing the aid which may be given by the treasury on direct loans to foreign governments and in a measure relieving the treasury of demands for such loans.

Explain Reason for Request.

In asking blanket authority to fix the terms of future bond issues, Secretary Glass argues that, inasmuch as congress will not be in session in April, it will be impossible to provide in advance the interest rate and other terms which will be regulated by the financial situation at the time.

However, for successful flotation of a large bond issue the terms should be so fixed, in the opinion of Mr. Glass, until the eve of the campaign.

"At the moment we are in a period of readjustment," the secretary said, "in the slackening of industrial and commercial activity incident to the termination of active warfare has been added the usual dullness of the winter months.

Would Settle Contracts.

"The necessary and desirable contraction of our credit structure has begun and will be greatly facilitated by the enactment of appropriate legislation to permit the liquidation of claims arising under informal army contracts. Steps have been taken to

BANDITS MURDER SEVENTH VICTIM SINCE JANUARY 1

Four Hold Up Group in Home and Escape After Killing.

Chicago holdup men killed their seventh victim since Jan. 1 last night when John Takich, an Austrian, 36 years old, was shot to death by four robbers in a rear flat at 260 West Twenty-third place.

Takich, who resided with his family in the third flat front, at the same address, had stepped across the hall to visit with three cousins. The four were sitting about a table drinking beer and eating an evening lunch when they heard the back door of the flat open. Peter, George, and James Kozlico, residents of the apartment, thought it was a neighbor from downstairs who had been invited up for the evening, until they saw four men emerge from their kitchen.

"All of your hands up!" this man said.

Victim Tries to Escape.

Three of the company about the table promptly put their hands in the air, but Takich jumped up and ran toward his own flat. Two bullets went crashing through his shoulders just as he reached the door and opened it. He swung about to close the door and two more shots were fired by the man with the two revolvers. One bullet splintered the door casing, another struck Takich in the neck. He dragged himself across the hall to his own kitchen and fell unconscious, in view of his wife and five children.

Takich was rushed to the People's hospital, where he revived for a moment before death and told Policeman Dragel that a man named Joseph Radovich had shot him.

Death Roll for Month.

Besides Takich the holdup men's death toll in Chicago in the last month includes:

Jan. 7—Patrick Byrnes, 2942 Parnell avenue, shot and killed in the offices of the Consumers company branch at 4416 South Federal street. Paddy Appleton, a Negro, was held to the grand jury for this crime.

Jan. 15—Joseph Wangielnik, 4443 Honoré street, was beaten to death near his residence. No arrests.

Jan. 20—Joseph Mezazalina, 632 South Sibley street, found dead with skull crushed at 631 South Sangamon street. Two suspects arrested, but released.

Jan. 21—Peter Sadorf, 4526 Michigan avenue, shot to death at Forty-fourth street and Michigan avenue. No arrests.

Jan. 29—Policeman John Schuetz, 1331 Hollywood avenue, shot and killed in a passageway along his residence when he came home to dinner. No arrests.

Feb. 8—John Sealzitti, 2220 Campbell park, shot to death in front of 731 Blue Island avenue. No arrests.

Suspects Picked Up.

The Deering street police started a search for Radovich, who formerly lived at 2401 South State street and who has been arrested several times, the police say, in connection with robberies. He is said to have been formerly employed as a waiter. They took the Kozlicos into custody, but they repeated their story, insisting the leader of the gang was a little man. Neighbors said they saw but one man flee and he was tall.

Besides the theory of robbery—which the police say seems to have been the motive of the visit—detectives sought to learn if the visitors could have shot Takich as the result of a feud.

Wife Tells Story.

Mrs. Takich said her husband had only been in the flat of his cousins a few minutes when she heard the shots.

"We ran to the back of the flat to see what the shots were about," she said. "Then the door swung open and my husband crawled in. He was bleeding from his wounds and could not tell me what happened.

"It was money his murderers wanted. Instead they killed my husband, who is the only support of myself and our children. Our oldest is a boy only 12 years old. I don't know what we'll ever do."

Natural Daughter of Wagner Dies in Munich

BERLIN, Feb. 10.—[By Wireless.]—Isolde Beidler, daughter of Cosima Wagner's first marriage to Hans von Buelow, died in Munich last night, aged 54. She was married to the royal Bavarian court orchestra director, Beidler, who for some years acted as conductor at Bayreuth, but in 1914 had a falling out with Seigfried Wagner. Isolde sought to prove in court she was Richard Wagner's natural daughter, in order to claim part of the Wagner fortune, but failed.

MACHINE GUNS IN BUTTE READY TO QUELL RIOT

Seattle Strike Ends; N. Y. Threatens New Toil Strife.

Butte, Mont., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Half a dozen machine guns command the approaches to the mines of this district tonight and the military authorities announced that tomorrow they will be "rough" with the strikers and I. W. W. who attempt picketing.

Small squads of regulars today paraded the downtown streets and the residential sections in which miners live. Wherever groups were seen forming the soldiers dispersed the gathering and compelled the loiterers to move on.

Mining operations are practically suspended and other workmen than miners are joining the ranks of strikers, either through sympathy or fear of violence, or their vocations are affected by the shutdown of mines. Tonight it was estimated 12,000 men were idle.

Threaten General Tie-up.

Agitation for a general strike is proceeding on systematic lines and a campaign intended to bring about a complete shutdown is being waged by leaders who have previously engineered similar movements in Butte. The mining companies are doing all they can to operate.

The electricians today went on a strike and they threaten to have the city in darkness before many hours. One substation already is out of commission. Blacksmiths and newsboys also joined the strike tonight.

The street car service was stopped by striking miners this morning. Teamsters and others left their jobs in a number of cases.

Threaten Martial Law.

Martial law will be declared in Butte until financial interests come to the rescue of the city with funds to pay city employés, according to a statement made here today by Maj. A. M. Jones, in command of United States troops on guard during the miners' strike. The police and firemen had been ordered discharged by the mayor because city warrants for their pay would not be cashed by banks and business men, the city being bankrupt.

The situation appears to be under the control of the United States troops, but the strike movement seems to be growing. There have been many strike meetings, but the streets have been kept cleared.

Armed troops drove returned soldiers and strikers at the point of the bayonet from the I. W. W. hall today. Two men and one woman were slightly hurt by bayonet thrusts. It is alleged the strikers and returned service men were singing German songs.

The authorities say discharged soldiers wearing the uniform without proper authority are to be stripped for associating with I. W. W.'s.

Seattle Strike Called Off.

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 10.—Seattle's general strike, the first of its kind ever attempted in the United States, will end officially at noon tomorrow.

Decision to call off the strike was reached at 1 o'clock today by the general strike committee representing all of the locals on strike after a four hour session.

The resolution by the general strike committee set forth that the executive committee "is sufficiently satisfied that, regardless of the ultimate action that the rank and file would take, the rank and file did stand pat, and the stampede to return to work was not on the part of the rank and file but rather on the part of their leaders."

Mayor Stern to Strikers.

Mayor Ole Hanson made this statement upon learning of the end of the demonstration of labor's solidarity:

"The calling off of the general strike will not replace union labor in the high position it held in Seattle. Without reason, without cause, our city lay prostrate. Union labor must clean house. Seattle may forgive but it cannot forget."

The mayor says he favors a law forcing employés of essential industries to swear allegiance to the United States government in preference to any union and to make it illegal for them to quit and go on strike unless there were others to replace them.

Metal Unions State Case.

BIDDING LIVELY FOR SUIT OF FORD VERSUS 'TRIBUNE'

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Still more Michigan towns and counties are seeking the distinction of "entertaining" the Henry Ford-CHICAGO TRIBUNE million dollar libel trial.

Battle Creek's chamber of commerce the other day set forth that city's claims and attractions and today several upper peninsula counties put in bids for the trial—encouraged by the granting of the change of venue from Detroit.

Menominee, in Menominee county, claims to have the best opportunity to get it. If successful Judge Richard C. Flannigan, who heard the famous Roosevelt trial at Marquette, will likely preside over the case.

AXEL GUSTAFSON SUICIDE IN WEST

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 10.—The body of Capt. Axel Gustafson, U. S. A., who registered at a local hotel as from Chicago, is being held by the coroner today. It was found in the bathroom of his apartment in a hotel with a bullet wound through the temple. A revolver was lying near the body.

A notation in a Bible in the apartment read:

"Ruth, my beloved mate, died Jan. 10. She was 20 years old. I will follow shortly."

Revealing Case of Lieut. Grady, Reduced, Sent to "Woods."

Michael J. Grady, until last night acting lieutenant at the Wabash avenue station, has discovered that too good eyesight is a detriment to a policeman.

He made the discovery last night when special order No. 57, issued by Chief Garrity, transferred him to the Gresham station, Eighty-ninth and Green streets, and at the same time robbed him of the rank of acting lieutenant conferred on him by former Acting Chief Alcock for bravery and good police work.

Grady took the chief's order quietly. He has been used to ups and downs in the police department.

"I'm a good soldier and will go where I am sent," was his only comment.

But his brother, Thomas J. O'Grady, who is running for the Democratic nomination for alderman in the Thirtieth ward and who needs to keep the "O" to help him out at the primaries, was not so silent.

Here's the Inside of It.

So the story behind the special order became known. Here it is:

It appears Ald. W. J. Lynch of the Thirtieth ward, who generally votes with the Thompson forces in the city council, resents the candidacy of the policeman's brother.

And it also happens that Patrick Scanlan, saloonkeeper at 5545 Wentworth avenue, a lieutenant of the alderman, also resents it.

So last Sunday afternoon, when the acting lieutenant stationed himself outside the door of Scanlan's saloon, which, of course, was closed in obedience to Mayor Thompson's orders, and saw many men enter and leave the place, and took it upon himself to question the men, Scanlan's resentment was increased.

A Bit of Politics.

Then something was said about "getting" the acting lieutenant; some one whispered to the alderman, the alderman whispered to the mayor, and the acting lieutenant, again an ordinary sergeant, was sent to the tall grass.

At least, that is Candidate O'Grady's version of it.

But Chief Garrity says it is all because Sergt. Grady mixed in politics.

"I heard he was getting too active for his brother and thought it best to move him out of the district until the campaign is over," was his explanation.

CRANE TO ADOPT SERB BOY HERO, FREED AS A 'SPY'

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Ian Kontnik, 13 year old hero of the Czecho-Slovak troops, veteran of four years' warfare, twice wounded and many times over the top, was freed today after adding to his other adventures the novelty of being arrested on suspicion of being an international spy.

The boy arrived in America on Jan. 19, in company with Catherine Breshkovskaya, "grandmother of the Russian revolution," and Mr. Crane offered to adopt him, his father having been killed in battle.

It was expected Ian would be met at the train by a Serbian army officer, but he failed to appear and the boy was detained by United States authorities.

Talking About H. C. of L., Here's Altitude Record

New York, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The $50,000 a year apartment is to become a reality. A syndicate headed by Fred F. French has bought the site at the northeast corner of Fifth avenue and Seventy-second street from the estate of the late James Stillman, financier, and plans to erect a twelve story structure which will, it is said, be the finest apartment house ever constructed.

There will be suites containing thirty rooms and ten baths.

There will be one suite to a floor and the number of rooms will exceed by ten that in any single apartment in this city. The yearly rentals are to be between $40,000 and $50,000, representing what is said to be the highest price per square foot ever paid for residential space.

Seeks Arms for 3,000,000 German Men?

LONDON, Feb. 10.—[British Wireless Service.]—British newspapers of all shades of opinion are devoting serious attention to the attitude adopted by the German government toward the armistice conditions.

The Daily News' Paris correspondent sends a dispatch from "authoritative sources" on the subject, in which he says his informant told him that he had the best reason to believe that Germany is not continuing to demobilize.

Big Hindenburg Army.

"She has now concentrated more than eighteen divisions under Von Hindenburg on the western front," the correspondent quotes its informant as saying. "We also have the best reasons to believe that Germany is keeping her troops under arms on the pretext of economic necessity. Some of the military authorities think that Germany has sought more material to give necessary armament to 3,000,000 men. German demobilization is a condition to our demobilization, and therefore disbandment is impossible so long as Germany does not continue to demobilize."

The correspondent says he has been informed by a competent British authority that Marshal Foch "made a declaration of a somewhat serious character at a meeting of the supreme war council."

Danger in German Numbers.

This authority is quoted as saying: "He feels that the Germans are beginning to forget that they are beaten.

"We are demobilizing fast; they are not continuing to demobilize. There is danger of Germany saying: 'We do not care anything about your league of nations and we have got our troops.' Unless a change takes place we might be faced with a situation in which Germany, as regards the number of men in the field, will have three men as against the allies' two."

Germany's Forces Paralyzed.

BERLIN, Sunday, Feb. 9.—[By the Associated Press.]—Dr. Bernhard Dernburg, writing in the Zeitung am Mittag, says that bolshevism in Germany up to the present is a local and passing phenomenon, but is "becoming more general and threatening, especially in the big cities, where the people are subsisting on hunger rations and hordes are unemployed."

"In the meantime," he continues, "our opponents in Paris are quarreling among themselves over what can be taken from Germany and how she can be made to pay."

Dr. Dernburg accuses the entente of forcing Germany to ruin through the hunger blockade and by crippling all her economic activities, despite "the fact that Germany's offensive and defensive forces are completely paralyzed." He says Germany asks only the most urgent food supplies for the big cities, with a prospect of a gradual increase in railroad material to keep industries alive. A modest amount of coal, he says, is also asked.

HEAR JAPANESE ENJOIN SECRECY UPON CHINESE

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Japan has notified China that China must work in harmony with Japan at the peace conference and must undertake not to reveal to the conference secret Chino-Japanese agreements, according to a Reuter dispatch from Peking dated Feb. 3.

The correspondent says his information comes from Chinese sources and Reuter's says it should be regarded with some reserve.

According to the dispatch Japan stipulated that failure by China to give such assurances would result in effective Japanese financial pressure on China.

Opposes Japan Gag.

PEKING, Feb. 10.—[By the Associated Press.]—President Hsu Shih-Chang has taken a firm stand in the controversy which has arisen between the Chinese and Japanese governments regarding the action of the Chinese delegates at the peace conference in Paris. He is entirely out of agreement with the desires of the Japanese that the Chinese peace delegates be restrained in their activities.

This attitude of the president has been strongly indorsed throughout China.

To Give Powers Secrets.

TOKIO, Sunday, Feb. 9.—The Hochi Shimbun and the Nichi Nichi Shimbun, in apparently inspired articles, both announced today that the government has instructed Baron Makino, foreign minister and member of the Japanese peace mission, to reveal privately to the five great powers the contents of the Chino-Japanese treaties.

SPLIT APPEARS OVER DEMANDS IN NEW TRUCE

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.] [By Special Wireless.]

PARIS, Feb. 10.—Unless the bitter propaganda that is being carried on by certain Paris newspapers abates and the persistent obstruction of certain diplomats and politicians is ended the peace conference may be transferred from Paris to some neutral country.

Representatives of certain governments are becoming more and more irritated by the continual criticism generally by certain newspapers, and by the attempts to stifle the attitude of certain of the conferees. The matter has reached such a state that removal of the peace conference from France is under consideration.

"The independence of the conference" is being menaced, is the charge in certain quarters. It is realized by those objecting to remaining in Paris that wartime conditions still prevail in France, and they argue the removal of the conference to a neutral country would obviate those conditions.

With Premier Lloyd George already away and President Wilson leaving within a week, however, it is possible a "change of venue" for the conference may not be necessary.

Wilson to Read Draft.

The draft of the league of nations was completed at noon today, going at once to the government printers. It will be ratified tomorrow at a meeting of the subcommittee. A plenary session is expected to be held Thursday or Friday, when President Wilson will read the instrument, following an important address on the eve of his departure.

Optimists declare that once the league of nations is actually established and the supreme war council decides the final terms for the renewal of the armistice on Feb. 17, with the provision there shall be no further modifications, it will be easier sailing with less possibility for obstructionist tactics and fewer chances for criticism and attacks by the local press.

CITE "TIGER" INTERVIEW.

BY RICHARD V. OULAHAN.

PARIS, Feb. 10.—[By Wireless.]—The situation in the peace conference has reached a point where some plenipotentiaries believe drastic action is necessary to relieve it.

I am able to say the American delegation may, under certain contingencies, propose that the conference be moved out of France, on account of intensive propaganda here which is construed as designed to delay the making of peace and to obstruct generally the efforts to obtain a settlement that will restore normal conditions throughout the world. The dissatisfaction is such that concealment is no longer considered wise.

No British Support.

It was reported this afternoon that the British delegation might join in this proposal, but tonight it is learned Premier Lloyd George and colleagues do not support the plan to move the conference elsewhere.

Apparently a difference of opinion has developed over the terms of the armistice renewal to be imposed on Germany, now under discussion by the supreme war council—whether to strip Germany of practically all military power, or to pursue a less rigorous course.

Cite Clemenceau Interview.

Coupled with this, so far as the attitude of the American delegation is concerned, which means President Wilson, is the Clemenceau interview with the Associated Press, it is reported.

The text of this interview, published in the Paris newspapers today, in addition to the tone of the French press, has impressed the American delegation with the idea that a concerted campaign is in progress to hamper action by the peace conference that will bring the war officially to an end.

For this reason, it is held, the conference cannot proceed in a manner free from influences of this character while the sessions take place in France, unless there is a radical change in the methods being pursued.

Essen Moot Point.

Out of the discussions now in progress may arise an arrangement which will give the new armistice terms the status of a preliminary peace treaty with Germany. The armistice expires on Feb. 17.

The confident belief is expressed that if certain proposals are accepted by the supreme war council the existing differences between the allies can be straightened out.

One difficulty arises over the proposal for neutralizing both sides of the Rhine and giving Essen, where the great Krupp plant is located, over to the allies' control. There is some objection to this on the ground that subjects not included in the first armistice cannot be included in the new arrangements.

View of Americans.

The Americans do not oppose reducing the German army to a fixed figure, which is under discussion in the war council, originating with other measures to make Germany impotent in a military way, but they contend the terms in this connection should be definite.

There is a growing belief that matters will be arranged satisfactorily, thus ending the French war scare and laying the foundation for lifting the German blockade and restoring the world to normal. These developments late today may allay the American indignation over the French press propaganda and cause the abandonment of the proposal to hold the sessions of the peace conference outside France.

One difficulty, however, is still unsettled. That is the proposal from the armistice commission that unless Germany complies immediately with the allied armistice terms the German army will be reduced to negligible strength and additional territory occupied.

DISCUSS DRASTIC TERMS.

PARIS, Feb. 10.—[By the Associated Press.]—The supreme war council, in which Marshal Foch and other military commanders sit with the council of the great powers, continued today the discussion of the terms of the renewal of the German armistice, without reaching a decision.

The discussion of the armistice took a wide range, including the failure to execute some of the clauses of the previous armistice, the blockade, and the use of enemy merchant shipping. But the main issue turned on a series of proposals of a rather drastic nature, designed to place the enemy beyond the possibility of rearming and renewing the conflict.

France Still in Peril.

From the French standpoint the menace of such renewal is not past and it is urged as a matter of foresight that suitable safeguards be established. What these safeguards are has not been disclosed, but it is generally understood that they include the limitation of the production of field and heavy guns, and an exact accounting of heavy guns now on hand, also some limitation of the military organization which is to do police service.

While some of the military commanders take the view that radical measures are needed to assure the allies, particularly France, against a possibility of renewed peril, yet other views tend to place reliance on economic measures as the best means of averting any renewal of enemy activity.

War Council Statement.

The official communication dealing with the work of the supreme war council says:

"A meeting of the supreme war council was held this afternoon from 3 to 5:30 o'clock at the Quai d'Orsay.

"The conditions of the renewal of the armistice were first discussed. M. Klotz, French minister of finance, then described the work published in 1916 of the German great general staff, proving the premeditated and systematic character of the destruction of French industry. He gave a detailed analysis of this work, which it was decided to refer to the economic committee.

"The next meeting will take place tomorrow at 3 o'clock. The Belgian delegates will first be heard."

Committee reports clarifying certain passages in ambiguous language in the league plan were presented to the special commission.

The plan is understood to leave the formation of the permanent international court of justice to the society after its organization.

The constitution of the society itself will be written by the representatives of the greater powers now here. Credit for the plan of the organization will be given to the United States.

PARIS PRAISES PLAIN TALK BY CLEMENCEAU

PARIS, Feb. 10.—Commenting upon the interview given by Premier Clemenceau to the Associated Press, which occupies the place of honor in all the Paris newspapers today, Alfred Capus, in the Figaro, says:

"With its vigorous and hardy pessimism, it is an act of ardent patriotism. It is just the plain language which it is fitting to talk to France and her allies at the present moment. France should be made to recall that her enemy wished for fifty years to cripple her, and has not given up that design. The allies must be told that the victory bought with so much blood and sacrifice will remain a precarious one if they do not know how to complete it.

"Finally, Germany must be shown that she can no longer deceive us and that it is our firm intention to make peace, also, 'to the finish.'

"Premier Clemenceau has never been more lucid or stronger than in these declarations, which will have a considerable effect."

Federal Jury Probe of South Water Street Next

The United States grand jury plans to investigate the methods of the commission men of South Water street as soon as the inquiry concerning the retailers is over. This announcement was made by Assistant United States Attorney Dickinson. The action follows investigation by A. P. L. men and agents for the department of justice.

"We have learned the South Water street merchants operate on a market that is shifting almost every hour and they have the first tips on prices," Dickinson said.

Halifax Hears Distress Call of American Ship

Halifax, N. S., Feb. 10.—Calls for help from the American tank steamer Cochmuinpaw were picked up here today. The calls did not explain the nature of the trouble. The American coast guard steamer Tallapoosa was dispatched to the tanker's assistance. The Communipaw sailed from New York Feb. 3 for Genoa.

REVEAL TERROR PLOT IN VIENNA BY BOLSHEVIKI

Cabinet Member Involved with Lenine Aids for Outbreak.

BY LADISLAV CZAPSKI.

[Copyright: 1919: By the Tribune Company.]

VIENNA, Feb. 7, via Paris, Feb. 10. —From a secret document, whose authenticity is beyond question, as it emanates from official allied quarters here, I learn that the Austrian bolsheviks have decided to hand the present government an ultimatum demanding that all power be transferred to the communist leaders almost immediately. On the expiration of the stated term, a signal for an armed revolt is to be given by a parade of invalid soldiers through the streets of Vienna.

While only one battalion of the people's guard is known to be definitely on the side of the bolsheviks, there is no means of knowing at present what direction the sympathies of the rest of the organization will take. Up to now, however, the people's guard afforded the chief instrument in the hands of the government to maintain order. It is hoped the bolshevik influence over the organization will turn out to be slight in comparison with that of the Social Democrats, who are bent on suppressing communist terrorism with every possible weapon at their command.

Reds Well Armed.

Besides more than 8,000 rifles, which were secured from Austrian soldiers during the disorderly demobilization, the bolshevik leaders possess ten field guns, and at least 400 machine guns, according to the document.

Another effort, which is looked for as among the first steps in the proposed revolt, will be to attack the barracks, disarm the inmates, and distribute the arms so obtained to the rabble.

Before me as I write lies the full list of the foremost bolshevik agitators in Vienna, among whom are two Friedlander and Rampfor, who are known to be personal friends of Lenine. Both of these, as well as Steinhardt and Kiss, the latter of whom held the rank of first lieutenant in the reserve corps of the Austrian army, are Jews. Included in the list are three agitators of Czech nationality, all of whom, after deserting the Austrian army to the Russians, became citizens of the soviet republic and later figured among Lenine's principal apostles for converting the other Czech soldiers in Russia to bolshevism.

Sent Many to Death.

One of them is Aloyius Muna, who recently operated at Prague, is said to have personally signed thirteen death warrants against Czech prisoners of war who tried to hinder his agitation. All his victims were executed in the cruelest fashion, except one, who escaped the clutches of the would-be assassins and returned to Prague to tell the tale, seek out Muna, and kill him on sight if found.

It is to escape such a fate that Muna is thought to have shifted the scene of his activities to Vienna. Klapka and Komczak are two other Czech agitators, while among the Austrians on the list there is one named Waller, who commands the Vienna guard, the members of which are said to be well armed and plentifully provided with ammunition, and paid 22 crowns a day.

Government agents discovered some days ago that the bolshevik organization was on the point of being completed with a view to an armed uprising. The first meeting to discuss the project was held Feb. 4, when the agitators whom I have named, besides several minor leaders, made inflammatory speeches to an assembly of more than 1,200 workers, soldiers, and sailors. One of the speakers, who expatiated on the blessings of communism in Russia, said the soviet régime has raised the moral tone of the Russian people. He said if a similar system were introduced in Austria the cost of living would go down at once.

BOMB BOLSHEVIKI FROM THE AIR IN NORTH RUSSIA

ARCHANGEL, Feb. 10.—[By the Associated Press.]—British and Russian airplanes, flying low over the frozen timberland between the Vaga river and the Vologda railway, are greatly harassing the bolshevik forces. This is one branch of equipment in which the allies are superior to the enemy.

On Sunday allied planes bombed the enemy occupied towns of Taresevo and Shagovari, and, flying farther south than the allied troops have yet penetrated, dropped bombs on enemy columns moving northward along the winter trails.

There was considerable patrol and artillery activity yesterday in the Kadish and Sredmakrenga sectors. The enemy apparently was striving to regain the territory taken from him in the offensive raid south of Kadish last week. Other sectors are comparatively quiet.

WHERE JAPAN AND CHINA CLASH

China has sent a united delegation to the peace congress to ask that it be assured unhampered sovereignty throughout its territory. The internal warfare between northern and southern China has ended and the two rival factions are adjusting their differences so that they can bring China into the league of nations as a united country.

They are determined to take advantage of the present opportunity to throw off the yoke of Japan, and if possible bring all territory now held by foreign nations, within the boundaries of China, back to its original control.

The doorway to Peking and all northern China is through the Gulf of Chili, an arm of the Yellow sea. During the Russo-Japanese war Japan acquired the fortress of Port Arthur, jutting out from the north. Later they annexed Korea and are extending their control over Manchuria.

Japan's efforts to get a stranglehold on the Shantung peninsula were brought nearer realization when they took Kiao-Chau from the Germans early in the war. Since the armistice, however, Japan has signified her intention of returning Kiao-Chau to China, but as a compensation is suggesting that her commercial supremacy of the Shantung peninsula be assured.

The Chinese claim that the Japanese on the Shantung peninsula would make the Gulf of Chili a Japanese lake and lay all the northern provinces of China open to a Japanese invasion.

PROVINCIAL RULE OF IRELAND PLAN OF CENTER PARTY

Federal System Being Formulated to Meet All Factions.

DUBLIN, Saturday, Feb. 1.—[Correspondence of the Associated Press.]—For the moment Ireland seems divided into two parties of extremists, one side demanding the overthrow of every vestige of British rule and the other demanding the maintenance of the existing system of government, to be varied, if at all, but an actual extension of union principles and the treatment of Irish counties as if they were British shires. An attempt, however, now is being made to tackle the problem in a manner intended to reconcile conflicting interests by working out a plan for unity in diversity, such as obtains in America.

A moderate Center party is being formed in Ireland to advocate the solution of Irish home rule through the principle of federalism.

Large Enough for Plan.

Ireland is declared by the sponsors for the plan to be large enough to provide for local divisions while maintaining its national unity. There are in Canada parliaments for provinces containing a much smaller population than the smallest of the Irish provinces, and in some cases a much smaller area.

The new Irish plan proposes a separate provincial single-chambered parliament for each of the Irish provinces; although some suggest only three, with a grouping of Leinster and Connaught. Each provincial parliament would have its own executive and its own exchequer, and have full control over all the purely internal affairs of the province. At the same time there would be established a central federal parliament, with its own executive and exchequer, controlling all affairs affecting Ireland as a whole.

The scheme prohibits both provincial and federal governments from any interference with religious equality. As to education, the proposal is made that the national board of education should be resolved into its constituent elements and two new boards be set up in lieu of it, one to consist exclusively of Roman Catholics and the other to represent the various Protestant denominations, each board to have its activities limited to its own denominational interests.

Fifty Shilling Wage Minimum.

DUBLIN, Feb. 10.—The all-Ireland labor conference held here on Saturday adopted a program calling for a forty-four hour week and an increase of 150 per cent in wages over pre-war rates, with an absolute minimum of 50 shillings a week.

Y.M.C.A. WORKERS LIGHTEN TASKS OF YANK ARMIES

COBLENZ, Feb. 10.—As a consumer of the little things that go to make the soldier's lot a happier one, the American army of occupation surpasses any organization in history. The transportation problem now is fairly solved, and the Y. M. C. A. is bringing train loads of supplies to Coblenz and distributing them. They are absorbed quickly.

Accurate figures on the situation were made available today in the monthly summary report of the regional director, W. W. Gethmann. The earlier criticism, directed against the canteen service of the association, calls attention to the fact that between Jan. 20, when the association succeeded in getting the first railroad cars through to Coblenz, and Feb. 1 there have been 108 cars of supplies delivered to the 300 canteens in this area. The shipments now are steady.

"Of even greater interest to the soldier himself are the figures on the free distribution of supplies by the association. The list is a long one, and includes such items as 750,000 francs worth of cigarets and chocolate, 4,500,000 sheets of writing paper, 3,000,000 envelopes, 112,000 new magazines, 1,500,000 copies of the Paris editions of American and English newspapers, 250,000 popular song books, 95 pianos, 300 victrolas and records, 282 other musical instruments, 1,250 theatrical costumes, 1,000 baseball gloves, bats, and masks, 1,100 playground balls, 3,000 indoor balls, 935 footballs, and a dozen other items of athletic equipment.

PEDDLING LOOT BRINGS BATTLES AMONG GERMANS

Hard Fighting Takes Place in the Streets of Berlin.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Repeated encounters occurred on Saturday in Berlin between government troops and a mob which was only partly of Spartacan character, a Berlin wireless message received today declares.

Six persons were killed and fourteen others wounded, the message states. Toward evening, it is added, order was restored and the troops withdrew to their quarters.

The fighting, it is explained, arose through the decision of the authorities to clear the streets of peddlers trading in stolen goods. The operations of these men had been hindering traffic since November, the message states.

Prince Henry Unreformed.

The Hamburg Nachrichten, which recently in a series of articles has been dealing with Germany's future, wrote to Prince Henry of Prussia, brother of former Emperor William, in order to ascertain his views on the subject.

Prince Henry replied, according to the Nachrichten, that Germany in order to reach her future goal must reestablish her monarchy and her economic life on the pre-war basis. The empire, he added, should be placed again under the old dynasty and under the leadership of Prussia, while the "costly parasitic workmen's and soldiers' councils" should be speedily abolished. He also advocated the formation of well disciplined land and sea forces "in the old style" and representation of Jewish influence in commerce, industry and politics.

"Then," he concluded, "will the old song, 'Deutschland uber alles' become true."

Says Nation Is Bankrupt.

BERLIN, Feb. 9.—[By the Associated Press.]—Delayed.—The Weimar correspondent of the Lokal Anzeiger reports that Prussian Minister of Finance Suedekum, in the course of a discussion with the financial ministers of the federated states, painted an extremely gloomy economic future for Germany.

Herr Suedekum is reported to have said that a state of bankruptcy was imminent, and that affairs might reach the stage when each individual would be compelled to give up the major share of his income to the state, being permitted to retain only enough to cover his most urgent needs.

Ready to Stand Trial.

Dr. Theobald von Bethmann-Hollweg, German imperial chancellor at the outbreak of the war, reiterates his willingness to go before an impartial tribunal for the purpose of accounting for his stewardship of Germany's foreign policy, in a communication to the Kreuz Zeitung.

The former chancellor's letter, which repeats utterances made by him last November, makes the condition that both parties submit complete records. He also takes it for granted that a neutral tribunal should hear his case and base its decision on his constitutional responsibility for the political acts of the former emperor.

BRITISH FACING GENERAL STRIKE FORCED BY REDS

Are Prepared to Expel Alien Chiefs and Grant Reform.

BY HENRY M. HYDE.

[Copyright: 1919: By the Tribune Company.]

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Anything is possible in the present strike situation in Great Britain. The walkouts of last week were only preliminary to a proposed general strike by the coal miners, who are demanding a six hour working day and a 30 per cent increase in wages, and by the railway employés.

The crisis in this connection comes on Wednesday, when conferences with the leaders of these two branches of labor are to be held with the government.

Due to Bolshevik Action.

The present industrial unrest, which is sweeping over London and many other cities, is largely due to bolshevist plots, the program of walkouts having been carefully and ingeniously conceived and executed by shrewd agitators. Of bolshevik activity the government has absolute proof, and several of the red leaders have been arrested.

There have been frequent and open revolts against the properly constituted trade union officers and the entire trade union movement. The agitation, apparently, is not so much directed against the monarchy and the hereditary house of lords, as against the whole industrial system.

Andrew Bonar Law, chancellor of the exchequer, has promised that the government will do away with the hereditary character of the house of lords.

MORE DEMANDS ARE MADE.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—[By the Associated Press.]—Miners, railway men, and transport workers, numbering 1,500,000 today began a campaign for reforms. A committee of the Miners' federation was to meet government leaders to ask for a six hour day, a 30 per cent increase in wages, and full pay to demobilized miners during unemployment. The federation will meet at Southport on Wednesday to receive the government's reply.

The railway workers will open negotiations on Wednesday with the board of trade and the govenment railway committee on behalf of an eight hour day, double pay for overtime and Sunday, time and a half for night work, and an increase in the permanent representation of the union in the management of the railways.

CLEMENCY FOR COURTS MARTIAL CASES PROMISED

Baker Announces There Will Be a General Revision.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—Revision of sentence imposed by general courts martial for offenses committed during the war is to be made by a board of officers constituted in the office of the judge advocate general of the army. Secretary Baker announced today that the result would be "a substantial reduction of the sentences in nearly all cases save those of the gravest character."

The exact number of military prisoners held at home and overseas who might be affected was not made known, but Mr. Baker recently informed the senate that 22,000 trials by general courts martial had been held since the beginning of hostilities. Approximately 350,000 other cases were heard, but as the charges were not serious the trials were by special or summary courts.

"The cessation of hostilities and the return to conditions approximating peace," Mr. Baker's statement said, "render it just and proper that clemency be exercised towards prisoners convicted by general courts martial for offenses committed since the beginning of the present war."

SUFFRAGE LOSES BY BUT ONE VOTE; GOES UP TO G. O. P.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—By the margin of one vote national woman's suffrage went down to defeat in the senate again today. This rejection dooms the suffrage amendment so far as the present session is concerned, but it is confidently asserted it will be put through promptly after the Republicans take control of the next congress.

The vote on the resolution to submit the suffrage constitutional amendment to the states for ratification was 55 to 35. If one "anti" had but switched his vote the measure would have had the two-thirds necessary to its adoption.

Bryan's Warning Unheeded.

In the face of William Jennings Bryan's warning to the southern Democrats that their opposition to the suffrage was spelling ruin to the party in the north the Democrats nevertheless contributed the major share of the votes against the resolution. Democrats favoring the resolution numbered thirty-four, as against thirty-one Republicans for it. Eighteen Democrats, principally from the south, and eleven Republicans voted against the resolution.

There was a change of only one vote from the lineup of Sept. 30 last, when the amendment was rejected by a margin of two votes. Senator Pollock, Democrat, of South Carolina, who succeeded Senator Benet, an "anti," cast his vote for suffrage.

On Trial in Police Court, Too.

Today's action was taken after a brief debate before galleries crowded with women, both "pros" and "antis." While the amendment was being voted on in the senate thirty-nine members of the Woman's party were being tried in the police court for demanding the passage at a protest demonstration in front of the White House Sunday afternoon, in which President Wilson was burned in effigy as responsible for the threatened defeat of the measure. Twenty-five women were sentenced to five days, one to two days, and the rest dismissed. The charges against them were building fires on government property, standing on the coping around the White House, or attempting to make speeches.

The women announced from the district jail tonight that they would conduct a "hunger strike."

Leaders Undismayed.

Suffrage leaders were undismayed by the defeat and at once declared they would continue the fight.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the American National Woman Suffrage association, said:

"It is not the women, it is the nation that is dishonored. The whole country stands shamed before the world, victimized by a small reactionary minority that holds America back from her rightful place among the standard bearers of democracy."

The Rev. Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, honorary president of the National association, said: "Soon we shall be in the humiliating position of admitting that ours is the only one of the great nations of the earth denying justice to women."

Still Has Hope.

Miss Alice Paul, chairman of the National Woman's party, said: "The fight is short, but if dynasties and empires can be overthrown in the brief space of a few days it should be possible to enfranchise the women of America before this congress ends."

Mrs. George Bass of Chicago, chairman of the women's Democratic committee, wired from California:

"Reactionary Republicans, seconded by a little group of 'me too' senators make democracy is merely a threadbare tradition, have been able to agitate against the day of victory."

Mrs. Medill McCormick of Chicago, chairman of the Republican women's national executive committee, said she was neither surprised nor disappointed at the result.

"We knew exactly how the senate stood on the measure," she said. "As long as there is a Republican congress the amendment will be adopted."

Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout, president of the Illinois Suffrage association, said: "The Democrats failed to grasp their opportunity today, but the Republicans will solve it in the next con-

CHICAGO PARADE FOR OLD EIGHTH INFANTRY SURE

Secretary Baker Gives Permission for Unit's Reception.

Chicago's old Eighth infantry, resplendent with medals won on the battlefields of France, is going to parade in Chicago.

This became certain last night when Secretary Baker in Washington gave official sanction to the plans to welcome the Negro troops.

These plans are being made both by the thousands of friends and relatives of the soldiers and by the official soldiers' and sailors' welcoming committee.

"Tribune" Gets O. K.

Plans of both were uncertain until last night, when Secretary Baker told a correspondent for THE TRIBUNE:

"I shall be delighted to have the regiment receive a hearty welcome. It has served the country well, and I shall be glad to have the people of Chicago see the organization as a unit."

This statement put an end to all conjecture and the old Eighth will receive one of the heartiest welcomes given a returning unit.

Plans for 331st Artillery.

The Three Hundred and Thirty-first field artillery of the Blackhawk division will arrive in Chicago Thursday morning at 8 o'clock at the Polk street station and will march to the First infantry armory, where the artillerymen will meet friends and relatives.

At 11 o'clock the entire city will have a chance to pay its welcome to the gunners.

Reception for Wood.

During the parade they will be reviewed by Maj. Gen. Wood, the new commander of the central department of the army. Gen. Wood himself will receive an official welcome tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in his office. The soldiers and sailors' committee, of which Col. William Nelson Pelouze is the head, will extend it.

A city council resolution was passed yesterday naming the committee officially to receive Gen. Wood this morning, but as he will not be in the city until tomorrow morning, the reception was postponed.

Line of Thursday Parade.

The line of the Blackhawk parade Thursday morning will be north on Michigan avenue past the reviewing stand in front of the Art institute, to Randolph street, thence west to La Salle street, south to Jackson boulevard. At the Hotel La Salle a part of the soldiers will quit the parade for luncheon and an hour's dance at the hotel. The rest of the regiment will have luncheon and an hour's dance with friends and relatives at the First Infantry armory. The regiment will leave at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

CHICAGO TO FAIL IN ITS EFFORTS FOR BIG REVIEW

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 10.—Parades of complete divisions of the American army returning from France probably can be held only in a few cities in the immediate vicinity of the debarkation ports. The response to the request of many other localities for divisional reviews of its own troops likely will have to be the parading of not more than a regiment. This, it was learned today, is the conviction of officers at the war department.

Cities in which it probably would be possible to hold divisional reviews, these officers said, are Boston, New York, and Washington. To hold such a parade in an inland city, it was said, would be almost impossible.

War department officials were said to have found that serious disruption of rail traffic for several days, grave danger of congestion at ports of arrival, and a resultant slowing up of the whole process of demobilization would be involved in an attempt to carry a complete division to even such a city as Chicago, supplied with many rail outlets and large terminal facilities. Half the tourist car equipment of the country, it was estimated, would be needed to make up more than fifty trains necessary to carry that number of troops, even without any heavy impedimenta, such as the artillery and wagon trains.

It is believed possible that definite plans for a parade in Washington of the Forty-second (Rainbow) division will be taken under consideration when it is assigned for return.

WOUNDED HEROES TO HAVE CLASSES IN SCHOOLS HERE

Loeb Rushes Plan to Fit Warriors for Better Jobs.

Until Uncle Sam gets busy, Chicago is going to offer intensified high school training to maimed and wounded soldiers now convalescing in the city. President Jacob Loeb of the school board yesterday announced he had completed plans for placing a class of crippled soldiers under instruction in Wendell Phillips High school today or tomorrow.

The men will come from U. S. army general hospital No. 32 at Forty-seventh street and Drexel boulevard. Mr. Loeb says if the federal government does not make other plans, high schools throughout the city will be placed at the disposal of returned heroes as needed.

Loeb Moves Quickly.

It took Mr. Loeb just one day to start the work. Yesterday morning he received a letter suggesting the plan from Lieut. Col. Vonamee, morale officer of the hospital. He immediately requested Acting Superintendent of Schools Peter Mortenson to draw up emergency authority papers for the action. He signed them in the afternoon and William Bachrach, supervisor of commercial work, and A. D. Bauersfeld, superintendent of technical work of Chicago high schools, were assigned to the duty.

Lieut. Col. Vonamee pointed out that there are many men at the hospital from Chicago and vicinity who should be engaged in serious study instead of whiling away the days on a cot or wheel chair.

Many of the maimed men were manual laborers or engaged in work not requiring a great deal of mental training prior to the war. They have been rendered ineligible for such tasks.

Men Must Be Retrained.

"It is these men we must prepare for civilian life," said Mr. Loeb. "The crippled piano mover who has lost a leg must be made over into a clerk or bookkeeper. We owe these boys more than an education, and until the government takes action Chicago can at least turn over her equipment.

"If possible to make mechanical arrangements classes will start tomorrow. If not we will open on Wednesday."

HERE'S NEW TRICK TO BILK PARENTS OF SERVICE MEN

Friends and relatives of soldiers and sailors, here's a new game just invented to swindle you. E. H. Lynch, 4311 West Madison street, has just received a telegram purporting to be signed by his son, Robert J. Lynch, in a hospital in New York. The telegram said:

"Discharged, money lost; please send $50."

Also it told just how and where to send it. Father Lynch scratched his head and doubted. He wired to the hospital where Robert was and is. His son replied to this effect:

"I'm still in the hospital, not discharged, and sent no telegram; don't send money."

Result, Mr. Lynch notified federal officials. They expect to nab the fake Robert when he appears for the money. The son is in the navy. He was on a supply ship running between New York and Italy when he was injured in an accident.

HINT BIG NAVY PLAN IS BLUFF FOR PEACE ENDS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The Republicans squarely challenged the Democrats in the house today to appropriate the required $210,000,000 for the construction of the biggest navy in the world, if that plan is not entirely a bluff in the interest of President Wilson's peace diplomacy.

The Democrats declined to vote for an appropriation. They sought to get through a blanket paragraph authorizing the president to construct the big navy without providing any appropriation. Minority Leader Mann halted this on a point of order, which was sustained.

To avoid making any appropriation and to put the provision through as a simple authorization the Democrats hastily adjourned the house and will seek a special rule for its consideration tomorrow.

Madden Discloses Bluff.

Representative Madden, voicing the opposition of Republicans, asserted that the purpose of the clause, which merely authorizes the president to build the warships, is to give Mr. Wilson a big stick to wield over European nations and force them into following his dictates on disarmament and that there is no intention of actually building the ships.

Chairman Padgett of the naval affairs committee hastily wrote an amendment with slightly different wording which he sent to the speaker. This brought another point of order from Mr. Mann, which was sustained.

Mr. Padgett, meanwhile, had been busy and submitted another amendment appropriating $2,000,000 with which to build the ten battleships and ten scout cruisers. This aroused Representative Madden.

Sand in Machinery.

"Does any one believe the gentleman from Tennessee is in earnest," he asked. "In making an appropriation of $2,000,000 with which to build battleships costing $210,000,000 and not including the scout cruisers? He is attempting to throw sand into the machinery. Speaking plainly this is merely a pretense that you are going to increase the navy when there is no such actual intention. Let's be on the square in this matter and tell just what we mean. Are we for a large navy or are we not? Is this merely to be used to influence action in some other place?

"Tell us candidly if you need more battleships to protect our country and we will vote for them.

"It seems to me that this bill was intended to deceive the public, and I cannot sanction such deceit."

Wants Real Appropriation.

Representative Miller of Minnesota, who always has favored a large navy, moved to amend the $2,000,000 amendment and make the sum $210,000,000.

"Either we are bluffing in this case or we are sincere," he said.

POLAND REACHES FIRST RUNG IN FREEDOM CLIMB

WARSAW, Feb. 9, delayed.—[By the Associated Press.] — Poland has reached the first rung in the ladder of freedom, Ignace Jan Paderewski, the premier and foreign minister, said in a statement today. The union of all parties in Poland, he added, was shown by the results of the elections and by the fact that the elections were conducted peaceably.

"How united Poland is at present," M. Paderewski said, "is best shown by the result of the elections, which was against the Socialists, and it is a matter of record that not a single person was injured during the elections.

"Poland has many enemies, but she is destined to become a great and prosperous state. She has at last got her foot on the first rung of the ladder."

Poles Win More Towns.

BERLIN, Feb. 9.—[Delayed.]—The situation at Bromberg is rapidly growing worse, a correspondent of the Taeglische Rundschau telegraphs from the German-Polish front. The Poles have won new successes, the correspondent reports, having captured within one day the towns of Schubin, Netzwalde, and Gruenthal station. The town of Nakel was being bombarded by the Poles when the correspondent's dispatch was filed.

May Change Wheat Price Guarantee Date to Oct. 31

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—The house agriculture committee today approved an amendment to the government guarantee wheat price bill, making the measure effective until Oct. 31, 1919, instead of Dec. 31, 1919, as originally provided. The amendment will be reported to the house tomorrow.

Vice Admiral Wilson Stricken with Pneumonia

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—Vice Admiral Henry B. Wilson, commanding the American naval forces at Brest, France, has pneumonia. Admiral Sims notified the navy department today that Admiral Wilson was stricken about Feb. 1 and was seriously ill, but that his condition showed slight improvement and it was hoped he would be able to return home on the flagship New Mexico, assigned as one of the vessels to escort the transport on which President Wilson will return.

TRUTH, HONESTY, ONLY CURE FOR RUSSIAN CRISIS

Allies Must Provide a Square Deal for the Natives.

"The Tribune" presents herewith the second of a series of articles by Frazier Hunt telling of the failure of the allied expedition in north Russia.

BY FRAZIER HUNT.

[Copyright: 1919: By the Tribune Company.]

VARDO, Norway, Feb. 2.—[By Cable from Narvik, Feb. 10.—"The new world made by the war has a chance to make good in Russia, but it must be governed by the principles of honesty and fairness. The north Russian expedition lacked these."

A Russian statesman said this to me just before I left north Russia a few days ago. There was no great bitterness and he was simply stating the facts that have been evident to all observers.

Deceptions and misstatements have marred every phase of the expedition with the exception of the initial entrance into the Murman coast district. Everything that has had to do with the part the American troops have taken since landing at Archangel on Sept. 4 has been spoiled by falsehoods.

No Supplies to Guard.

The invitation for American troops to enter the Russian stage was one, and unworthy prominence was given to it. America had been the victim of propaganda that attempted to stir up the bitterest feeling against the existing Moscow government. American troops were advertised as coming into north Russia for the purpose of protecting great war supplies at Archangel from falling into the hands of Germany. Yet it was known that a month before, when the original expedition landed, there had not been found supplies by the Russians or the different allies. America, as well, has no point of political or commercial jealousy, and there can be no possible reasons why she should be here except really to help Russia.

These simple statements have been clear in themselves, yet the whole situation was kept in great secrecy and such statements as have been made have been palpably insincere.

Russians Will Not Help.

The things expected of the expedition failed. It was believed that great masses of Russian volunteers would flock to the colors. Instead the few who responded to the call came to be clothed and rationed.

Constant Cause of Trouble.

The Russian troops in north Russia have been constantly in hot water. They have refused to go to the front and fight. They have been hotbeds of the spirit of unrest. A few weeks ago a revolt occurred in one unit which was ordered to go to the front and was not settled until a number of the leaders were taken out and executed.

The local peasant volunteers will fight to regain their own villages, but that is all.

The whole of the anti-bolshevik army system in north Russia is being told about how the great all-Russian armies will kick down the Moscow government if only given a chance.

In the Archangel district, under the allied domination, there is 300,000 population, but only a couple of thousand actual fighting troops can be recruited.

Where the Fault Lies.

Deeper than anything else has been the failure of the foreign troops and the public to understand the real spirit of political unrest that has spread over Russia. Here are 180,000,000 persons who have been crushed for generations by the iron heel of a stupid and cruel autocracy. Suddenly this heel is lifted and every restraint, every old bond that has held them, is broken. They have done the natural thing, which has been to swing to the other extreme.

This other end has been a spirit of dangerous radicalism which expressed itself in bolshevism. Separating the rule and methods of actual bolshevik government from the bolshevik radical movement, this theory of bolshevism expresses the best protest and unrest that is in men's hearts. It is a mood or fever and no number of bayonets will be able to drive it out.

Not Crushed by Bayonets.

This spirit of unrest, political adventure, boleshvism—whatever you wish to call it—is not something you can take in your hand and crush. It is as invisible as a fever. It is in the air and you cannot any more fight it with bullets than you can fight the Asiatic plague with cannon.

"Build a steel wall of China around this north Russian district, that has been under allied control for the last six months, take out every foreign soldier and influence and let no men or word enter or leave the district and a radical government, born from this unrest, would be established," a wise thinker in Archangel told me.

"Russia is suffering from the disease of radicalism and political bolshevism. It is unfair to confuse the broad bolshevik movement with the actual bolshevik government. That is abused and misused power."

Dictation Spurs Unrest.

The allied directorship hasn't improved this spirit of unrest. Rather it has fostered it by its domineering methods of bringing mistrust and dissatisfaction. Attempts at coups d'etat against the existing government, coupled with workmen and army mutinies and desertions, have proved that even the allied bayonets cannot quiet this unrest that must run its course.

Many persons who know Russia believe there cannot be any short cuts for Russia. She must develop from within herself a government that will be the best for her. Her people are different and her country is different from the rest of the world and the government she settles on will be different.

Most of the allies in north Russia failed to grasp these points. They have come in like conquerors rather than friends. Many of the British here had businesses in Russia that the war and revolution ruined, so they have been bitter. They despise this spirit of unrest and radicalism and would kill it off.

Holds Hope of Russia.

Yet it is in this spirit of unrest where the hope of Russia lies. If the unrest become strong enough, it may awaken the millions of peasants from the lethargy which they have inherited and swing them into some great new public consciousness. Then Russia would come out fresh, vigorous, and beautiful.

There can be no doubt that the peasant is the future man in Russia. He is iron in blood, steel in heart, and when he gets the proper idea of the responsibility and citizenship he will assert himself.

Today he is not to blame. The old paternal government of czar and church gave him no chance at political knowledge or opportunity to develop political consciousness. His vision was limited to the borders of own village.

Keep Faith in America.

He trusts in America and wants her to come and help, but he wants American leadership and action. He is passive himself. His great powers and brute force of numbers is dormant. He will fight now only when his village is taken by the bolsheviks or someone attempts to take his property.

But this strange new thing of freedom has got into his heart and upset its steady beat. This national unrest has caught him. Some day it will be strong enough for him to assert himself.

Until that day comes, Russia will never be a great democracy. No other nation can do the job of awakening as well as Russia herself. The outside world can help in a hundred ways. Food, seed, farm machinery, railroad equipment, money, credit, teachers, doctors, and advisers are needed.

One cannot get far away from the embarrassing fact that the American soldiers are being used today in north Russia. This is the part that deeply concerns America. As late as New Year's day an offensive was undertaken, with the Americans bearing the brunt of the attack. American boys were killed that day.

This did not happen on the outskirts of Archangel, with the bolsheviki attacking, but in an offensive more than a hundred miles away. Yet the governments blandly state that no attempt is being made to advance in Russia or to interfere internally.

Americans Want Facts.

"Say, what in the world are we fighting here for, anyway?" a doughboy from Michigan, sitting in a blockhouse 250 miles from Archangel up the Dwina river, said to me a few weeks ago. "It's a cinch us soldiers don't know. We want to go home."

This boy is honest—he was not worrying about any "save Russia" proposition, or the collecting of Europe's debt, or the advancement of commercial opportunities. He wanted to go home. That is what the rest of the real fighting men in Russia want to do.

You cannot fool the American soldier very far or very long. He senses pretty close the truth of any situation. If it is dishonest, unworthy, or false, he will nose it out, and up here in north Russia he has been asking for five months this same question—why is he here?

Nobody yet has been able to tell him.

Another article of this series will appear in the near future.

Frazier Hunt, correspondent of THE TRIBUNE, has been in northern Russia for the last six weeks with the allied forces operating on the Archangel front. His special cables from Vardo, Norway, which are being published in THE TRIBUNE, contain the first uncensored reports of the actual conditions existing among the American and allied contingents, opposing the bolshevik forces.

Mr. Hunt was ordered to Archangel by THE TRIBUNE to get first hand information of this isolated scene of operations, from which up to this time only brief dispatches of the fighting going on there have been sent through censored official channels.

Omsk Chiefs Accept Help of the Force of Japanese.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 10.—Kiev, the Ukrainian capital, is again in the hands of Ukrainian forces, according to reports reaching here through Berlin.

Dispatches from Warsaw dated Jan. 31 announced that Kiev had been taken by bolshevik troops, a portion of the troops of Gen. Petlura, the head of the Ukrainian peasant government, having gone over to the bolsheviki. The seat of the Ukrainian government, the message added, had been moved from Kiev to Winnitza, to the southwest.

Germans in Windau.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 10.—The German troops in Windau, in Courland on the Baltic sea, fled in panic when the bolsheviki took the city last week, according to Berlin dispatches today. Twenty-eight civilians in Windau were killed by the invaders, who continued advancing after the capture of the city.

The Lithuanians have arrested the bolshevik advance on the Lithuanian front, according to news received by the Lettish bureau in Berlin. The town of Ponievsk, north of Kovno, has been taken by the Lithuanians.

Looted ! Two Forces.

WARSAW, Sunday, Feb. 9.—[By the Associated Press.]—Bolshevik leaders in Lithuania are attempting to make their men behave circumspectly, but, according to reports reaching here, they are not having an easy task.

In the art of stealing, the bolsheviki are often outdone by the retiring German troops. Before they left Novgorod they pretended that ten horses had been stolen from them by the townspeople and that the town would be burned unless 40,000 rubles was paid for the horses.

SENATE PASSES BILL REDUCING WAR EXPENSES

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—The house bill providing for a reduction of $15,000,000,000 in war appropriations and contract authorizations, and making deficiency appropriations of $295,000,000 was passed today by the senate without a record vote. It now goes to conference.

With the exception of approximately $11,000,000, the total appropriations carried in the bill are for the army and navy. The measure repeals appropriations for the war and navy departments amounting to $7,179,156,900 and cancels authorizations of $8,221,029,200, which officials of the two departments have said would not be needed.

break the deadlock which had arisen growing out of the maintenance, nominally at least, of war prices in certain basic industries.

"Upon the enactment of appropriate legislation to enable the food administration to protect the guaranties given by the United States, I am hopeful that it will prove possible to restore the operation of the law of supply and demand with respect to foodstuffs with, as I believe, a consequent reduction in the cost of living.

"Buying will not begin and activity will not set in until the community at large is satisfied that prices have reached bedrock. I am hopeful that measures now under discussion may result in the rapid acceleration of the readjustment and I am firmly convinced that if that be done America has before her a new period of great and growing prosperity.

Expects Times to Change.

"I am even sanguine enough to believe that it is within the range of the possible that so much may have been accomplished on the lines above indicated before the expiration of two months from now that the whole situation will have been changed and that we may look forward to the successful issue of the Victory Liberty loan on terms which today would seem quite impossible."

Attention of Corporations Seeking Additional Capital, or Desiring to Float Their Securities

I am thoroughly experienced in selling stocks, bonds and other high-grade securities. I have an excellent suite of offices in one of the most prominent buildings in the loop, with a corps of thirty thoroughly trained and efficient salesmen who know how to approach and interest investors. I am just now closing up the odds and ends of a stock issue and am in a position to assist any sound corporation in the acquisition of new capital or the flotation of its securities. To interest me such a concern must be on a thoroughly stable foundation, showing satisfactory profit, and, in, fact, conform in all respects to such demands as will be made by competent investors. I prefer to do business with corporations located within Chicago or within two or three hundred miles of Chicago, although I might consider an arrangement elsewhere. Here is an unusual opportunity for the right concern to solve the problem of additional capital promptly, efficiently and in accord with the dignity of its general standing. If you think it is possible that my organization could be of service to you, please write me as fully as possible, with the distinct understanding that the matter will be treated in the most inviolable confidence, and if you so request I will immediately acknowledge the receipt of your letter, and I agree to return all your correspondence to you upon demand. I assume, of course, that any concern doing business with me will insist upon every opportunity for the most searching information of my standing, ability and general qualifications to perform everything I undertake, and I in turn will expect you to freely grant me similar opportunity with regard to your business.

Delegates to Convention for "League of Nations to Enforce Peace" Who Want America to Stay in Center of World Stage

"What Is War?"—Mrs. Emmons Blaine.

ASK UNCLE SAM TO QUIT WORLD BACHELORHOOD

HOUSE PRAISES TAFT

The League to Enforce Peace received a cablegram yesterday from Col. E. M. House from Paris congratulating its president, William Howard Taft, on the success of the national congress for a league of nations. The cablegram reads:

"Please convey to Mr. Taft my heartiest congratulations and felicitations over the admirable work that is being done by the organization of which he is the head.—Edward House."

It was forwarded from New York to Mr. Taft at Chicago.

The day of American isolation from world affairs is over.

The traditional policy of "no entangling alliances" must be abandoned, because American greatness, American power, American industry and commerce have forced this nation into the center of the arena of world affairs.

These two sentences were the keynotes of several speakers, headed by former President William H. Taft, who addressed the first day's sessions of the Great Lakes congress for a league of nations to enforce peace, at the Congress hotel yesterday.

Makes Victory Secure.

Mr. Taft said the proposed league was the only method by which the fruits of victory in the world war can be made secure. Henry Van Dyke, former minister to the Netherlands, referred caustically to the senators who are carping at the league. President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard university warned the audience that the nation cannot be bound forever by treaties, if tradition is shown to be unsound.

Edgar A. Bancroft, the chairman, said it was the purpose of the convention to make clear, both to "our own people and government and the peoples and governments of our allies," that it is "our belief that victory alone is not enough, and even that peace through victory is not enough, but we must have a peace fixed not only to end this war, but all wars among civilized peoples."

Mr. Taft's Address.

After reciting the original plan of the league, which included an international court to decide upon "all justiciable issues"; a court of conciliation to recommend compromises on all questions not justiciable"; an agreement to unite the economic power of nations, or, if need be, their military power to "restrain and suppress any member of the league that might begin war before submission to one or the other of these two tribunals"; and a congress of nations to add to and codify and improve and revise international law, Mr. Taft said:

"In the absence of any definite statement of what the league of nations means, I think for practical purposes we can discuss it in the common structure of these voluntary organizations in the three great allied countries—United States, Great Britain, and France.

World League Indispensable.

"We have not advocated in our American plan reduction of armament, not because we do not think it of the highest importance but because we thought it was questionable whether or not that in our fundamental principles would secure adhesion to our plan.

"Now, what I would like to demonstrate—and I think it is capable of demonstration—is that it is impossible for that the nations are going to find it impossible before they get through to make a complete agreement upon the treaty now formulating in Paris—they will find it indispensable to form a league of nations such as we have outlined in order to secure the purposes of the war. With respect to those nations engaged in dictating this treaty we might as well face the fact that we have beaten Germany to an unconditional surrender and that those who won the war are to dictate the treaty."

After explaining the purposes of the league Mr. Taft continued:

"Shall we now retire to our shell of isolation that we are to cherish as our sacred inheritance? We have only gotten half through the cure of the autocratic German spirit. We have hit them over the head with a club and we have got to retain that club for future use should the cure we have thus far effected not seem complete and wholesome.

"Coming to the geographical problems which the peace treaty essays to solve, its purpose is twofold. One is to hem Germany in so as to make her dream of world conquest forever impossible, and the second is to gratify the yearning for self-determination, as it is called, for the spread of democracy."

Predicts Balkan Troubles.

Mr. Taft then outlined the claims of the various small nations to independent existence, and told the convention that the leading nations of the world must assume for some years responsibility for the smaller and backward nations, improve the stability of their governments, and guard against their plunging the rest of the world into difficulties because of their disputes. He predicted early trouble in the Balkans and other difficulties, and continued:

"How are we going to solve these problems? Just define new boundaries and run away and say: 'Let the treaty remain to construe itself and enforce itself'? Well, isn't it mathematically demonstrable that if you do that you have only stirred up a mess and you will have continuing war and anarchical war certain for years to come?

"Under the old empire you had the use of force; you had ambitions; but you also had ordered government and there was some lapse of peace. But now, unless there is a strong hand to maintain the purposes of that treaty in the creation of those independent states, it had better not have been begun.

Discusses Economic Pressure.

"Now we are told we are not to have the use of force to cement the nations together, on the one hand, and to induce compliance with the obligations of the league, on the other. I hope that is not so. If we get economic pressure only, we will see how economic pressure works. It did not work very much against Germany, for she had it for four years. But the effect of it will be a constant force; and, if we cannot get anything better than that, why, we will thank God we got our hat back."

Mr. Taft then took issue with Senator Borah that "we are beginning a series of congresses that is tending toward bolshevism," and asked: "Do I look like a bolshevik? Theodore Roosevelt, in the last editorial he wrote, favored our plan. Was Theodore Roosevelt a bolshevik?" He then continued:

"What should we have? We should have a congress in which these nations shall all be represented. The number of delegates should be fixed by the charter members. We must exercise discretion; and the larger nations are the ones to exercise it, and should be given power.

"Then we need a court. You will only get the ideal court where the members are independent; their only claim to membership being probity, ability, learning, and experience. They do not represent anybody but simply justice in that court. They are to apply pure principles of law. Appointees should be distributed with reference to bringing in knowledge of all law throughout the world.

For Council of Conciliation.

"Then we need a council of conciliation that should be representative. There you can have permanent members, and whatever controversy arises between two countries you can have temporary members sit on that administrative body, which is not a judicial body. I think that also, instead of calling on the United States to administer Constantinople, there should be an agency of the league to do that to assure impartiality. That is recommended in our addition to our platform."

Dr. Van Dyke Speaks.

Dr. Van Dyke, after defining the United States as "a peace loving nation of fighting men; not a nation of pacifists, thank God, for they love peace so little that they are not willing even to fight for it," said that the American people "have an equal hatred for militarism and for bolshevism," because "they believe democracy flourishes best under the reign of law within and between nations."

Speaking in the afternoon for the business interests of the country, Edward A. Filene of Boston said the kind of league wanted is one "which must rest upon a constructive peace based upon justice and sound principles of organization," and must "take into account the fact that lasting peace must be based upon effective and harmonious working out of the problem of business relations between nations and the fact that there are several pressing problems of business and economics that must be met by international coöperative action."

Urges Universal Service.

In the evening B. F. Harris of Champaign pleaded for universal military service as a necessity for the success of the league, saying: "A real, virile, national program comes before, and is our only basis for an international one."

Edward A. Filene of Boston spoke of "We Business Men"; also of "Our Wives and Children." Some one was unkind enough to interrupt Mr. Filene to remind him that he is a bachelor.

BUSINESS MEN TESTIFY AGAINST SHEA AND AIDS

West side business men yesterday in Judge Marcus Kavanagh's court testified that they were forced to pay alleged labor agents to continue their business without molestation. They were testifying against Cornelius "Con" P. Shea, Frank Pope, Michael Artery, and Roy Tagney, who are charged with conspiracy.

Meyer Berkson, 1446 Blue Island avenue, a dealer in second hand machinery, said Tagney asked him for $25 to pay for an advertisement in a labor union program. The witness said he refused to pay. The "ante" was immediately raised to $400 and his teamsters went on a strike. He said when he paid the money Shea told his teamsters they could return to work.

Benjamin Kolitz, 3317 Douglas boulevard, paid $2,000 about a year ago, he said, to settle a strike.

FOE SOCIALIST GIVEN REBUKE BY FRENCHMAN

BERNE, Switzerland, Feb. 10.—Pierre Renaudel, a French delegate to the international Socialist conference, rebuked the German Majority Socialist delegates for their demand that German prisoners be returned by the allies.

"You contine to insult the allies," he declared, "by pretending that French militarism is retaining the German prisoners. You forget the deportations from Lille and from Belgium. You try to influence our working classes by alleging that the use of your prisoners is unfair competition for our workingmen. This is our business, not yours. You continue your propaganda in favor of the former German government, but if you desire to reach results you must adopt an altogether different attitude."

M. Grumbach, the delegate from Upper Alsace, protested against the speech made in the German national assembly at Weimar by Dr. David, the president of the assembly, in which David declared that Alsace-Lorraine belonged to the German people. Grumbach's remarks were indorsed by Carl Kautsky, German Independent Socialist, who declared that the election of Dr. David as president of the national assembly was a challenge to the entente.

SLAYS DOCTOR WHILE OTHER PATIENTS WAIT

Michigan Man Leaves Hospital Bed to Kill Physician.

Muskegon, Mich., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Dr. I. M. J. Hotvedt was shot and killed in his office this afternoon by August Forenda. Forenda was captured late tonight. He says he shot the doctor because he neglected his case.

"I couldn't stand it any longer," he said, "so I got up and dressed and went down and shot him."

Forenda was a speaker in the last Liberty loan drive.

Ten days ago he was operated upon by Dr. Hotvedt for strangulated hernia at Mercy hospital in this city. Today he left his bed, under consent of a house physician, promising that he would be gone not more than two hours. He went almost directly to the office of Dr. Hotvedt and then, closeted with him, poured a stream of bullets into the doctor's head and body.

Angered at Slow Improvement.

The theory, which is borne out by Forenda's statement, is that Forenda became angered because his condition did not improve more rapidly. He had been treated by the doctor before the operation, and at one time went to Milwaukee and sought treatment of an Italian physician there. He returned to Dr. Hotvedt, however.

Walter Plant, one of the four persons in the Hotvedt waiting room when the crime was committed, stated that when Forenda's turn came to enter the inner office he did not appear to be excited, although he exhibited signs of being in pain. There were no sounds of a quarrel, but in about five minutes there was a shot, and then, after an interval, three or four other shots.

Calmly Walks Out.

"The slayer waited in the inner room two or three minutes, it seemed," Plant said. "Then he came out, calmly stepped over the doctor's body, and walked out."

Dr. Hotvedt was one of the most distinguished linguists in western Michigan. He was born in Norway and acquired most of his education there. He and his wife spent several years in China as missionaries, and their three children were born in the orient.

PACKERS' PLAN OF U. S. CONTROL GIVEN BY MAYER

Armour Lawyer Favors a Commission Like That for Banks.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Before the senate agricultural committee today Levy Mayer, counsel for Armour & Co., related a plan of possible government regulation of the packing industry which would, he thought, assure justice to the producer, the packer, and the consumer. The framework of the plan, he said, had already been laid before J. Ogden Armour.

The keystone of Mr. Mayer's plan is the creation of a federal commission to regulate the packing industry, just as the banks are now under the regulation of the federal reserve board and the railroads in peace time under the supervision of the interstate commerce commission.

Suggestion as to Commission.

He pointed out that the packing industry is the largest in the United States, greater even than the railroads, doing an annual business of $5,000,000,000. He would have the commission composed of three representatives of each of the principal groups interested in the packing industry—the packers, the producers, and the consumers—and one or two "neutrals."

Mr. Mayer thought that in the consideration of meat packing legislation there was a tendency to leave out of consideration the 100,000,000 consumers in the United States. He was of the opinion that the retailer was getting a big share of the high meat prices and told the committee he was "astonished" at the margin between buying and selling prices of a butcher near his New England country home.

Denies Offer to Heney.

Mr. Mayer began his testimony today by reading the transcript of Mr. Heney's statement to the committee Saturday. In that statement Mr. Heney declared Mr. Mayer said to him:

"I told you in Chicago, as I have told Frank Walsh, if you two fellows will work for our people I will send you more business than you can handle."

"Gentlemen," said Mr. Mayer, "that statement, every word of it, is a clumsy, transparent, unwarranted lie from beginning to end.

"Think, gentlemen, of the idiocy of a lawyer who in the open session of this committee, while the committee is hearing a witness, would lean over and say in a low tone of voice to the lawyer on the other side, 'I want to bribe you.' And the bribe was that I would give him more business—to use his words, 'send you more business than you can handle.' That charge is a vicious, dishonorable, ungentlemanly, unprofessional falsehood, every word of it."

Reads Walsh Repudiation.

Mr. Mayer read a telegram he had received from Frank P. Walsh from St. Louis. It follows:

"The Associated Press asked me for comment upon Mr. Heney's statement of yesterday, which I gave as follows: 'While I can claim a very pleasant acquaintance with Mr. Mayer, he never offered employment in Chicago or elsewhere, and this does not imply that he might not have done so with perfect propriety or that I might not have accepted or declined the same with like propriety.'"

Mr. Mayer commented: "This is prompted by the impulse and instinct of an honest man, who rebels at the attempt to associate his name with this ungodly, this unmanly, this cruel, indefensible, and unprofessional attack which Mr. Heney has made."

Chicago Remark Recalled.

Mr. Heney cross-examined Mr. Mayer later in the day. He asked him about a conversation Mr. Mayer had with W. W. Chapin in Chicago on Jan. 2.

"I told him your methods were disreputable, discreditable, and dishonorable," Mr. Mayer stated.

"You wouldn't say that to my face," said Mr. Heney.

"I say it to you now," retorted Mr. Mayer.

Mr. Heney first asked questions and then made a direct statement charging that Mr. Mayer on three different occasions during the last month attempted to influence him by offering to get him business if he would go over to the packers' side.

"Your statement is false," declared Mr. Mayer.

"You're a wonder!" shouted Mr. Heney.

"So are you!" shot back Mr. Mayer.

Mr. Heney explained he had not accused Mr. Mayer of attempting to "bribe him." "You're not that raw," Mr. Heney said. "You merely try to influence a man."

Rule Out Charge Against Heney.

Just as the committee was about to recess this evening Mr. Mayer attempted to introduce in evidence a document which he said showed Mr. Heney committed "the worst practice a lawyer can commit—that of jury fixing." The document, he explained, was a report made on Mr. Heney to President Taft by the attorney general of the United States. Mr. Heney declared he stood ready to furnish documentary proof of the falsity of the report. The committee decided it did not care to enter upon a trial of either Mr. Heney's or Mr. Mayer's veracity and refused to admit the document in evidence.

A letter from former Gov. Colquitt of Texas, denying any contribution was made by the packers to his campaign, to his knowledge, was read by Chairman Gore.

"PACKER PROFITS? LOOK AT FORD'S!" MAYER TO SENATORS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Levy Mayer, counsel for Armour & Co. told the senate agriculture committee today the packers' profits were small compared to those of many other industries, notably the Ford Motor Car company.

The Ford company, he explained, on a capital of $2,000,000, does a business of $350,000,000 annually and made a profit of $55,000,000 in 1916. Its accumulated surplus, he testified, was $111,000,000.

"If Armour & Co.," he went on, "had profited proportionately on their business of $861,000,000 last year they would have made ———."

Here he was interrupted by Senator Gronna of North Dakota. "Ford was gallant enough to run for the senate and none of the packers have done that," said Senator Gronna.

"I'd like to see one of the packers run against Mr. Ford," commented Senator Norris of Nebraska.

The committee refused to allow Mr. Mayer to complete his statement.

After the hearing Mr. Mayer stated that if Armour & Co. had profited on their business in the same proportion as the Ford company their profits would have been $137,000,000.

Fred B. Smith of Rochester and F. W. Ayer of Philadelphia were elected vice chairmen; W. B. Millar of New York, recording secretary; Dr. John R. Mott, chairman of the executive committee of fifteen, and S. Earl Taylor, chief executive and general secretary.

HEARS STERRITT IN SPEEDWAY HOSPITAL PROBE

Senate Committee Will Not Disclose War Report on Hines.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Testimony in the Hines Speedway hospital investigation before the special senate committee was completed today and arguments by counsel will be made tomorrow.

Government witnesses were introduced by John Bouvier, special counsel for the war department, to show that the Shank company had been duly warned that if it proceeded with the construction of the hospital it did so on its own responsibility.

Maj. Sterritt of the war industries board, whose report upon the Speedway made Sept. 24, after a personal investigation in Chicago, revealed prejudice existing there against Edward Hines, was put upon the stand to inform the committee from whom he derived his information.

Tells of Chicago Interviews.

Maj. Sterritt said he had first consulted Roger Sherman and Horace K. Tenney. They referred him to the Union League club, where he saw President Johnstone, Allan Pond, and some other men whose names he could not remember. They showed him the club records dealing with the expulsion of Hines from the club.

Maj. Sterritt said he next consulted Dorr E. Felt, regional director of the war industries board, to whom he had been referred by Washington officials. The witness said he had visited the Speedway hospital with Shank and a doctor who had been recommended to him by Felt. Col. Wright of the construction division of the army accompanied them.

Finally, according to Sterritt, he went to Oregon, Ill., to see Wallace Heckman, and they sat up all night discussing the Speedway project.

As the result of his investigation Sterritt made a report to the secretary of war in which he stated that, "standing on its merits, this deal is an equitable one for the government."

Holds Ft. Sheridan Hospital Safe.

Maj. Goldsmith of the fire prevention board described to the committee the elements which enter into the construction of the Fort Sheridan hospital, which, in the judgment of fire underwriters, makes it a safe building for hospital purposes. He declared the construction is such that a fire cannot gain rapid headway and that there was no more hazard at Fort Sheridan than in the ordinary type of brick building.

Hines' counsel, William Bennet, tried to inject a new phase into the inquiry today to show that Jarvis Hunt, who is a joint stockholder in a building owned in chief by Clark and Trainer, was trying to get the war department to approve his plans for hospital construction in competition with the Speedway. It was shown, however, that the Hunt plans had never been approved, even by the surgeon general's office.

committee of the striking metal trades unions, who outlined the reasons for which 25,000 of their number are on strike, disclaimed any connection with revolutionary, I. W. W., and other similar elements and declared the workers to be loyal Americans.

Troops Control at Jerome.

Jerome, Ariz., Feb. 10.—Lieut. John Sellers, commanding a Third infantry detachment, told a strike committee, said to have been recruited from the ranks of the I. W. W., when it called on him tonight with the threat that it intended to lead an attack on the jail to release twenty-nine men held on a charge of obstructing the streets that he and his men would be on hand ready for action if any attempt was made to carry out the threat. So far no violence has resulted. Trouble in Jerome started early today when the copper companies put into effect a cut of 75 cents a day in the men's wages. About 4,000 men were affected.

Earlier in the day a massmeeting was held outside the city limits, where, the police said, 250 members of the I. W. W. voted unanimously to call a strike in the copper mines and to throw out picket lines at 6 o'clock tonight.

Call General Building Strike.

New York, Feb. 10.—Union heads of basic building construction trades today called a general strike which, beginning tomorrow, will affect all contracts throughout the country held by members of the Building Trades Employers' association, according to announcement here tonight by William J. Hutcheson, president of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America.

Mr. Hutcheson said that the strike order affected masons, plasterers, bricklayers, hoisting engineers, elevator constructors, soft stone cutters, tile layers, marble setters, and carpenters.

The walkout of these workmen, he added, will automatically throw out of work all other workmen employed on operations of members of the employers' association.

The number of men affected by the order, he said, is about 250,000, or one-fourth of all union building trades workmen in the country. Sympathetic strikes, he predicted, will ultimately bring the number of strikers to 300,000.

Denver Schools to Open.

Denver, Colo., Feb. 10.—Most of the twenty-five schools closed today by the strike of stationary engineers will be reopened tomorrow morning, it was announced tonight by Carlos M. Cole, superintendent of schools. The strikers will be replaced with returned soldiers and sailors.

Working Again in Tacoma.

Tacoma, Wash., Feb. 10.—The general strike is off in Tacoma today, and members of the unions went back to work this morning.

More Woonsocket Mills Close.

Woonsocket, R. I., Feb. 10.—Two more textile mills closed today when employés walked out. This makes eight idle mills and 330 hands are out.

LIVE STOCK MEN RE-ELECT BROWN; PRAISE HOOVER

At the annual meeting of the Chicago Live Stock exchange yesterday Everett C. Brown was reëlected president, and S. B. Stafford, vice president. C. F. Goepper, A. M. Henneberry, E. G. Fulkerson and B. D. Cooke were elected directors. The holdover directors are W. A. McGahan, G. J. Adams, W. A. McGary, D. C. Mosier, and T. E. Swiney.

Messrs. Brown and Stafford have served two previous terms.

A resolution unanimously adopted highly commended the United States food administration "on its successful maintenance of its minimum hog price, thereby fulfilling its obligations," and for "its admirable success in protecting in general the interests of live stock producers throughout the country during the period of war."

The agreement between the food administration, the live stock producers, and forty-seven large packers, to maintain hog prices at $17.50, has had the effect of giving the producers over $200,000,000 more than they would have obtained if the market had dropped to the basis which the over supply of hogs in the country might have warranted, it was asserted at the meeting.

The members of the Chicago exchange handled 17,691,615 cattle, calves, hogs and sheep, valued approximately at $888,468,657, in 1918, the largest valuation of any year in the history of the Union stock yards.

Says $50,000 of Packers Offered to Stop Suits

New York, Feb. 10.—Charges that $250,000 of the state's money was misappropriated by padding of pay rolls in the department of agriculture during the administration of former Commissioner of Agriculture Calvin J. Huson were made by Alfred W. McCann, market expert, in testimony here today at the John Doe inquiry into the increased cost of milk. McCann also said the big packing interests had offered him $50,000 to stop prosecution of violations of the pure food law.

PLAN SEA TRIPS FOR MORE I. W. W. AND BOLSHEVIKS

U. S. Officials Prepare to Deport All Aliens Who Stir Up Unrest.

A cleanup to rid the country of aliens with criminal records or who are regarded as a menace to the nation is under way. Within a few days another carload of undesirables will leave Chicago for "an Atlantic port" to be shipped back to the countries whence they came.

Immigration officials made this known yesterday as the fifty-four aliens hurried through Chicago Sunday en route back to Europe under heavy guard were nearing New York. Forty-one of the first trainload came from Seattle, Wash., and five were from Chicago, the remainder being picked up at other cities.

"The cleanup is under way and will be thorough," an immigration official said. "There are nearly a score in Chicago jails right now who will be deported within a few days. Aliens who get into the country under false pretenses and then attempt to stir up disord here with their bolshevik and I. W. W. propaganda will find it hard sailings from now on. If this country doesn't suit them the government has an effective way of helping them into more congenial climes."

Round Up Chicago Reds.

Locally the work is under the direction of Harry R. Landis, inspector of immigration. Coöperating with the police department a large number of "reds" have been quietly netted within the last few months and given hearings before Inspector Howard D. Ebey. A large percentage of these are being held in jail awaiting an opportune time to load them on to cars and ship them out of the country. Owing to the unsettled condition of the trans-Atlantic passenger traffic this work has been retarded, but will go forward rapidly as shipping space becomes available.

Chief of Police Garrity declared there is nothing to fear in the local situation. He said a survey had been under way for several months and that local agitators are well in hand.

"There are a lot here who are no good to the community and for that reason we want to get them out," the chief said. "The police have been keeping a close check on bolshevik meeting and we have a complete 'Who's Who.' The moment they overstep the line of decency we take them into custody."

Gather Up More in East.

From New York came the news that the fifty-four who are expected to arrive some time this morning will be joined by twenty-nine others recruited in the east. Several other "parties" are coming from other directions.

CAMINETTI TELLS OF CLEANUP.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—A general cleanup of bolshevist and otherwise undesirable elements in this country is in progress throughout the nation, Anthony Caminetti, commissioner general of immigration, stated tonight. The movement of the radicals to New York and their deportation will continue for the next five or six weeks.

"Under the law of Oct. 16, 1918, the secretary of labor is given authority to issue warrants for the arrest and deportation, irrespective of the time of their entry into the United States, of aliens who believe in or advocate the overthrow, by force or violence, of the government of the United States or of all forms of law and aliens who disbelieve in or are opposed to all organized government," Mr. Caminetti said. "If, after they have been deported, any such persons try to reënter the United States, it will be considered a felony and on conviction they may be imprisoned for not more than five years."

Senator Overman, the chairman of the senate committee that is to investigate bolshevism in America and Europe, announced this afternoon that the first public hearing will begin at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow. Prof. Samuel N. Harper of the University of Chicago will be a witness Wednesday. He is one of the recognized authorities on Russia.

RAILWAY UNIONS WANT U. S. TO OPERATE ROADS

Garretson Urges National Agency to Run Lines, and No Profit.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—Some direct governmental agency, working not for profit but to furnish transportation at cost, was advocated today by the four railroad brotherhoods as their solution of the railroad problem before congress.

A. B. Garretson, president of the Order of Railway Conductors, speaking for the four big employes' organizations before the senate interstate commerce committee, said the heads of the other three brotherhoods had been won over to government ownership of railroads by experience under government operation, and that all indorsed in principle the plan presented by Glenn E. Plumb last week, though they had not considered its details.

Congress Must Decide.

Mr. Garretson declared that the financial and operating sides of the railroad question were practically one and that the task of congress was to decide whether the two functions could be best performed by private or government ownership.

Warren S. Stone, head of the engineers; W. G. Lee of the trainmen, and Timothy Shea of the firemen, Mr. Garretson said, were private ownership advocates until the experience of government operation as compared with private operation.

Any plan for guaranteeing a return to the railroads under private ownership was opposed by Mr. Garretson, who said that it was legitimate to guarantee every other line of business as well as the railroads.

Equality of Rates.

Mr. Garretson said he had never been able to determine how to get all the roads on an equality in rates, seeing that each differed from the other in distances between common points on which rates are based and in capitalization.

Charles E. Cottrell of Atlanta, Ga., representing the Southern Traffic league, told the commitee that many southern business men would be forced into bankruptcy "if the wholesale revision of freight rates initiated under the arbitrary power of the director general was continued."

In urging that congress refuse to extend the period of government control, Mr. Cottrell said it was proposed to establish mileage rates on eighty-nine southern commodities, for which he declared there was no justification.

BILL PROVIDES AMERICAN ARMY OF 538,588 MEN

House Gets Measure for a Temporary Military.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—A temporary military establishment of 23,579 officers and 509,909 enlisted men is provided for in the annual army appropriation bill reported to the house today by the military committee. The measure carries a total of $1,117,289,400. The committee said an army of the size recommended would be necessary "during the period of demobilization."

Chairman Dent said the bill, which appropriates about $68,000,000 less than was asked by the war department, will be taken up in the house as soon as the naval appropriation bill is passed, or about the middle of the week.

Legislation affecting the national guard is among the features of the bill. A national guard organization of 106,200 men is contemplated. Equipment and supplies would be provided without charge by the war department from the war stores. The total appropriations for the guard aggregate $10,173,000.

Other Features of Bill.

Other leading features of the bill are:

Dual organization of the temporary army of 537,588 men, so that part will be constituted as prescribed in the national defense act of 1916, providing for organization of infantry, cavalry, and artillery units, and the remainder so as to permit retention of new units —aviation, tank corps, and others the usefulness of which was demonstrated during the war.

Return of the war department organization to bureau chiefs instead of centering its organization in the general staff.

Clause on Service Stripes.

Abolishment of distinctive stripes for overseas or service at home during the war.

Continuation of the increased war pay for enlisted men.

Provision for the promotion of officers and men recommended for such before the signing of the armistice.

The bill authorizes transfer of officers serving for the present emergency into the officers' reserve corps at the rank or grade held by them during their service or at a higher grade.

Nat Goodwin's Estate, $6,000, Goes to Parents

New York, Feb. 10.—"Nat" Goodwin, who died recently after a long and successful theatrical career, left an estate of only $6,000, it was disclosed today when letters of administration were applied for on behalf of the actor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel C. Goodwin of Roxbury, Mass. The comedian was interested in various mining and commercial enterprises.

U. S. AIDS BUSY IN MICHIGAN; INQUIRY ASKED

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The Ford election contest took a new turn today when Senator Townsend of Michigan introduced a resolution calling upon the department of justice to inform the senate about the practices of some of its alleged agents engaged in collecting evidence in the recent Michigan senatorial election.

The resolution says men "representing themselves to be agents of the department of justice" are "accused of indulging in unlawful and unwarranted practices."

Senator Ashurst of Arizona, Democrat, blocked immediate action on the resolution, although it is the custom of the senate to adopt without debate measures merely calling for information. The resolution will be brought up again in a day or two.

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS IN RUSSIA.

We would like to believe that in the operation of the league of nations there will be some effective bond to unite the peoples into a common purpose.

We would like to believe that this bond will replace the understandings and agreements so commonly employed among human beings; that human relation, expediency, self-defense, envy, ambition, and malice and what not will be displaced by some more negotiable expression.

But while we believe such an international mantle is desirable we cannot refrain from glancing at a situation that now appears to offer a sample of league operation as it is—but, of course, not as it should be.

Frazier Hunt, THE TRIBUNE'S correspondent in Russia, is not writing of action under the league of nations; instead he is reciting what actually is taking place in a league of nations' armed men in the Archangel district:

"The north Russia allied expedition has developed into a pitiful failure. It has failed to inspire confidence and loyalty and to give real assistance to Russia. It has become a cesspool of jealousies, hatreds, mistakes, and shattered illusions. The different allies distrust one another and the Russians distrust the entire expedition."

Quite naturally such a state of affairs is not proposed under a league of nations. The purpose might be a very good one, and yet the soldiers would not like it any better for that. The agreement and accord of the nations might be fine; but we see that accord has come to grief as among individual soldiers in Russia; and it is upon the soldiers we must, in the last analysis, depend.

It is difficult to compel interest in a given enterprise. We are instructed that our interest in applying force to a recalcitrant nation is that of a regard for international good behavior. But is this a compelling interest? Is it one that cannot be denied? We admit that international good behavior is desirable, but will peoples destroy their domestic happiness for it?

When we assume that Russia needs an international flagellation we include in that assumption a belief that all Russia is mischievous. How do we know that? On the contrary, is it not fair to assume that a great part of the country is just as eager for order and stability as we are to have Russia accomplish that desirable state?

But for the purposes of the present discussion we may suppose that Russia is unanimously outlaw; that this is, if ever, the time for league action. So we find this:

". . . American troops put under an absolute imperialistic command . . . put to doing a king's business . . . assigned to them by the British. Most of the allied soldiers . . . hated the job, despise the Russians, and have no concern with the future of the country."

Is this a compelling motive for Americans? "Doing a king's business and hating their job"? Will Americans ever grow to like their job any more? Can any one imagine a set of circumstances, aside from the defense of country, or of principles involving that defense, wherein American soldiers will be likely to venture their lives with zest for the performance?

We would like to believe that under a compact league of nations there could be coöperation not so distasteful as pictured by Mr. Hunt. It may be possible; we do not know; we have no experience of that sort. But experience of another sort is summed up by Mr. Hunt in this phrase:

"The expedition has become a dismal comic opera."

THE DEPORTATIONS.

Deportations are repugnant to American ideas. They savor of the methods used by despotic governments to suppress liberal tendencies. It is true we have deported various aliens convicted of serious crimes, but our policy has been one of toleration. We have never believed in establishing an American Siberia.

If the Pacific coast troubles were comparable with the ordinary industrial conflict we should probably regard with apprehension the action of the government in deporting a number of ringleaders. We might surmise that in its ultimate effects it would do more harm than good.

The ordinary labor leader in conducting a strike is not seeking to overthrow the government. If he and his supporters sometimes resort to clubs and guns it is not for the purpose of destroying our democracy. Such a strike is not fundamentally intended as a protest against our system of government, but as a protest against local wrongs, whether real or fancied.

The ringleaders in the Seattle strike, it is now established, were animated by quite a different motive. It was their purpose to use the strike to start a revolution, a revolution which would obliterate the American democracy, and in place of a representative government establish a proletarian republic.

We call them bolshevists or I. W. W.s, but the name doesn't count. What does count is that they are enemies of the nation and enemies of every man who adheres to the principles upon which this nation was founded.

They are not even the friends of the Seattle workingmen, a large percentage of whom went on strike against their will. They had only a casual interest in bettering the condition of these workingmen; their real purpose was to start a country wide conflagration. The Seattle labor unions merely furnished a field for exploitation.

Because they are enemies of our country we are establishing no evil precedent in banishing them. We should only invite disaster by keeping them here. Our constitution provides an orderly and systematic method by which new political ideas can be put into practice; this gentry, however, will have no traffic with the ballot box. They are afraid of majority rule and consequently try to impose their ideas by violence. Consequently, by a wise decision, they go elsewhere.

MAKING WAR OR MAKING ROADS?

When the mobilization of the national guard against Mexico, to protect the border and support the expedition into Mexico—an expedition which went in to get Villa and which, between our administration and the Mexican administration, was lucky to get out—in those days when northern guardsmen were plentiful in the south, they were set to making roads.

Some northern soldiers did not have to do this because their commanders made such a protest that even cheap labor seemed about to become expensive.

Now the United States senate has voted, by adopting the Frelinghuysen resolution, to prohibit the use of soldiers in southern road making. The south has been at it again.

Road making sometimes is a necessity of military service, f training and operation, but the reports which brought the senate action would be grotesque if they were not sufficiently authenticated to warrant the action which the senate took. Senator Lodge, a man who does not ordinarily entertain extravagant ideas, said he had been reliably informed that 40,000 troops had been employed in building a piece of road in Virginia.

Wisconsin troops enlisted in the motor transport have been working against their will, at $30 a month, with Virginia Negroes, at $5 a day, building roads, and it was their protest which got results.

The southern senators voted against the resolution, inferentially voting for the continuation of the use of soldiers in local improvements. Meanwhile men are being discharged from the army in northern camps and are being retained in the army in southern camps.

It has been easier to get a red chevron by going to Camp Grant, Rockford, Ill., going to France, and coming back to Camp Grant than it has been to get one by going into the southern camps. The south has not heard of what happened Nov. 11, 1918. What does the south want? Another serf system?

SUPPRESSED SCANDALS.

When the censorship was established in America we were assured that its purpose was solely to prevent information of military importance from reaching the enemy. The public is just beginning to learn how well that promise was kept.

The latest testimony comes from Lieut. Col. H. M. Byllesby, chief assistant in the purchasing department of the army abroad. Commenting on Secretary Baker's statement that we had 9,000 to 10,000 airplanes in Europe at the time of the signing of the armistice, Col. Byllesby said we had nowhere near that number—and it was his business to keep tab on airplane shipments. His figures were "woefully and totally different from Mr. Baker's."

Col. Byllesby also said he believed conditions in the ordnance department were even worse, despite the glowing accounts issued by Mr. Baker, Mr. Creel, et al., regarding the production of rifles and artillery. In the colonel's opinion a scandal was about to break in that department at the time hostilities ceased.

During the war many persons learned privately that things were not going right, but when they attempted to warn the public they were immediately met with a flood of official denials. The censorship was immediately tightened to prevent the truth from coming out. The censorship was used to protect incompetents at Washington from public exposure. It was used to save their jobs and save their faces.

We do not think publicity is a cure for all evils, but we do think that a suppression of the truth regarding official mistakes and blunders tends to breed slackness, inefficiency, and incompetence. We think the censorship did this very thing during the war.

BLACK ROBES AND BLACK HOODS.

Two convicted murderers in Chicago got reprieves and within sixty hours there are recorded on the police blotter three more shootings and a stabbing or so.

Murder has become institutionalized in Chicago. It occurs regularly; it is almost a social custom; it is no longer even imprudent. A man finds his sensibilities ruffled. If his egotism cannot be assuaged by words he does not swallow his ill temper and walk away; he assuages it. He shoots his enemy full of holes or stabs him in the back. It is entirely regular. It causes no astonishment in any citizen. The man is a hero if the police discover his identity—which is unlikely; he becomes an interesting specimen for the criminologist; reformers build social theories on him; he is a romantic figure for the young. If he is arrested it is improbable that he will be convicted. If he is convicted it is highly unlikely that he will be hanged.

A murderer actually on the scaffold nowadays must feel a justifiable resentment against society for having cheated him out of his immunity, a sense that some one fooled him.

The judges in the county courts feel that something is wrong with the legal machinery of the community; they are trying to envelop the law with a majesty and awesomeness by putting on flowing robes. Perhaps they will have success in scaring riotous litigants who make courtrooms into prizerings.

The black robes of office are a good experiment, but they will be more effective if they are used at ceremonies in the county jail with greater frequency.

If society has made murder an institution let society also make hanging murderers an institution.

THOSE EAGLE BOATS.

[From Col. Harvey's Weekly.]

Unless all signs fail, Mr. Henry Ford will have an extremely busy winter. There is the Dearlyborn Independent, for which he has promised to write a page a week; there is his election contest, for which he has promised to supply a sprightly story of how he was denied, through the use of "sinister methods," the honor of representing the state of Michigan in the senate. There is his $1,000,000 libel suit against THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE by which he proposes to establish his right to be considered a loyal American, and there is the little matter of the senate investigation of the "eagle boats."

We purposely omit from the list of engagements anything connected with the management of the Ford factory because this already has been intrusted to Edsel—our most prominent slacker—at a modest salary, so we are told, of $150,000.

THE NEW FREEDOM IN ITALY

BY FARMER MURPHY.

[Copyright: 1919: By the Tribune Company.]

MILAN, Italy, Feb. 9, via Paris, Feb. 10.—"The Fascio Wilsoniano," or Wilson league, mentioned previously as a remarkable tribute to the force of American ideals, did not begin as the Wilson league, and for that very reason, as will appear later, indicates deeper roots than if it had been simply an outgrowth of Wilson's visit. The organization originally was a patriotic society, composed of wounded and mutilated soldiers who had been returned from the front. It devoted itself first to looking after the needs of their fellows. Some of its prominent members were Lieut. Cipriano Facchinetti, one of the writers on Il Secolo, a newspaper of Milan; Lieut. Ugo Nalato, also a newspaper writer; Capt. Fasani of Il Secolo; Agostino Caso, a chartered accountant; Gerolamo Lazzari, a literary critic; Capt. Besta, a lawyer; Dino Roberto, a newspaper man; and Don Edmardo Gilardi.

When the Austrian offensive and subsequent Italian retreat occurred the society, recognizing the need for strengthening the morale of the people, went into all quarters of northern Italy, making patriotic speeches, helping settle labor difficulties, and doing everything possible to retrieve the harm that had been done by German propaganda and other agencies. More than 2,000 speeches were thus made, many strikes or threatened strikes were settled, and the determination of the people to beat the enemy reinforced. This shows that during the war the league had not the least pacifist tendency. But with the war won the men felt that what they had been fighting for was to prevent another such catastrophe.

The idea of a league of nations or some such means to keep peace had taken a deep hold on all the men in the army long before the end of the war. This local league then became a branch of the Italian society for a league of nations, and the visit of Wilson gave opportunity to call it by his name, spread American ideals, and combat imperialism. The league favors moderate claims of territory by Italy, and would take no land where Germans or Jugo-Slavs predominate.

In spite of the arrogant and sometimes offensive attitude of the Jugo-Slavs, it would recognize their racial predominance where it exists. The league would give the Jugo-Slavs almost the entire coast below Fiume, with some special plan for Zara, where the Italians have large interests and where there is a large Italian population.

The league takes the ground that if a nation wants the others to be fair it must begin by being fair itself.

The league already has a membership of 1,500, and new members are being added each day. The parent society for a league of nations is strongly organized in every part of the country. There are already sixty-seven branches in all parts of Italy. Among its first members there were seventeen senators and fifty-seven deputies of the present parliament. Considering the present parliament represents the old regime, the number, while not large, when it is understood there are 500 in the chamber of deputies, yet makes a significant showing.

Besides the league itself, with its one aim, there are two other political parties which support the idea. The Socialists naturally do, and now the Catholic party has made the league of nations one of its planks, having adopted the program which includes it.

The pope recently has given permission to priests to go into politics, which, of course, they formerly did to some extent without the appearance of it. The young priests, having absorbed the same idea as the returned soldiers, work for the league of nations idea. Thus there are three great organizations which, whatever their differences regarding other points of domestic policy, all are united on the league of nations idea.

The present government is charged with indifference and inactivity respecting the revival of trade or the extension of commerce. No attempt has been made to remove restrictions on import and export licenses to give a chance to trade. It is said that while Italy is idle, except for attempts to extend territorial claims, the others are going ahead in the open markets and securing trade naturally belonging to Italy. Many representatives of American firms are now in Italy in an attempt to secure orders to make trade relations, but at present there is no way to get goods in without great trouble.

The explanation of the government's attitude which is made is that it and parliament are all made up of lawyers and professional politicians, who have no knowledge of practical things and have no interest in them. Hitherto it has not been considered good form to send a merchant or a farmer to parliament, but "a good talker," who is unable to grasp and manage commercial and industrial problems. To change the character of the deputies is one of the reforms the younger element hopes to secure. Italy would not be so short of food as at present if practical men were in power, they say.

DEVOTED WILSONS IN PARIS

BY CONSTANCE DREXEL.

[Copyright: 1919: By the Tribune Company.]

PARIS, Feb. 10.—Paris, with its rather interesting ideas of the relationship between husbands and wives, just can't get over the way the Wilsons are seen together so frequently. When the president motors to the peace conference at Quai d'Orsay, Mrs. Wilson rides with him as far as the porte cochere. When he strolls along Champs Elysees she swings along beside him. When either is receiving at the White House of Paris the other is quite apt unexpectedly to appear among those present.

For a little thing like a world's war peace conference casts no shadow o'er the companionship of the first gentleman of the peace table and the first lady of the United States.

Breakfast, quiet and alone, in the charming little salon of the Murat mansion, overlooking a pretty little park, starts the well organized day. While the president works upon his morning's mail and state papers in the great private sitting room, the Prince Murat, Mrs. Wilson busies herself just as she would do in Washington.

At 11 o'clock the snappiest blue limousine in Paris, flying on a blue field a gold bordered president's flag, takes the pair to the peace conference, a khaki clad chauffeur and a plain clothes secret service man sharing the front seat. Miss Benham, the secretary of Mrs. Wilson, is in the party if the intention is to visit the hospitals after the president has joined the peace conferees. Paris shops have never blazed as they have since the Hun menace recrossed the Rhine. On many mornings Mrs. Wilson and her secretary stroll about unrecognized, exercising that woman's eternal prerogative of "shopping." Luncheon in the Murat residence is strictly tête-à-tête, with Admiral Grayson and Brother R. Wilmer Bolling as a possible foursome.

If the conference is in session during the afternoon Mrs. Wilson drives with the president to the appointment, drops him, and continues on her way. Except for the little groups at the entrances of the various conference buildings, their goings about are as unostentatious as if they were private citizens.

The late afternoon is usually reserved for the president's conferences at the Murat residence. Audiences, ranging from a Chinese minister bringing a gift to Jugo-Slovaks anxious about their boundary, take place there. Mrs. Wilson has received a few groups of women at her teas. Herbert Hoover seems to be the Tumulty of the Paris White House, and Charley Swem the stenographic shadow.

Unlike Washington, the evenings are seldom spent at the theater. Twice have the Wilsons left the seclusion of their home to attend performances once going to the opera and the other time attending a performance by the "Argonne players," made up of doughboy stars.

CURES FOR PIMPLES.

M. K. WRITES: "I am a man 17 years of age, 5 feet 10 inches tall, and weigh 155 pounds. I am constantly troubled with pimples and would like to know how to get rid of them. My meal in the morning consists of sweet cakes and a quart of milk. Once in a while I eat a great deal of candy and ice cream. I would appreciate any advice given."

REPLY.

I am not interested in pimples because they have little relation to health. Yet I write about them several times a year because I get such a flood of letters about them. It is evident that a lot of people are interested in pimples regardless of their health importance. And not all of those interested are girls and 17 year old boys.

I am sure that the largest factor in the causation of pimples is inactivity of the grease glands. This is the usual sequence—an accumulation of grease forms in a grease gland, forming a comedone. The outer end of this absorbs dirt, making a blackhead. Bacteria of suppuration enter the grease gland, already irritated by the presence of the blackhead, and set up a suppurative inflammation called a pimple. The condition is known to physicians as acne.

Now, if the skin glands are very active and sweat and grease are poured out freely on the skin, if the grease is liquid, and if the skin is kept clean, the grease does not pile up in the gland to make a comedone, hence there are no blackheads, hence no pimples.

If a person will exercise or work so violently that the sweat and grease pour out, and if he will keep his skin clean, he will have no pimples. This should be done at least for a short while each day. I have seen athletes eating enormous quantities of food and yet free from pimples. Why? Because when they had finished working they were wet with sweat and grease. Each sweat and grease gland was empty. So much for the way to earn freedom from pimples.

Most people either do not want to earn their freedom or for some reason cannot, or think they cannot. They want to cheat at the game. Well, if they must cheat, here is a way to do so with some degree of success. Wash the skin with soap and hot water daily, the more thoroughly the better. Some people go over the face with alcohol in addition. After the washing process, rub the skin with ice or snow until it glows. About once a week spend some time in expressing blackheads. Some people wash the face with boric acid solution, permitting the solution to dry on, dispensing with the use of a towel.

Excesses of starches and sugars should be eliminated from the diet. For instance, M. K. tells us that his morning meal consists of "sweet cakes and a quart of milk. Once in a while a great deal of candy and ice cream." Such a diet is conducive to pimples.

A half to one cake of baker's yeast three times a day will be of assistance in the cure. It should be taken suspended in hot water, milk, soup, or beef tea, or in some cold liquid, as preferred.

EGGS TABOO.

J. F. H. writes: "A woman 73 years old has a blood pressure of slightly over 200 and weak digestion. Fears she does not get enough nourishment from a cereal diet. Is taking medicine from a physician who says she may take cow's milk and a raw egg daily. She has read that eggs are taboo in high blood pressure. Her tongue is coated mornings and she thinks the cause is the milk and egg. Do you think so? Her stomach won't stand for much fruit or vegetables. What would be a good diet?"

REPLY.

A person with a blood pressure of 200 should avoid eggs. Milk is not advised. She should live on cereals, including breads, vegetables, fruits, fats, sugars, and some nuts. The diet will supply all the nourishment needed by a woman 73 years old. I can see no reason why she cannot eat vegetables.

CATARACT OF EYE.

Mrs. X. Y. Z. writes: "Can you tell me what is meant by cataract of the eye and what is the cause of this? What are the symptoms of this disease and what is the cure, if there is any?"

REPLY.

Cataract is a change in the lens which prevents rays of light from reaching the retina—a membrane located in the interior of the eye. The only symptom of much value is dimness of vision not otherwise explained. A moderately advanced cataract is somewhat easily seen. An examination of the eye by a physician shows cataract readily. Cataract is due to senility. It is sometimes caused by heat as in glass blowers' cataract. The only treatment is surgical.

SHOULD SEE PHYSICIAN.

A Reader writes: "I had a very serious attack of influenza two months ago. Since then I have been bothered with heart palpitation. My heart never bothered me previous to this illness. Would this signify any organic trouble or merely a convalescent phase of influenza?"

REPLY.

I think it probable that you have degeneration of the heart muscle—a form of organic heart trouble. You should see a physician.

A DISCOLORATION.

Afraid writes: "I have a hard brownish spot under my arm about the size of a penny. How can I tell if it is a cancer and what would you advise me to do if it is a cancer?"

REPLY.

I understand that the spot is not a tumor but only a discolored area. If so, it is not a cancer. Take my word for it and go on your way rejoicing.

DECLARATION VOID.

Chicago, Jan. 31.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—My brother-in-law took out his first papers here. He then joined the Polish army and went to Canada, and then to France with a Polish regiment. He asks me to find out if he can get his second papers in France now, or if he has to wait until he comes back?

Would the fact that he joined the Polish army in Canada affect his first papers in U. S. A.? A. M. M.

It is believed that if an alien who had declared his intention, enlisted in some foreign regiment for service in the present war, he thereby invalidated his declaration of intention, as he has sworn allegiance to some foreign government after filing his declaration of intention.

MANY QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Arline P. Egan—A. P. O. 706 is in Chaumont, France. We do not know when the men in this unit will return to the United States.

P. J. P.—If your son is with the One Hundred and Thirty-first infantry he is in the army of occupation, as this regiment is with the Thirty-third division, now in Germany.

F. E. Brae, Iron River, Mich.—The Eighth field artillery is part of the Seventh division, assigned to the army of occupation.

C. L. Hale—The Seventy-eighth field artillery is not in the army of occupation. It belongs to the Sixth division.

Mrs. S., Rock River, Ia.—The One Hundred and Sixty-first infantry is in the Forty-first division, which is scheduled to return some time this month. We do not have information on individuals, and it would be necessary for you to make inquiry about your son of the Adjutant General, U. S. Army, Washington, D. C.

G. H. Adamson, Ottumwa, Ia.—The One Hundred and Eighth engineers is in the army of occupation with the Thirty-first division.

Miss R. C. Norman, Dubuque, Ia.—A soldier in the Three Hundred and Seventh motor transportation corps unit is not with a division. If you will address a letter according to the latest address he gave you, we feel sure that it will reach him.

Mrs. A. M. Nelson, Centralia, Ill.—It is probable that your son is not out of the hospital yet. We suggest that you write to the Central Records Office, Department Cher, Bourges, France.

Mrs. A. Humphreys—We advise that you write to the Central Records office, Department Cher, Bourges, France, complaining of nondelivery of mail to your son, and at the same time enclose a letter addressed to him with the address you have.

Gerald F. Sharon—No information available on the Seventy-first P. W. B.

B. J. B.—The navy recruiting station is located at 508 South Dearborn street, Chicago, and the marine recruiting station is at 619 South State street. Merchant marine recruiting station is at room 415, 35 South Dearborn street, Chicago.

Frank Kroe—The Fifth field signal battalion is part of the Third division and is with our forces in Germany, and therefore will not be home for some time.

Miss B. K. Ross, Princeton, Ill.—A. P. O. 788 is with the Fortieth division. A. P. O. 785 is at Aldercy, France. For information about any man in the navy write to the Bureau of Navigation, Washington, D. C.

Miss Pansy, Sharon, Wis.—The Thirty-second infantry is not listed for return yet, but are not with the army of occupation.

Francis Schemmel, Dubuque, Ia.—The Three Hundred and Third infantry is in the Seventy-sixth division. No announcement has been made yet of their return.

Noran Thomes, Mendon, Ill.—The One Hundred and Fourteenth engineers are part of the Thirty-ninth division, which is not in the army of occupation, but has not been designated for early return home.

A. H., Onarga, Ill.—The One Hundred and Fifth infantry is part of the Twenty-seventh division, which has been named for early return. No definite date has been announced, however.

Mrs. Charles McMullen, Peoria, Ill.—We have no information whatever on your son. It will be necessary for you to ask for a report from the Adjutant General, U. S. Army, Washington, D. C.

Mrs. C. Woehlk, Ganvin, Ia.—The Eleventh infantry and also A. P. O. 745 are with the Fifth division. They will not return for several months, as they are now with our forces in Germany.

N. M. W., Ambia, Ind.—The Six Hundred and Second engineers are in the army of occupation in Germany.

James Ownes, Berlin, Wis.—The Three Hundred and Sixteenth sanitary train belongs to the Ninety-first division. It is not in the army of occupation and has been mentioned for early return. A. P. O. 776 is stationary with this division.

Mrs. J. Landis.—The One Hundred and Eighth supply train is in the army of occupation. Your son in this unit will not return for some time. You should write regarding your other son to Marine Headquarters, Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Bingham.—A. P. O. 725 is with the Forty-first division, and this entire division will return this month, according to announcements made by the war department.

Sam Berman.—The Thirty-second division is in the army of occupation. We can give no information as to the date of their return.

Mrs. C. Barnes, Brodhead, Wis.—The Three Hundred and Fifty-fifth infantry is in the Eighty-ninth division.

Mrs. M. C.—The Three Hundred and Eighteenth engineers were placed with the Sixth division.

Mrs. S. Schmidt, McHenry, Ill.—The One Hundred and Sixteenth engineer regiment is part of the Forty-first or Sunset division, which is scheduled to return this month.

J. A. T., Alguna, Ia.—If your son enlisted three years ago for a period of four years, he can be kept in service for another year.

H. J. Darragh, Havana, Cuba.—We do not have records of individuals; advise that you inquire of the adjutant general, U. S. army, Washington, D. C.

William J. Talbot, Naperville, Ill.—The Thirty-eighth division has been ordered to prepare for return home, but the war department has given out no information as to the exact date of their sailing.

Miss Jones, Joliet, Ill.—The Thirty-fifth division is located in Commercy, France. The date of their sailing has not been determined.

STRING STREET CONDITIONS.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—[To the Friend of the People.]—A barn on Twenty-first street and the alley between String and Ruble streets has a chimney that is six feet below the gable of the roof of adjoining property. Smoke coming from this chimney is carried into the windows of surrounding residences.

The alley between String and Ruble streets in this neighborhood is in deplorable condition due to the fact that ashes have not been collected for over thirty days. Your attention is also drawn to the unsightly condition of String street near Twenty-first. The street is covered with paper and other debris from cars operated over the stub track belonging to the Western Shade Cloth company.

Cannot these conditions be remedied?
READER.

An inspection by the health department of the smoke complaint against the premises about 640 West Twenty-first street did not disclose sufficient evidence of nuisance to warrant action by that department.
JOHN DILL ROBERTSON,
Commissioner of Health.

The alley complained of has been cleaned and the Western Shade Cloth company notified to keep their portion of the street clean.
F. S. MITCHELL,
Superintendent of Streets.

MOONSHINING IS RISKY.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Is a person allowed to manufacture a certain quantity of alcohol daily for his individual use?

2. Is the sale of distillery apparatus permitted. J. R.

1. Not without license.
2. For proper purposes, yes.

You would run some risk in buying a still preparatory to moonshining.
TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

DEPENDS ON WORDING OF WILL.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—A man dies leaving a widow the use of the homestead with compensation as long as she may live and allotting her out of the assets of the estate a certain sum, payable monthly and charging the executors with the duty of selling the assets of the estate, with the exception of the homestead, to realize this monthly allowance. The estate is unfortunately, is not income producing and after the sale of some of the assets the executors have not been able to raise sufficient money to meet these payments. There has accumulated over the past three years a sum due the widow amounting to $1,800. In order to assist the executors in raising this money she has voluntarily given up the homestead for renting purposes.

My question now is, can she sell the unpaid past due monthly installments of rent to her heirs, and will they have a legal, proper right to collect this money from the proceeds of the sale of the homestead after her death? H. H.

Probably. Depends on the wording of the will. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PROBABLY CANNOT CONTEST WILL.

Evanston, Ill., Feb. 5.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—In Massachusetts a man died, leaving a son by his first wife, a second wife, and three daughters. In his will he canceled a debt of his son to him of $3,000 and left his estate to his wife. The wife died, leaving this property estate to her daughters. The son received none of the estate other than the money called $3,000 and no household effects. Would it be worth while for him to contest the wills? W. L.

Not unless he can prove undue influence or lack of capacity and expense his debt. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

TEACHERS AND THE REVOLUTIONARY SPIRIT.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Feb. 8.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I read your editorial on the Seattle strike situation, under the caption "The Seattle Soviet," with approval.

There is one item in your editorial that strikes me as the only redeeming feature in the whole sordid situation in Seattle. You say that the schools are "permitted" to go on undisturbed. Now, why is it that the teachers are not also on a strike? The average salary of all teachers for 1918 is given at $1,100 per year.

One half of the teachers get below that. Most of them are college graduates and have spent years in teaching to arrive at the salary they are now getting. The average wage of the strikers is not less than $6 per day or $1,800 per year on the basis of 300 working days. An unskilled worker can get more wages than experienced teachers who have put in probably at least eight years more in preparation for their profession than an unskilled worker needs to do.

Every one agrees that the teachers perform an important service and are underpaid, but no one does anything about it. Are you going to force the teachers to resort to organizing a union and using the strike as a means to secure a living wage? The present situation is causing great unrest and resentment among the teachers.

In conclusion, I will say that I am a teacher and have recently been discharged from the army in which I enlisted at the beginning of the war. I hold the degree of M. A., but have never received more than $1,200 per year in seven years of teaching. I have no sympathy for the methods of bolshevism or the Seattle strikers, but I want to warn the public solemnly that unless teachers are given a square deal, the moral influence of over 700,000 teachers will sooner or later be thrown to the support of those who want to revolutionize social conditions.
O. M. WHITE.

THE IRISH ELECTIONS.

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 4.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—A recent correspondent expressed doubts whether "there is a single county in Ireland where a majority of all the people are in favor of an Irish republic. Only a minority voted at the recent election, all young men and women."

No woman in Ireland under 30 has a vote—so much then for the "young women." The Irish republic has the young on its side—to a man—not to mention multitudes if the middle aged and old.

In no fewer than 25 constituencies, representing 474,778 electors, were republican candidates returned unopposed. There were no contests in counties like Kerry, Clare, and Carlow. Why? Because no one but a Sinn Feiner had a ghost of a chance. This alone disposes of the absurd contention "that in no county in Ireland are a majority of the people in favor of a republic."

To sum up, the voting in Ireland was: For self-determination, 1,012,221; against, 289,025. The minority in the main is composed of hyphenated Irishmen. How would the United States like to be dominated by a minority made up of "hyphens"? JAMES F. O'BRIEN.

"WHITE CROSSES AND WHITE FLAGS IN FRANCE."

Chicago, Feb. 10.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The editorial with the above title in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE is one of the strongest and truest that has come to the attention of soldiers' families and is worthy of widespread dissemination.

Being a returned officer who spent a year on the battle front of Europe I know just how anxious the soldiers and sailors are to lay aside the uniform and engage again in peace time activities.

Some of the activating causes for the hurry to be released from the service are set forth in this remarkable editorial. For instance: "With almost unanimity the families of those in supreme authority stayed far away from the battle field." A concrete example is found in today's TRIBUNE of a young man 25 years of age exempted on industrial grounds who at the time of the declaration of war was at the head of his country.

Again: "They all entered a great organization." How great this organization was and with what almost superhuman and futile efforts many of the service struggled will not be known until this cataclysm becomes history.

And: "They want to get back to the families which they left in order to fight for their country, for they did not go forth to fight for pretty phrases."

Every member of a soldier's family should keep in mind that the last paragraph of this editorial is true beyond the shadow of a doubt and should not rest until that husband, brother or sweetheart has been returned from foreign land. H. H. CARRUTHERS.

RED CROSS NURSES.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Since returning to the United States, after nineteen months' overseas service, I was disagreeably surprised by the lack of knowledge of the American people of the truly wonderful work being accomplished by our nurses.

The Red Cross nurse represents the very best type of American womanhood. She is efficient, courteous, and kind. She not only is a nurse to the sick, but also friend, sister, and mother. She entertains him, she writes his letters if he is unable to do so himself, and too frequently she spends much of her pay to purchase for him French delicacies at American prices.

During air raids all patients able to walk were ordered into trenches or dugouts. Those unfit to be moved had their beds lowered. But what about the nurse in charge of the ward? Did she take shelter? No, indeed; she claimed it was her duty to stay with the totally helpless and pacitated. And yet how rarely do we hear of a nurse receiving a citation or decoration.

While in France I received letters denying denial or confirmation of rumors prevalent here that our nurses were indiscreet. Those stories emanated from the perverted brains of some pseudo reformers or scandalmongers. Nothing could be more unfair.

They were a credit to the nation, to their sex, and to their profession. Although they may not be decorated with D. S. Ms., they have won the respect, admiration, and affection of those unfortunates who served time in hospitals.

PLAN TO MAKE CHICAGO CITY OF HOME OWNERS

Many Interests Agree to Help Campaign for Small Buildings.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

The own your own home movement was started yesterday in Chicago at a meeting in the rooms of the Chicago real estate board. It was a representative gathering from the Association of Commerce, Illinois Manufacturers' association, lumber dealers, cement dealers, City club, Mason-Contractors' association, Builders' club, and like organizations.

They decided to appoint a committee of twenty-five to get building in this line started—and started at once. R. C. Mather of the Lord-Bushnell company said that the lumber men will make some reduction in the price of lumber to get business started, if necessary. He said lumber profits are smaller than they should be, but that they would make "a contribution to get building started." The size of it was not disclosed.

Confer on $60,000,000 Road Program.

At the same time William Nelson Pelouze, acting president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, was conferring with Gov. Lowden relative to starting construction on the $60,000,000 road program. Two weeks ago the manufacturers' association sent an invitation to commercial organizations down the state for a meeting in Springfield. Thirty have agreed to send representatives to the meeting on Feb. 21. The governor will be present.

"Gov. Lowden said he is anxious to start with the construction of the hard roads and other state improvements," Mr. Pelouze declared. "He said he realized the industrial situation warrants the supplying of immediate work, but the price of materials entering into the road constructions is a very important factor at this time."

Manufacturers' Delegates.

John H. Hardin, F. A. Hardy & Co., Chicago.
Fritz Worm, La Salle Cement company, La Salle.
I. I. Kuitner, Illinois Improvement and Ballast company, Chicago.
I. L. Scott, Macomb Sewer Pipe company, Macomb.
V. H. Green, Barr Clay Manufacturing company, Streator.
John Griffiths, John Griffiths & Son Co., Chicago.
George C. Hixon, Alexander Lumber company, Aurora.
I. O. Herget, Pekin Cooperage company, Pekin.
V. M. Wood, Decatur Bridge, Decatur.
I. C. Atwood, Western Wheeled Scraper company, Aurora.
Ralph A. Bond, Herman H. Hettler Lumber company, Chicago.
C. E. Rieman, Elgin Motor Car corporation.
H. P. Affleck, Universal Portland Cement company, Chicago.
J. L. Barth, Edward Hines Lumber company, Chicago.
V. L. Crow, Mears-Slayton Lumber company, Chicago.

Tired of Paying Rent.

Getting back to the own-your-own-home crusade, George Thompson of the federal employment bureau said he believes that the workers are tired of paying rent.

"Prices of materials are up," he continued. "Bankers require larger security on building loans, so the worker hesitates. He is afraid that if he builds he will find later that he could have built in 1920 for less money. If you can stabilize prices, construction will go ahead."

H. H. Merrick of the Association of Commerce said he did not believe there is much profiteering now, as that word is used on the street.

Large Employers May Help.

"There will be a readjustment in prices, but it will come about in a common sense way," he declared. "Building should go ahead. In getting homes for employés I believe that large employers will help in this movement."

George Hooker of the City club said the home owner is a better citizen and gets more out of life. T. W. Allison of the same organization said:

"Chicago has been standing still for years. We have a plan to make it a better place in which to live, but it has been getting worse."

C. F. Ott of the Universal Portland Cement company urged building, but predicted that there will be no reduction in the price of cement. F. T. Bentley of the same corporation argued along the same line.

Urges Government Loans.

Dr. C. E. Paul of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association spoke in favor of a home mortgage system to be conducted by the government.

Alexander Shand of the Chicago Mason Builders' association said agreements with unions are now being made and there is no prospect of wages declining. He added:

"Some of the union men want more. If you are waiting for wages to come down you had better build now."

AFTER-WAR RUSH OF LABORERS TO EUROPE PROVES A FIASCO

FEARS of employers that a great horde of foreign residents of this country would race back to Europe with the signing of the armistice have not only failed to materialize, figures of the local bureau of the immigration department show, but such anxiety as is being displayed to leave the shores of the U. S. A. does not indicate that any great rush may be expected.

Up to Feb. 7—eighty-seven days after the cessation of hostilities—only 2,374 applications for permits to go back to European countries had been received from aliens by the immigration department here. Of this number more than one-half of those applying either did not obtain permits or did not return to take them up.

Of those aplying about 2,000 were Italians, the remainder being scattered among natives of Scandinavian countries and of Greece and Great Britain. No permits are being granted to enemy aliens.

"The applications for permits are but a mere drop in the bucket," H. R. Landis, immigration agent in charge, said yesterday. "After the armistice the applications for permits were rather heavy, but they have dwindled day by day until there are but few now.

"One reason, perhaps, is the exceptional difficulty in obtaining ship transportation. We have heard unverified reports that there are at present between 4,000 and 5,000 Italians stranded at New York who cannot book passage. As far as I can see it, business in this section has no need to worry for fear of a shortage in unskilled labor due to an outflow of foreigners back to their native countries."

COUNCIL BLOCKS MOVE FOR DELAY ON OGDEN AVENUE

Vote to Save Owners from Assessment Gets a Quick Reversal.

Chicago's city council indicated strongly yesterday that it won't stand for sidetracking the proposed widening and extension of Ogden avenue, one of the main recommendations of the Chicago plan commission's program of improvements.

Ald. Stanley H. Kunz introduced a resolution asking that the Ogden avenue ordinance be left unconsidered until the legislature gives the city the right to carry out this and other improvements by means of bond issues, instead of having adjacent property owners pay part of the cost by special assessments. This was adopted.

A few minutes later it was learned that the resolution might have the effect of tying up the Ogden avenue improvement, so the vote by which the resolution was adopted was reconsidered. Then the resolution was referred to the committee on state legislation.

Defends Property Owners.

"It is a shame to make poor property owners pay for this improvement," said Ald. Stanley S. Walkowiak, who said a massmeeting had been held in his ward and that this showed only a few property owners willing to pay for the project.

Ald. Kunz, Walkowiak, and others, who favored the resolution, gave no reason why an exception should be made of Ogden avenue. It was pointed out to them that the Michigan avenue and Twelfth street improvements were made possible by the same method as is to be used in the Ogden avenue case, which was that the city and the property owners share the cost on about a fifty-fifty basis.

"I won't vote for this Ogden avenue plan because the street is not to be extended in a straight line," said Ald. John Toman, chairman of the streets and alleys committee, which recommended the ordinance. "There should be no 'jogs' in the extension."

Will Act on Monday.

The council is to pass on the ordinance Monday. It is believed that it will be approved, but it was pointed out that it may be two years or longer before actual construction can start.

The council concurred in Mayor Thompson's appointment of Emil C. Christianson, assistant vessel dispatcher, vice H. Finucane, resigned.

Ald. John Powers introduced a resolution ordering the city hall closed on Lincoln's birthday. Ald. A. A. McCormick and other members of the finance committee fought this, but the Powers' resolution was adopted.

Mayor Thompson asked to be excused from presiding, and Ald. John A. Richert, chairman of the finance committee, presided for the balance of the session.

Investigate Building Costs.

The judiciary committee recommended the appointment of a special committee to investigate the high cost of building materials. The committee is to be composed of three aldermen and representatives of the Chicago Association of Commerce, Chicago real estate board, and Chicago Federation of Labor and Chicago Building Trades' council.

Ald. J. H. Smith offered resolutions asking Mayor Thompson not to issue any free milk or other permits without recommendations from the aldermen. These were adopted.

Ald. L. B. Anderson, one of the administration's floor leaders, offered resolutions asking the finance committee to see whether Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal court illegally received $15,000 for his salary increase. They were referred to the finance committee.

"We had a resolution on this administration, then on Olson, can't we have one on Merriam?" asked Ald. E. F. Cullerton.

Restrict Traffic.

The council passed an ordinance making Clinton and Jefferson streets, from Harrison to Twelfth street, one way thoroughfares during the completion of the Union station. Traffic will go north in Clinton street and south in Jefferson street.

Ald. Powers offered a bill providing for "home rule" of public utility corporations. This went to the committee on state legislation.

INSULL ASSERTS HE'LL WIN PUBLIC TO GAS COMPANY

Samuel Insull, chairman of the board of directors of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, declared at yesterday's annual meeting of the stockholders that he would put the company back into the public's good graces.

Mr. Insull told of the success he has had in keeping the Commonwealth Edison company in good repute with the public. He said for the last quarter of a century the electric light and power company has had no trouble with the public, and he predicted that the gas company would be on the same footing in time.

"We are doing the best we can to separate the gas company from politics," Mr. Insull said. "The various candidates have made a political football of the company. They don't discuss costs and other matters of interest to the investor."

Mr. Insull pointed out that the company had many troubles last year. He said for the first eight months it had a deficit of $1,502,213. He said the net earnings for the balance of the year were $100,827. If the same rate is kept up this year, he declared, there would be a 10 per cent profit.

Mr. Insull scored the employés who by improper meter reading and bookkeeping errors got the company into bad standing with the public. He thanked the employés who dealt fairly with the public.

The state public utilities commission today will start to hear arguments for and against allowing gas rates to be increased in forty-two Chicago suburbs.

Keeping Your Teeth

THERE is a reasonable way—cleanliness first; and, if you ever think they need drugs, go to your dentist or doctor.

Brushing the teeth with plain water will clear the mouth of acidity as well as a dentifrice will. No need of drugs. That's positive.

Dr. Lyon's is recommended by dentists and used by millions of refined people because it is as safe as water, cleans the teeth more thoroughly and quickly, removes the mucus plaque (film) and polishes at the same time. It removes also the possibility of the misapplication of drugs. It contains none.

Are You a "Light Sleeper"

IF you don't sleep soundly, there's something wrong somewhere. Diet not right perhaps—or maybe it's your bed.

Nobody is a "light sleeper" naturally. Give your body and nerves a chance to relax, and you'll sink into a sound, deep sleep.

You'll get rid of all your fatigue poisons and wake up feeling and looking fresh and fit.

But do you ever relax?

If your bed has a loose joint, if it rattles or squeaks, if your spring creaks every time you turn—you can't get deep, sound sleep. You may get up even more tired than when you went to bed.

o o o

FOLKS who have been light sleepers and heavy dreamers all their lives sleep sound on a Simmons Metal Bed and Slumber King Spring.

The Simmons Metal Bed is noiseless. It locks firm at the corners. The corner locks are made of pressed steel—have much longer bearing surfaces than the average—fit true and snug—not a creak, rattle, or feeling of unsteadiness.

It is perfectly rigid—feels and moves like one solid piece.

The Simmons Pressed Steel Corner Locks are protected by basic patents. They are the most fundamental inventions of modern bed manufacturing—exclusive with Simmons, not to be duplicated or imitated.

And these patented corner locks have made possible the Three-piece Bed—the new Simmons idea—the spring forming a single unit with the side rails.

o o o

THE Slumber King Spring really does what you have always wanted a spring to do.

It is a new and advanced idea. It is a system of elastic steel strips with spirals of high test spring wire—so combined that the spring action is equal in all directions.

The Slumber King Spring yields to the weight of the body, but supports it. It fits square on the bed. It does not sag, hump—or lose its resiliency.

It is always a firm, elastic foundation for the mattress. It invites sound, health-giving sleep.

The Slumber King Spring is finished in oxidized silver. It is rustproof. It has no loose ends or rough corners—cannot wear or tear the ticking.

o o o

IF you want to sleep, you want the Simmons Metal Bed and Slumber King Spring.

Your leading merchant has them—in all sizes and styles. In brass, and enameled in colors and in natural wood effects.

They cost no more than ordinary beds.

MAYBE you're one of those folks that never sleep sound unless you have a bed to yourself. You'll be glad to know that Simmons Company are making a specialty of Twin Beds.

The best people everywhere are welcoming separate beds. There's no disturbance of one sleeper by tossing or tumbling about of the other. Infections, such as coughs, cold or sore throat are not communicated. There's no loss of vitality—as when children sleep with old people or the weak with the robust.

If you care to write us, we'll tell you where to get Simmons Beds in this community.

Chones Draws Up Bill to License Dealers and Share Profit.

Attorney William Chones, whose office is at 918 Chamber of Commerce building, wanted to go to the Garrick theater one night last week. "Twelfth row," he says, they told him at the box office. Chones walked across the street to a ticket broker.

The result of his evening's toil was a bill to license ticket speculators under state supervision, with the city or town fixing the amount of the fee. This, Chones thinks, should be $1,000 or more for Chicago.

Will Have Bill Offered.

"I will ask my senator to introduce this bill at Springfield immediately," said Mr. Chones yesterday. "The Supreme court has ruled that they are engaged in a legitimate business; why shouldn't the city profit by the nuisance, inconvenience, and expense suffered daily by thousands?

"At present the city has the right to revoke the license of any theater that knowingly permits its tickets to be sold above the face value. The theaters claim that this traffic cannot be stopped—that the theaters are not to blame. If it is a necessary evil why shouldn't the people share in the profits?

"I believe the only way to do this is to provide a means of levying a fee from the scalpers. Then, if this or any other Illinois city desires to minimize the practice, they have only to fix a prohibitory license fee."

$500 Minimum Fee.

The bill, as drawn by Mr. Chones, provides for a minimum license fee of $500, the exact amount to be determined by each city. The penalty for violating the articles of the act is fixed at from $100 to $500 fine and thirty days or six months in jail; also loss of license.

JUVENILE COURT EXPANDED.

For the first time i the history of the Juvenile court two branches were opened yesterday in an effo to keep up with the docket. Judge George F. Barrett was assigned to handle the extra cases, and Judge Victor B. Arnold will continue to hear the regular calendar. Juvenile cases now average 100 a day.

SWEITZER PLANS CITY HELP FOR WOUNDED HEROES

Declares He Will Find Work for Which They Are Fitted.

The establishment of a city bureau charged with the duty of providing employment for soldiers and sailors incapacitated by wounds or sickness for their former vocations was pledged yesterday by Robert M. Sweitzer, Democratic candidate for mayor.

"I feel assured that this country is facing the greatest era of prosperity it has known," he said. "In less than a year I expect to see Chicago make the greatest industrial progress in its history.

"However, I feel just as certain that there is going to be a period of transition, when we are passing from war time prosperity to peace time prosperity, during which time unusual efforts must be made to negotiate the rough spots.

To Plan Readjustment.

"One of my first duties as mayor of Chicago will be to take immediate steps to provide for this period of readjustment. I have already outlined some of the things which can be done immediately. I have promised that I would immediately put to work the $14,000,000 which has been voted on bond issues and which has been left lying idle in the city treasury.

"I have also promised that I would immediately bring pressure to bear to see that the work on the new Union station and the Illinois Central terminal, for which private corporations will pay, shall start at once.

"I believe that in this way that we will be able to provide work for every one who is really looking for it and is able to perform it.

Care for Wounded.

"There is another class, however, for which we must provide. Many of the boys who were responsible for our great victories in the fight for democracy are returning to this country wounded and incapacitated for the employment which they left.

"I feel that the next mayor of Chicago will be charged with the solemn duty of providing for these boys. I intend immediately after my election as mayor to establish a city bureau which will undertake to find work for these boys. I am sure that I will have the coöperation of the business men of the city, and with their aid I can promise them that no man will suffer for the part he played in winning the war."

BOY KILLED BY TRAIN.

While attempting to cross the Chicago and Northwestern railroad tracks on the elevation at Sacramento avenue last evening, John Sigman, 14 years old, 3001 North Whipple street, was killed by a freight train.

THOMPSON SAYS HE'LL GO AFTER 'FOOD PIRATES'

In his speeches last night Mayor Thompson went after the "pirates" who are keeping up the high prices of foods. He said:

"The most menacing problem in every Chicago household is the high cost of living, which has raised the price of every commodity required in the American home to a point beyond the reach of the average family.

"The extortionate prices now demanded for the necessities of life are fixed through the operation of corrupt combinations of speculators who hoard vast quantities of food in order to force consumers to pay these extortionate prices, which are far beyond what they would be under ordinary competition and under the unrestrained operation of the law of supply and demand.

"As a means of curbing and limiting effectually this piratical profiteering in the necessities of life, I favor legislation providing for imprisonment of every person who becomes a party, directly or indirectly, to any combination, arrangement, agreement, or understanding to fix the price of any article of food in excess of what is just and reasonable or for the purpose of stifling competition."

Unusual Selling of Tea Wagons

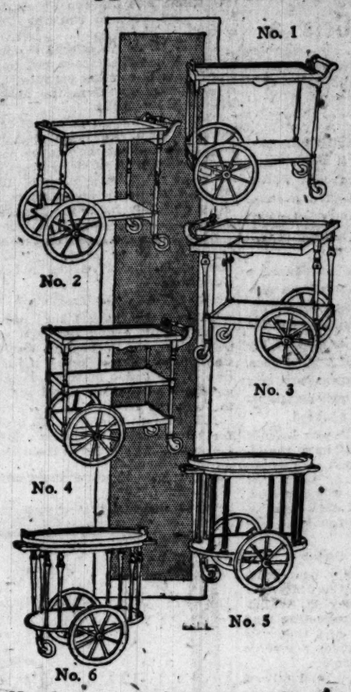
A Feature of the February Sale of Furniture



This splendid opportunity for saving on tea wagons should prove most interesting. It is another demonstration of the important part played by the February Sale of Furniture in connection with the household plans of many of our patrons.

The glass-lined removable trays measure either 17 x 27 or 18 x 27 inches, and the wagons are from 28 to 30 inches in height. Some are of walnut as well as mahogany.

The Six Styles Are Illustrated

No. 1—This tea wagon comes in the brown mahogany finish, $16.50.

No. 2—This tea wagon is made of solid mahogany, priced at $18.50.

No. 3—Of solid mahogany, fitted with a side drawer for silver, $25.

No. 4—In either mahogany or walnut, fitted with a center shelf, $27.50.

No. 5—An oval pivot wagon of mahogany or walnut, in the Adam period, $30.

No. 6—An oval pivot wagon of mahogany in the William and Mary period, $32.50.

Science Makes Them Durable

So—These Soles Save You Shoe Money.

"I have been wearing my shoes with Neolin Soles nearly a year, and they are apparently in as good condition as when I bought them."—written August, 1918, by W. H. Cooke, Co. A., E. F., France.

Only Neolin Soles could endure a test like this. That they do so is because of the tough durability built into them by a scientific process. To cut your shoe bills down, buy shoes with these long-wearing soles. They come in many styles for men, women and children.

Remember—Neolin Soles are flexible and waterproof, too, and are available everywhere for re-soling. They are made by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels—guaranteed to outwear all other heels.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

Big Olson Meeting and Thompson-Merriam "Go" Scheduled.

High points in the Republican mayoralty primary campaign will be reached tonight on opposite sides of the city—the first of the slam-bang Olson drives on the city hall forces taking place in Arcadia hall, Broadway and Wilson avenue, and the Merriam-Thompson debate in Masonic hall, Fifty-first street and Michigan avenue.

The Olson people have planned to let go the full broadside of their heavy stuff in Arcadia hall. It is to be the top notch rally of the north side wards and, incidentally, a foregathering of the Olson followers of the home ward, the Twenty-fifth.

Leaders to Speak.

The heavyweight orators will be there. Former Gov. Charles S. Deneen and Attorney General Edward J. Brundage will speak, reserving to Judge Olson meantime all the time he wants to storm the Thompson-Lundin lines along the whole battle front.

At the same time, the first "no decision go" between "Kid" Merriam and "Big Bill" will be staged in the south side hall. Ringside seats have been issued, and even these will be useless unless the holders are in their seats promptly at 7 o'clock.

Floor Beams Measured.

"Big Bill" won the toss and will lead off. Merriam is to close. The seconds yesterday said everything was in readiness, the hall had been inspected, and the floor beams measured as to their strength. A platoon of police will be on hand to see that the spectators do not stage a free for all at the finish. Corporation Counsel Ettelson will be in "Big Bill's" corner and Henry Chandler will wield the towel in "Kid" Merriam's corner.

Olson to Talk on Gas.

Judge Olson at the north side meeting will pay particular attention to gas and traction, and is reported to have in preparation a sizzling attack on Corporation Counsel Ettelson and his part in the "gas muddle."

The judge last night limbered up for the big smash tonight by going after the "shirkers" who now, he says, infest the city hall and make of it a reproach in the minds of good citizens. "With proper coöperation," he said, "between the administration and the city hall many practical reforms can be brought about that will contribute to more efficiency in the service, convenience for the public and a saving of money.

No Shirkers Wanted.

"No shirkers need apply when I am on the job, and I will avail myself of the assistance that can be had from the outside through our powerful civic organizations.

"Many great projects are contemplated for Chicago and some of them are already under way, all of which will require our best thought and effort."

REFUTES BLAME IN FUNK SUICIDE

Moses Boguslawski, concert pianist and member of the faculty of the Bush Conservatory of Music, returned last night from Kansas City, Mo., where he was made the central figure in the suicide of Mrs. Gladys Funk, a former pupil, who shot herself after leaving a note which mentioned the Chicago musician, then presenting a series of recitals in the western city.

Boguslawski declared the official inquiry into the young woman's suicide had absolved him of any responsibility. He exhibited clippings from Kansas City papers to corroborate his statement that William A. Funk, husband of the dead woman, had declared himself satisfied that Boguslawski had no relation with Mrs. Funk that might have prompted her to suicide.

"I had had no correspondence with her had I seen Mrs. Funk for more than eight months, and I knew of no reason why she should kill herself," said Boguslawski.

IN THE POLITICAL POT

Charles Dold, chairman of the Labor party of Cook county, has issued a call for a meeting of the executive committee for Thursday afternoon to consider the proposed merger of the laborites of Chicago with the Non-Partisan league of North Dakota.

The Women's Twenty-first Ward Thompson organization will give an afternoon party for Mayor Thompson at the Windsor theater, 1225 North Clark street, this afternoon. There will be "vodvil," moving pictures, and the mayor.

Ralph G. Crandall, for a time assistant corporation counsel under Mayor Thompson, and a former Thompson leader in the Twenty-fifth ward, has come out for Capt. Merriam.

The first of the public receptions to the Democratic women voters will be held by the Sweitzer forces in Parlor C of the Hotel Sherman tomorrow afternoon.

PLAN TO REPEAL CLOTHING TAX IN REVENUE BILL

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—Chairman Kitchin of the house ways and means committee announced today that as soon as President Wilson signed the new war revenue bill he would introduce a resolution for the repeal of the so-called luxury taxes applying to articles of wearing apparel.

The luxury tax imposes a 10 per cent levy on and after May 1, 1919, on a long list of articles, including practically all wearing apparel above a specified price.

MAYOR REFUSES TO DO HIS WORK, MERRIAM SAYS

Capt. Merriam yesterday put Mayor Thompson in the "shirker" class. His designation had no reference to war loyalty, but was in relation to the reported absence of the mayor from the city hall most of the time.

Ten hours a week, Capt. Merriam said, was about the time the mayor actually devoted to office work. That, he said, is less than two hours a day.

"A $100,000,000 a year business is too big to be handled in this way," he said. "Even Mayor Harrison, who filled the office five times, found it necessary to work at the job all day. The present mayor has shirked his job. He has preferred to find excitement outside. In running for president of the United States, in being a candidate for national committeeman of Illinois, in conducting his campaign for United States senator, in constructing a city hall machine. And when he is in town he is not in the city hall.

"If Mayor Thompson has ever called together his department chiefs, I have not heard of it. He has left this part of the job to Mr. Lundin, and Lundin has been interested in nothing but the jobs, and how to use them to build up a machine.

"I pledge myself, if elected your mayor, to devote my time to your job, to stick at it until it is done, to work at it day and night, and to have in view only one thing—the welfare of the city of Chicago."

CLEARED OF AUTO DEATH.

Charles J. Holland, auto truck manufacturer, who resides at the Plaza hotel, was exonerated by a coroner's jury, which yesterday conducted an inquest into the death of Mrs. Jennie Bailey, 1131 Forest avenue, Evanston, who was fatally injured last Thursday by Holland's automobile.

A Question and Its Answer

A customer asked me the other day:—

"How can YOU make a $60 and $70 suit for ONLY $35 and give an EXTRA PAIR OF PANTS FREE besides?"

Here is WHAT I told him:—

"I don't pretend to be a philanthropist, but I do not think it is fair to make a FEW customers pay for the upkeep of a whole tailoring establishment. I do not think it is right to charge a man $60 and $70 for a suit, and make a big profit on ONE customer, when I can make the SAME SUIT FOR ONLY $35—and make a LITTLE profit on a LOT of customers. My plan puts MORE money in MY pocket, and a WHOLE LOT MORE in the CUSTOMER'S. I prove that—by making these suits for ONLY $35—and by giving an EXTRA PAIR of PANTS with EVERY suit FREE—the men FLOCK to my store."

That answer "SATISFIED my customer—it's perfectly clear to YOU, isn't it?

Now here's good news: The best you've ever heard. My Woolen Buyer has just come back from New York, with a big stock of NEW SPRING PATTERNS, at prices far BELOW the market value. ## Put Scales in Schools to Stir Kids to Need of Careful Eating.

"The teaching of health in the public schools is more necessary than arithmetic, reading, or geography.

"And we want $32,000 for the installation of platform scales in every Chicago public school."

BY EYE WITNESS.

These are two of the propositions which the women of the board of education's special commission to investigate and to remedy the condition of the malnourished Chicago school child put up to the board yesterday afternoon.

They also put them over.

One's knowledge of the annals of social service does not have to be very extensive to include the time when such proposals would have brought a roar of "Fanatics!" in response to the first and "Faddists!" for the second proposition.

Get Enthusiastic Support.

But yesterday both proposals were received by veterans of the board with enthusiasm, and even Dr. W. A. Evans, medical adviser to the investigating body that is coming to be known as the Peterson commission, who had made a speech the tenor of which was "Be bold but not too bold," finally paid the radicalism of the women the tribute of saying: "We are in a changing age, and what is radical today may not be so radical tomorrow."

From the start the women, who almost exclusively compose the working force of the Peterson commission, declined to evade or equivocate in their handling of the general problems of child welfare that have been set for them.

Present 28 Propositions.

Although Mrs. Ira Couch Wood, who read the report on behalf of the subcommittee which formulated it prefaced her reading with the remark, meant to be reassuring, that she and her colleagues had "no wish to seem to be throwing bombs" such reassurance was not necessary. President Loeb did not appear frightened nor did Supt. Mortenson.

When the report had been concluded Charles S. Peterson, chairman of the special commission, said he was astonished at the amount of the information and the definiteness of the recommendations which the document contained. It represents just a week's work and it presents twenty-eight propositions, every one of which spells action.

The first that will go to the board for passage is the clause recommending the purchase for every public school in Chicago of platform scales for the daily weighing of malnourished children. This will mean buying at least 320 scales at something like $100 each and the request for the appropriation of $32,000 will be submitted to the board with the emphatic endorsement of President Loeb.

Get Specific Data on Child.

The reason why the commission's recommendation for the purchase of platform scales will be the first to be submitted to the board is that the first step in a systematic, comprehensive campaign for the restoration to normal of the malnourished Chicago school child cannot be effectively taken until specific data about him is obtained.

That the number of such children is larger than most persons dream is indicated by the conditions which investigations in New York disclosed. There they discovered that 23 per cent [or 250,000] of the public school children were so emphatically malnourished as to interfere seriously with their work. Vigorous measures were taken with the result that there is a valid hope that this year will show a reduction of the percentage to seventeen. Among the measures was an appropriation of $50,000 for the establishment of the system of school lunches.

But the collection of data at once accurate and comprehensive is not the sole reason for the purchase of scales. It has been ascertained that the campaign against malnutrition cannot make effective progress without the creation of a spirit of emulation among the children themselves. It is when a boy who undergoes the weekly weighing test sees the line on his individual weight chart mounting toward normal—toward the figure that he has been told represents the weight that is coming to him—it is then that he is glad he cut out coffee and drank milk, glad he faithfully did his exercises in the school gymnasium, and glad he had the operation for adenoids or for enlarged tonsils.

Teachers say that there is nothing like the weight line going up, up, up, on the charts to send the children trooping to the gymnasium, which many of them once wanted to avoid—that line and the line also traced on each child's chart, which shows the rapid approach to the stature normal for that particular child.

It is discovered, too, that the child roused to enthusiastic and intelligent interest in his well-being by this scrupulous keeping of data becomes a missionary in the cause of correct diet and regular hours and habits at home.

Begin Medical Tests.

The first steps proposed by the Peterson commission in dealing with the problem of the malnourished Chicago schoolchild include the weighing, measuring, and medical examination of children in certain characteristic schools in different sections of the city, representing racial, color, or social differences of school population. These tests are to be started at once in order to determine the extent of malnutrition and physical defects.

Simultaneously reports on conditions in schoolrooms, such as bad air and overheating, as causes contributing to malnourishment, will be assembled. Supt. Mortenson has given permission for this part of the investigation.

Other urgent recommendations which the commission makes are the establishment in Chicago Normal school of courses on child hygiene, health and correct feeding by the best instructors; regular lectures on health, food, and dental care to principals and teachers in public schools; complete medical examination by physicians of all children at least twice in the school year; adequate provision for medical, optical, and dental clinics at hospitals and dispensaries or in connection with schools; time definitely provided in the school curriculum for health teaching; a hot school luncheon available to every schoolchild, and guidance of children in the choice of foods in the lunchroom as a part of health education.

EXPENSIVE SMOKES

Judge Stewart Fines Several Building Owners.

A SUGGESTION was made yesterday that Municipal Judge Stewart ought to be required to wear "blinkers" when he is considering evidence in anti-smoke ordinance cases.

City smoke inspectors offered evidence that the Kremnick building, at Washington and Wells streets, and the Peoples Life Insurance building, Wells and Randolph streets, were violators of the ordinance. To prove this they asked the judge to look out of the windows of the court and see for himself. He did.

"I see about $100 and costs for the Kremnick building and $25 and costs for the Peoples Life building," the court said.

The Palmer house drew a $100 fine, and The Tribune company barns, 201 North Curtis street, was fined $25. The Wieland Pure Ice Cream company got a $25 fine.

Anthracite Available

For all communities—For all purposes—In any quantity

By an order effective February 1, 1919, the U. S. Fuel Administrator permits the resumption of shipments of anthracite in any quantity, to any community and to any consumer, and suspends all regulations and restrictions on the price of hard coal. Coincident with the issuance of the order the Fuel Administrator gave to the press the following statement relative to the prices of anthracite which during the period of the war had been fixed by the Administration:

"By his Executive Order of August 23, 1917, the President adopted as maximum prices for anthracite coal, the schedule of prices which had been acquiesced in by the industry while under investigation by the Federal Trade Commission under the so-called "Calder" resolution of the Senate. This involved one price for the railroad controlled coal companies and a price of 75c higher for the individuals. With the exception of a reduction of sixty cents a ton in the prices for pea coal made October 1, 1917, and two adjustments to cover increases in miners' wages, the Fuel Administration allowed the prices fixed by the President to stand pending examination of costs such as were made in the case of bituminous coal.

"For the purpose of arriving at a fair increase in price to cover the increase in wages recommended by the War Labor Board last October, an examination was made to determine the costs of the various anthracite producing companies. The result of this examination showed that the general increases in the price of materials and labor had raised the cost of mining anthracite to such an extent that many of the companies were not receiving a fair return and that some producers of necessary coal were actually sustaining a loss on the sale of coal at the Government prices, in spite of the two increases allowed on account of advances to labor.

"At the time this situation was discovered every indication pointed to an early peace and it was deemed unwise to increase the maximum prices so near the time when, on account of the end of the war, price restrictions would in the natural course of events, be lifted entirely.

"The above statement is made at this time, when price restrictions are about to be lifted, out of fairness to those companies who have patriotically kept up their production to war needs, even at a cost which resulted in many instances in a loss, not only by the individuals, but also by some of the railroad companies, so that the impression shall not exist that the Government prices of anthracite coal in existence at the time of the lifting of restrictions were prices which the Fuel Administration had fixed on the basis of cost to the operators.

"Had the Fuel Administration's active control over maximum prices on anthracite coal been continued, the cost examination above referred to shows that it would have been necessary, on the basis of the present wage scale, to raise these maximum prices possibly as much as 50 cents a ton above those last fixed by the Government, in order to prevent financial embarrassment and perhaps the closing of companies producing a substantial per cent of the necessary anthracite output.

"Such a curtailment of production would eventually result in the demand exceeding the supply to such an extent as to increase the prices much higher than they would be if that supply were continued."

THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF THEODORE ROOSEVELT

[Copyright 1919: By the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.]

TWEN men of the regiment [the Rough Riders] always enthusiastically helped me when I was running for office. On one occasion Buck Taylor of Texas accompanied me on a trip and made a speech for me. The crowd took interest in his speech from the beginning and so did I, until the peroration which ran as follows: "My fellow citizens, vote for my colonel! vote for my colonel! and he will lead you, as he led us, like sheep to the slaughter!" This hardly seemed a tribute to my military skill; but it delighted the crowd, and as far as I could tell did me nothing but good.

On another tour, when I was running for vice president, a member of the regiment who was along on the train got into a discussion with a Pittsburg editor who had expressed an unfavorable estimate of my character, and in the course of the discussion struck the editor—not fatally. We had to have him to be tried, and as he had no money I left him $150 to hire counsel—having borrowed the money from Senator Wolcott of Colorado, who was also with me.

After the election I received from my friend a letter running: "Dear Colonel: I find I will not have to use that $150 you lent me, as we have elected our candidate for district attorney. So I have used it to settle a horse transaction in which I unfortunately became involved. A few weeks later, however, I received a heartbroken letter setting forth the fact that the district attorney—whom he evidently felt to be a cold-blooded formalist—had put him in jail. Then the affair dropped out of sight until two or three years later, when as president I visited a town in another state, and the leaders of the delegation which received me included both my correspondent and the editor, now fast friends, and both of them ardent supporters of mine.

A Small Killing Matter.

At one of the regimental reunions a man, who had been an excellent soldier, in greeting me mentioned how glad he was that the judge had let him out in time to get to the reunion. I asked what was the matter, and he replied with some surprise: "Why colonel, don't you know I had a difficulty with a gentleman, and . . . well, I killed the gentleman. But you can see that the judge thought it was all right or he wouldn't have let me go." Waiving the latter point, I said: "How did it happen? How did you do it?"

Misinterpreting my question as showing an interest only in the technique of the performance, the ex-rancher replied: "With a .38 on a .45 frame, colonel." I chuckled over the answer, and it became proverbial with my family and some of my friends, including Seth Bullock. When I was sick at Milwaukee, Seth Bullock wired an inquiry to which I responded that I was all right, that the weapon was surely "a .38 on a .45 frame." The telegram in some way became public, and puzzled outsiders. By the way, both the men of my regiment and the friends I had made in the old days in the west were themselves a little amused at the interest shown in my asking my speech after being shot. This was what they expected, what they accepted as the right thing for a man to do under the circumstances, a thing the non-performance of which would have been discreditable rather than the performance being creditable. They would not have expected a man to leave a battle, for instance, because of being wounded in such fashion; and they saw no reason why he should abandon a less important and less risky duty.

A Giant from the Rockies.

One of the best soldiers of my regiment was a huge man whom I made marshal of a Rocky Mountain state. He had spent his hot and lusty youth on the frontier during its viking age, and at that time had naturally taken part in incidents which seemed queer to men "accustomed to die decently of zymotic diseases." I told him that no effort would doubtless be made to prevent his confirmation by the senate, and therefore that I wanted to know all the facts in his case. Had he played faro? He had; but it was when everybody played faro, and he had never played a brace game. Had he killed anybody? Yes, but it was in Dodge City on occasions when he was deputy marshal or town marshal, at a time when Dodge City, now the most peaceful of communities, was the toughest town on the continent, and crowded with man-killing outlaws and cow punchers; and he produced telegrams from citizens of high character testifying to the need of the actions he had taken.

Finally I said: "Now, Ben, how did you lose that half of your ear?" To which, looking rather shy, he responded: "Well, colonel, it was bit off." "How did it happen, Ben?" "Well, you see, I was sent to arrest a gentleman, and him and me mixed it up, and he bit off my ear." "What did you do to the gentleman, Ben?" And Ben, looking more coy than ever, responded: "Well, colonel, we broke about even." I forebore to inquire what variety of mayhem he had committed on the "gentleman." After considerable struggle I got him confirmed by the senate, and he made one of the best marshals in the entire service, exactly as he had already made one of the best soldiers in the regiment; and I never wish to see a better citizen, nor a man in whom I would more implicitly trust in every way.

Luck Assures Quiet.

When, in 1900, I was nominated for vice president, I was sent by the national committee on a trip into the states of the high plains and the Rocky mountains. These had all gone overwhelmingly for Mr. Bryan on the silver issue four years previously, and it was thought that I, because of my knowledge of and acquaintanceship with the people, might accomplish something toward bringing them back into line. It was an interesting trip, and the monotony usually attendant upon such a campaign of political speaking was diversified in vivid fashion by occasional hostile audiences. One or two of the meetings ended in riots. One meeting was finally broken up by a mob; everybody fought so that the speaking had to stop.

Soon after this we reached another town where we were told there might be trouble. Here the local committee included an old and valued friend, a "two-gun" man of repute, who was not in the least quarrelsome, but who always kept his word. We marched round to the local opera house, which was packed with a mass of men, many of them rough looking. My friend the two-gun man sat immediately behind me, a gun on each hip, his arms folded, looking at the audience; fixing his gaze with instant intentness on any section of the house from which there came so much as a whisper. The audience listened to me with rapt attention. At the end, with a pride in my rhetorical powers which proceeded from a misunderstanding of the situation, I remarked to the chairman: "I held that audience well; there wasn't an interruption." To which the chairman replied: "Interruption? Well, I guess not! Seth had sent round word that if any son of a gun peeped he'd kill him!"

Code of the Frontier.

There was one bit of frontier philosophy which I should like to see imitated in more advanced communities. Certain crimes of revolting baseness and cruelty were never forgiven. But in the case of ordinary offenses, the man who had served his term and who then tried to make good was given a fair chance, and of course this was equally true of the women. Every one who has studied the subject at all is only too well aware that the world offsets the readiness with which it condones a crime for which a man escapes punishment, by its unforgiving relentlessness to the often far less guilty man who is punished and who therefore has made his atonement.

On the frontier, if the man honestly tried to behave himself there was generally a disposition to give him fair play and a decent show. Several of the men I knew and whom I particularly liked came in this class. There was one such man in my regiment, a man who had served a term for robbery under arms, and who had atoned for it by many years of fine performance of duty. I put him in a high official position, and no man under me rendered better service to the state, nor was there any man whom, as soldier, as civil officer, as citizen, and as friend, I valued and respected—and now value and respect—more.

Now I suppose some good people will gather from this that I favor men who commit crimes. I certainly do not favor them. I have not a particle of sympathy with the sentimentality—as I deem it, the mawkishness—which overflows with foolish pity for the criminal and cares not at all for the victim of the criminal. I am glad to see wrongdoers punished. The punishment is an absolute necessity from the standpoint of society, and I put the reformation of the criminal second to the welfare of society.

But I do desire to see the man or woman who has paid the penalty and who wishes to reform given a helping hand—surely every one of us who knows his own heart must know that he too may stumble, and should be anxious to help his brother or sister who has stumbled. When the criminal has been punished, if he then shows a sincere desire to lead a decent and upright life, he should be given the chance; he should be helped and not hindered; and if he makes good, he should receive that respect from others which so often aids in creating self-respect—the most invaluable of all possessions.

Ideas for Adoption

At first, advertising was used chiefly to exploit frauds or near frauds. The Louisiana Lottery, for example, or some villainous nostrum that "cured" cancer or consumption, cost 2c per bottle to make—and 60c to sell.

Next came the advertising of sound but commonplace merchandise like soap, shoes, oranges and inner tubes.

But what of the future?

Advertising conveys a message from one to many.

What are the limits as to the nature of these messages?

Just before the armistice was signed, an advertising agency received a $250,000 order for a campaign in favor of "UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER."

Where do you limit the advertising of the future?

Why can not ideas be advertised for adoption as well as goods or service?

The Sad Eyed Charles in New Predicaments

Produced by Paramount.
Directed by Jerome Storm.
Presented at the Castle theater.
THE CAST.
Cuthbert Trotman, The Girl Dodger ..... Charles Ray.
Anita Graham ..... Doris Lee.
Harry Travistock, The Gloom Buster ..... Hal Cooley.
Billie, The Gent ..... Jack Nelson.
Pinkie Le Rue, a Chorus Girl ..... Leota Lorraine

By Mae Tinée.

I entered the Castle theater to the sound of pattering laughter. The house was convulsed, and the reason for the amusement was Mr. Charles Ray, in evening dress as to torso and in B. V. D.'s as to the lower part of his cringing anatomy.

That portion of the picture being seen just then was reminiscent of the dreams we have all had of suddenly finding ourselves in church or thoroughfare in costume usually reserved for the privacy of boudoir or bath. Mr. Ray was having an awful time, but his audience was having a lovely one.

From my own personal viewpoint this popular star has had many better pictures. The part of an awkward country boy which he so often plays is better suited to him than the rôle of his present production. This time he is a student at college—poor, bashful, absent minded, and much alone.

He lives at Mrs. Clancy's boarding house, in Mrs. Clancy's attic bedroom. That is, he lives there until, upon being approached for the rent he tells the landlady he has spent his allowance for books. He and his books beat then a swift retreat from Mrs. Clancy's, with the landlady herself seeing that no time is lost about it.

Having no place to go, "The Dreamy Dub," as he is known, walks absentmindedly into the house next door and saunters through the first door he finds open. In the room he enters he finds an excited young man, known to his fond associates as "The Gloom Buster." This young person is anticipating a call from his father, who has had a peremptory summons from the college president. "The Gloom Buster," you see, is one of those gay gentlemen who use their college days as a camouflage for a good time.

The long and short of it is that "The Gloom Buster" engages "The Dreamy Dub" to stay in and act as tutor, so that when father comes he may be duly impressed. After that "The Dreamy Dub" may camp there if he wishes.

The night the chorus girl, Pinkie Le Rue, was expected by "The Gloom Buster" his mother telephones that he must come and dine with herself and his fiancé at a hotel several miles distant. "The Dreamy Dub" is ordered to look after the chorus lady.

A lady arrives, but she is not Pinkie Le Rue, though the dub has no reason to think otherwise. She is a charming little creature, into whose ears the young man soon finds himself pouring many confidences. He assures her that "The Gloom Buster" did not want to go and leave her—that it was just a case of have to, and that he was only going to marry his fiancée because she had money.

Have you guessed who the girl was yet?

Events move swiftly after that. Mr. Ray's trouserless effect indirectly changes the tenor of his whole life for him.

NOTES OF SCREENDOM

"Broncho Billy"—Gilbert M. Anderson, is coming back in some western stories produced by the Goldwyn West Producing company. "The Sun of a Gun" is the picture in which he will soon be seen.

And now comes word that D. W. Griffith is to produce three pictures for the First National Exhibitors' circuit. Mr. Griffith has two Artcraft productions to complete before starting on his new venture.

"I am not engaged," denies Helen Chadwick. There was a rumor, you know, that she was to marry Lieut. William Wellman, author and American "ace."

Emmy Wehlen is to begin a new series of comedies for Metro.

Charlie Chaplin has abandoned his idea of a sea voyage.

"Got to clean up my present contract so's to be in order to begin work for the 'Big Five,'" he gives as his reason. And they say the Chaplin studio is just humming with activity.

A number of the Griffith super-pictures will be offered in repertory at a Broadway theater, report has it. Among them will be "The Birth of a Nation," "Intolerance," and "Hearts of the World."

It may be you have some discarded article which has not outgrown its usefulness that will make some less fortunate one happy, and you would gladly give it if you knew how to go about it. Write to me and I shall be only too happy to be of service to you. Please write on one side of the paper.

When information is wanted by mail a stamped, addressed envelope should accompany the request. Please do not send parcels to "The Tribune," but write for the address of the applicant and send direct.

For a Sailor's Mother.

"We have had hard luck for some time, and now comes the news that our boy, who has been in the navy and has been gone for a year and nine months, is coming home for a fifteen day furlough. Now what I want to ask is this: Has any kind lady a skirt and waist she no longer needs? I have nothing to wear but one house dress, and see no chance of getting any other clothes, as I have three other children to take care of. I really don't know how I can let my boy see the way things have gone since he has been away. I wear skirt size 36, waist size 46. MRS. H."

I like the fine spirit of this mother, who doesn't want her boy to "see the way things have gone." The man from overseas deserves a happy homecoming, and it will make him happy to see his mother well dressed and smiling. I have her address, and will give it gladly.

Women Inspect "Y" Hotel.

Several hundred women were guests at a luncheon at the Y. M. C. A. hotel yesterday and later inspected the building. L. Wilbur Messer, general secretary of the Chicago association, referred to the hotel as "the home away from home for every mother's son." He asserted the Y. M. C. A. hotel is now a pronounced success from every standpoint.

REAL LOVE STORIES

Do you know a real love story—one that is stranger than fiction? It is the idea that is wanted. No attention will be paid to literary style. "The Tribune" will pay $5 for every story published. No manuscripts returned. Address Doris Blake, "The Tribune," Chicago.

One Day in June.

Everybody in my small home town took it for granted that Carl and I would marry, because we had been chums since our high school days. Their guess would probably have been correct if I had not gone to the city one day in June.

I noticed a young man in the crowded coach as we neared our destination because he got up to give his seat to an old lady. As he stood in the aisle I found myself, silly as it may sound, falling in love with him—that is, I felt that I would like very much indeed to meet him.

I was still thinking about him after a few hours of shopping when I hurried into a basement cafeteria in an office building for luncheon. The place was crowded, and when I had almost finished my bite to eat I observed my hero of the train coming toward my table. It was practically the only one even partially vacant.

We tried to ignore each other politely, but it was difficult. When I arose to leave I left my home town paper on the table. Thinking that I had forgotten it, my late luncheon companion called and offered it to me, but I merely thanked him and explained that I no longer wanted it. Then, much as I regretted it, the only thing I could do was to go out and finish my shopping and take the train for home.

That night I informed my parents that I wanted to take a business course in the city. I quarreled with Carl and told him that never would I settle down in a little burg to sweep, dust, and wheel a baby carriage for any man. And every day in the city I took luncheon in the little cafeteria where I had seen my unknown knight, but not a trace of him did I find.

Five weeks later, while on a hurried week-end visit at home, I suffered with a toothache all night, and first thing in the morning I went down to see the new dentist. Imagine my astonishment when before me, in white linen coat and with smiling eyes, stood the man who had handed me my home town paper in the city cafeteria!

We are married now, and nothing gives me more happiness than being "settled," in the little town I thought I disliked. I would rather wheel Junior in his go-cart than ride in the finest limousine.

But the truth stranger than fiction part is this: In my discarded home town paper, that eventful June morning, appeared a short article regarding the sudden death of our best dentist. My table companion read it, and as he had just graduated and was looking for a location, he took the next train to our town, bought the office fixtures from the widow, and at once began his successful career. MRS. C. H. D.

DORIS BLAKE'S ANSWERS

Loses Out to a Friend.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a young girl of 17 years. I am very intimate with a girl of 16. We are both very attractive and popular, but lately every time we have had double dates my friend seems to attract the young man I am with. I have always thought a great deal of this friend and we both take this as a joke, but lately I have thought of it many times and wondered what t odo, since it is embarrassing at times. I would consider this girl a good friend. Please tell me what you think best to do in this case. LENA."

Lena, if the boy you go with falls an easy victim to your girl friend's charms you would better make a graceful exit while you may. He must like her better than he likes you, and while that is a bitter pill for any one of us women to swallow it sometimes has to be done for our happiness later on. Mayhap you are just a bit jealous of your girl chum, though? You can't expect too much sacrifice in the name of friendship from one's girl chum. If the situation were reversed, would you act differently?

Soldier Welcomed Home.

A homecoming party was given last night at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Conway, 3000 Archer avenue, for Mrs. Conway's brother, Daniel Fitzgerald, who was a member of the Blackhawks. Members of Mr. Fitzgerald's company were among the guests.

Bright Sayings of the Children

"The Tribune" will pay $1 in thrift stamps for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Please write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, "Tribune," Chicago.

Elizabeth ran into the house one day carrying a frightened chicken under one arm.

"Why, Elizabeth," said her mother, "how did you catch him?"

"O," she answered, "I just runned him until his gasoline gived out and then I picked him up." S. M. B.

Ruth was left to watch baby brother in his bed while mother prepared dinner. In a few minutes followed a thump and then a wail. Running upstairs mother said, "I thought I left you to take care of brother?"

"Well, mother, I did call you the very minute he hit the floor," was the comforting response. E. L. R.

Jean was listening to her mother sing. The last line of the chorus ran, "And the little birds said 'we, we.'" Jean looked puzzled and said, "Mother, they must have been little French birds." W. G. M.

Donald was much interested in a neighbor's dog. One day he came in from play and said, "Mother, I waved my hand at the dog and the dog waved his tail." R. M. P.

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Onion Seasonings.

After giving some part of some long years to the subject of onion seasonings, light has come as to the possible reason why certain people shudder at the mention of onions when they know that they are eating them. They can be deceived, but seldom if winter onions, yellow ones in particular, are used in certain connections.

For instance, dry lima beans cooked in the gentlest manner in four cups of water, cold at the start, seasoned with one onion and one carrot, may be delicious, but under some circumstances they may have a subtle ugliness of flavor that is undoubtedly due to the onion used. If we had meat, instead of the beans, we might easily attribute that flavor to something wrong in that. I am sure I would, if I had not studied this onion problem for a long time.

With fresh new onion tops, or scallions, or a white onion I do not believe you could get that unpropitious odor, an odor those uninterested in food might perhaps not notice, although they probably would notice that the beans were not as pleasant a dish as they had perhaps at some time imagined.

The yellow onion in winter can undoubtedly be used in some combinations in cooking and can be delicately cooked alone, but it should be used with great discretion. It may be used to make gently cooked fried onions. It should, like tea, be cooked but for a short time, and in a closed vessel, so that the least possible fire will suffice for the work. It is more like tea, in that continued cooking and a hot fire—boiling, in the case of tea—will develop an obnoxious flavor and odor, or perhaps it would be more correct to say that it destroys the delicacy of the flavor elements in it.

A good many people have written in praise of the onion, but no one better than that epicure of epicures, Mrs. Elizabeth Robins Pennell, in the chapter in her book on eating entitled "The Incomparable Onion." She says that "without it there would be no gastronomic art. Banish it from the kitchen and all pleasure of eating flies with it." To know onions well, she says, is to master the fundamental principles of cookery. "But," she says too truly, "this is knowledge given unto the few; the many, no doubt, will remain forever in the outer darkness, where the onion is condemned to everlasting companionship with the sausage."

Pearls and diamonds have little more value than peas and glass to those who have no knowledge of them. Onions are pearls used in large part by people who do not know that they are jewels and, therefore, need similarly nice treatment.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

MIKE: SURE, MIKE. THE TONIC may be applied to heads of either sex with equal hope. But I can't send it to you when you confide no address to me. I will be glad to, however, if you send me a stamped, addressed envelope. Yes, I have been told that men marcel their hair, but if your name's Mike the style is not for you. Leave the marcelling to the Archibalds and the Oswalds.

CURIOUS: I GUESS THERE ARE a lot of women like you to whom the words protein and carbohydrates mean something, but you just don't know what it is. Read the following description and then try to remember that some foods in each of these groups should be taken every day: Protein (food ingredient needed for repair or growth) foods that contain much protein are lean meat, milk, eggs, cheese, oysters, poultry, peas, beans, lentils, and nuts. Carbohydrates (starches and sugars; food ingredients valuable for fuel or energy), the starchy foods are bread, cereals, macaroni, rice, flour, hominy, cornstarch, potato. Fats (fuel food), cream, butter, lard, fat, bacon, chocolate, salt pork, oleo oils, margarine.

MRS. F. A.: EMPHATICALLY NO! Thyroid as a medicine should never be taken except under the best medical supervision. If you go to a conscientious physician and suggest this "speedy reducer," as you call it, he undoubtedly will tell you to let it alone and stick to the good old reliable diet and exercise theory of reducing. It can't be beaten for permanent and healthful results.

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

Give "California Syrup of Figs" if cross, bilious or feverish.

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half sick, isn't resting, eating or acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that the little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and restores the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs"; then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

SOCIETY INSPECTS WAR TROPHIES

MRS. EDWARD MORRIS, MANUEL CABRAL, MRS. JOSEPH RYERSON.

Manuel Cabral, a swarthy Hawaiian, but American through and through, returned from the battlefields of France and yesterday was a visitor at Red Cross canteen.

To a group of women Red Cross workers, among them Mrs. Edward Morris and Mrs. Joseph Ryerson, he told a story of German treachery that ranks with early war stories of atrocity.

He exhibited a dagger, dangling from a belt covered with German and Austrian buttons, medals and an iron cross. This dagger, he said, was used by a German officer, who, lying wounded, was offered a drink of water by George Miller, a hospital corps man.

"I saw Miller raise the German's head and put his flask to his lips," Cabral said. "The German got his knife from his belt and stabbed him in the back."

"I couldn't stand for that. The only weapon I had was an ax, but I used it. I had to finish him. I kept his knife. That's all."

Good Singing in the Apollo Concert

The manner was more stimulating than the matter in the Apollo Club's second concert, last night, although part of the bill carried what in the coarser glossary of statesmanship and the theater is known as the punch. This was Florent Schmitt's setting of the Forty-seventh Psalm, and was, like the other half, "The Veil," a revival for the club, which gave both pieces in one program three years ago, when I was not among the present. Schmitt's work is an alluring exercise in the art of not knowing when to stop, even when the signals are up and in plain view; but it goes through without disaster, thanks to abundant vigor, which is a fair substitute for vitality when dependence is placed on a big chorus with orchestra. It is one of those things that, you think as you listen, would sound all the better if the chorus were twice the size of the Apollo's: a hurrah exhibition in tone, with the timpani-man frantic from cues and apprehension.

If a real musician were the present penman, you would be told, perhaps, of Schmitt's use and misuse of the six-tone mode in this Psalm, and of other things that would not interest you. And, maybe, you would not be told that, if Schmitt had hit upon a melody or two, his Psalm would be effective theater, and that, as he didn't, it is just what it is—make-believe worship-music.

The Psalm was provided with a stimulating performance under Mr. Wild, who had not been so vivid in years as in this concert. Mrs. Libberton sang some special writing for soprano, and was excellent with it, if not half so interesting as in "The Veil," which was the first part of the bill. She has been coming along gladly since her brief experience, two years ago, in the Chicago Opera, and is better every time she sings. No diction is clearer and cleaner than her diction when you are listening to the sopranos in English; and she uses brains.

Mrs. Libberton was not lonely in "The Veil"; for Frances Ingram took part, and so did Warren Proctor. Miss Ingram's is the best contralto I know; and he, like Mrs. Libbertón, is coming along. Also, Louis Kreidler was in it; and, although he seemed to be hoarse, he sang better than he usually does when I'm listening.

"The Veil," itself, is nothing to worry about. It is Robert Buchanan's verse set by Sir Frederic Hymen Cowen, one of the most respectable of England's composers, and the author of "Music as She Is Wrote," nearly three hundred songs, some operettas, and "The Rose-Maiden."

The Apollos' next concert will be April 13, when Verdi's Requiem and the Hallelujah chorus from Beethoven's "Christ on the Mount of Olives" will be the program. F. D.

"Overseas Revue" Helps Make World Safe for Actors

BY SHEPPARD BUTLER.

There's a real hit at the Princess—a spontaneous, rollicking show about the doughboy in France that makes the flashy musical comedy flag waving of our stay-at-home patriots these last years seem tawdry things, indeed.

To every returned soldier in Chicago, and to his sisters and his cousins and his aunts, adopted or otherwise, I hereby recommend "The Overseas Revue" as a sovereign prescription for what ails them. It is the sort of rarity you encounter but once in a blue moon—a genuine novelty in entertainment—and it hits the boy with the service stripes where he lives.

Eighty wounded men from Fort Sheridan were in the balcony last evening and they had the time of their lives. You should have heard them hoot the M. P. (military police, if you don't know what the initials mean) when he came on to serve as prologue for the show, and you should have heard the cheer with which Miss Elizabeth Brice was greeted when she appeared with a tray of doughnuts, clad in the demure blue of a Salvation Army lassie.

That cheer, I thought, struck the keynote of the entertainment. We all joined in it, for this was no cheap mockery such as that same uniform has been subjected to on the stage so often. In spirit, it was a bit of the real thing from "over there" and we knew it, just as we knew that the whole play, though nothing more than a ridiculous romp, was a perfectly sincere and genuine attempt to reproduce for us something of the bubbling good humor with which the irrepressible Yank braced himself for his job in France.

Half the principals in the cast were there themselves—some in the service, some as army entertainers—and out of what they remember they have simply thrown together an impromptu string of stunts with no pretensions and no apologies. Songs, dances, and interludes of sheer nonsense follow each other without rhyme or reason. You would say, at a guess, that the show hasn't been rehearsed much, and you like it all the better for that.

Presiding over the revels is an Irishman named Will Morrissey, a quiet fellow with a twinkle in his eye and a sure sense of travesty. He has a solemn way of getting off the nuttiest wheeze without cracking a smile that is irresistible. As is right and proper, the big type in the program goes to Miss Brice for her gracious presence and her incomparable way of conferring distinction on the most inconsequential bit of a song, but Morrissey is a capable assistant.

Capable, too, are Lon Hascall, Clarence Nordstrom, Miss May Boley, Edward Miller, Mlle. Marcelle Carroll, and a lot of others, none of whom takes himself at all seriously and all of whom appear to be having as good a time as those who paid to get in.

FASHION'S BLUE BOOK

Trade Mark Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

BY CORINNE LOWE.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—The jet results of midwinter are hard to estimate. Here we have the timely glitter on a new afternoon cloak of black satin which had its inspiration abroad. In this costume the jet is applied in an effective design on bands of white satin which edge the cape and skirt and form the collar. The cape, lined here with white satin, repeated in the buttons which fasten the front, is merely an index to coming spring fashions. Cape suits, cape solitaires, capes to finish off sports clothes, and capes to cap coats are all going to make us capitulate.

OBITUARY

DR. C. H. LOVEWELL, pioneer resident of Englewood, died Sunday night at his home, 6058 Wentworth avenue. Dr. Lovewell was born in Orleans county, N. Y., in 1848, and was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1870. He came to Englewood in 1875 and was active in the building of the first high school there. From 1888 to 1890 he was a member of the school board of the Town of Lake. He is survived by four sons, Maj. Charles Hubart, United States medical corps; Maurice M., Ralph E., and Frank Sherman.

WARNS RAIDERS TO LET ILLINOIS BUDGET ALONE

O. H. Wright Bars Attempts to Boost Salaries by Political Pull.

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The state department of finance tonight clamped the lid on any attempts of state employés to pull political strings to get salary increases that are not carried in the new state budget submitted to the legislature by Gov. Lowden.

The official statement, which was a warning issued directly to all employés who fall within the provisons of the administrative code, goes likewise for the twenty-three state institutions, but the institutions are not mentioned direct.

"Stop, Look, and Listen."

Comment from Finance Director Omar H. Wright, who issued the warning, is that "all involved need only to stop, look, and listen." The Wright statement serves notice that the budget has been compiled systematically and reasonably and that any effort to evade its provisions and allotments will be the basis for summary action.

Creation of the "Illinois soldier settlement fund" and the appropriation by the Illinois legislature of $1,250,000 to be used in establishing returned soldiers and sailors of the state on reclaimed lands in Illinois is proposed in a bill to be introduced in the house of representatives by Representative Ralph W. Church of Chicago tomorrow.

THREATEN GENERAL STRIKE.

Organized labor's spokesmen in Chicago and Illinois yesterday served notice that they will call a general strike throughout the state if the present legislature passes the state constabulary bill.

Edward N. Nockels, secretary of the Chicago Federation of Labor, in a conference with Gov. Lynn Frazier of North Dakota yesterday, said:

"This proposed outrage will give the employing classes all the trouble they want. If the scoundrels behind this hellish bill dare to put it through the legislature they'll find themselves in the hottest fight they ever had. We do not propose to have repeated in Illinois the shame of Pennsylvania. We want no state constabulary here."

Duncan McDonald, president-elect of the state federation of labor, said:

"I am not yet president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, but I have been elected to that position and I'll take office on the first day of April. I want to serve notice here and now on the crowd that is behind this constabulary bill that if they dare to put it through my first act as president of the Illinois federation will be to call a general strike that will tie up every industry in the state.

MINISTERS HURL HOT CRITICISM AT NEWSPAPERS

Magazines, Clergymen, Y. M. C. A. Also Draw Harsh Words.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

Newspaper and magazine writers were attacked yesterday at two meetings of ministers.

The criticism came unexpectedly. The first utterance of the Rev. W. S. Fleming, pastor of Centenary church and a member of the publicity committee, was one of compliment to the press for its "full and sympathetic reports of the recent world program conference on the Methodist centenary."

The Rev. John Thompson, superintendent of the Chicago Home Missionary and Church Extension society, then entered a demurrer as to the way the press treated ministers and ministers' sons.

Cites Some Instances.

"There appeared this morning," Dr. Thompson said, "an account of the misdeeds of a minister's son. Similar deeds are performed every day in Chicago that are passed by, but because it was a minister's son it was mentioned, and the fact it was a minister's son was made prominent in the headlines.

"Then there was the account of two ministers whose misdeeds, committed, one of them in 1909 and the other in 1903, were dragged into the light. These events are dead and forgotten, why bring them out again after from ten to fifteen years?"

The Rev. John P. Brushingham expressed grievance over the way in which the press sought to make it appear he was wholly engaged in politics and not in the regular work of a minister.

"The newspapers," he said, "always magnify my work in politics until the public thinks I am doing nothing else."

Objects to "Tribune" Story.

He referred to THE TRIBUNE when he said: "The other day when the meeting was held here at which the candidates for the office of mayor spoke the newspaper—no, not the newspaper, but a brother minister—said I acted like the leader of the claque at the grand opera in starting the applause. Why, the biggest applause for Mayor Thompson was when I was out getting a drink of water."

THE TRIBUNE also was blamed for having spread the report that the Billy Sunday meetings were a failure.

"I tell you," said Dr. Brushingham, "the Billy Sunday meetings were not a failure."

"Yes, they were," shouted half a dozen ministers in chorus.

Concerning the Boxing Bill.

Pastor Fleming, who had passed out the original compliments on the Methodist centenary, called the position of THE TRIBUNE on the boxing bill "rotten."

"I have been keeping clippings for some time," he said, "and especially of the editorial utterances of THE TRIBUNE. Its position has been getting worse and worse."

Dr. Thompson's resolution instructing the committee on publicity to take time enough to prepare a report on the ethical attitude of the newspapers was unanimously carried.

"It will have some hot stuff in it," said Pastor Fleming, who is one of the committee. Other members are the Rev. T. S. Bradner Smith and the Rev. Roderick Murray. Bishop Thomas Nicholson and Dr. Thompson were added to the committee with the request that they call on the editors and secure, if possible, their coöperation in matters of church publicity.

Minister-Authors Denounced.

At the Baptist Ministers' union the Rev. M. P. Boynton, pastor of the Woodlawn church, denounced ministers who write in the magazines articles against the church. He also criticized the Young Men's Christian association, saying it had lost its soul because it had sold cigarets.

Dr. Boynton specified by name the Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick, a Baptist minister, a professor in the Union Theological seminary, and recently engaged as preacher in the newly reorganized First Presbyterian church of New York, and the Rev. J. E. McAfee, a former Presbyterian minister, now secretary of the board of home missions of the Congregational church. These ministers, he said.

SLICKERS KILL ENGINE OF JAKE'S TAXI AMBITIONS

Barber Scraped Clean of $1,000 He Touched Uncle Max For.

Once upon a Time there lived in Chicago an honest Young Barber who yearned to rise above his Trade. But three Wise Con Men heard about him and this is the Story of the Stinging.

For five years, long and dismal years, Jacob Taxen has been lathering bristly faces and scraping them clean and smooth in the barber shop of Kapalowich Bros., 1250 North Robey street. And Joseph learned to abhor whiskers and barbering.

Looking about for a cleverer scheme for getting rich quick Jacob, late of Russia, decided that the auto business was nice for a gentleman. So he set out to win a degree at the Greer College of Motoring, 1519 South Wabash avenue. When he should finally be graduated he figured on a sign something like this:

"Taxen Taxis."

Pretty nifty, he would say to himself occasionally, and he studied hard for his degree, scraping together his money by scraping chins.

The Approach of the Wise Men.

So yesterday one of the wise men who had Jake marked, nailed him on his way downtown, at Kedzie avenue and Twelfth street, and asked the way to some places nearby.

"I'm in a pickle," said the stranger.

"Why so?" asked Jake.

"My father is making $50,000 in his garage business," said the con man, who gave his name as Fritz, "and he is getting old and I have got to have a partner."

Just then the second con man came up. He said to con man No. 1: "Why, hello, Fritz, how goes it?"

"Fine!" said Fritz.

"How's business?"

"Meet my friend, Mr. Obey Gracken, Mr. ——."

"Taxen, Jacob Taxen," said the barber.

"Come with me," said the newest arrival. "I've got a pal down town and he knows three swell girls."

The Girls Cinched It.

It looked like a good day to Jake—$50,000 garage business looming up, girls, guaranteed pretty—yes, he'd stick with the crowd.

In a room at the City Hall Square hotel "Joe Suits" was introduced. He phoned the girls and as they waited all talked garage business. Pretty soon some one said something about relations, uncles, etc., kicking in for a fellow to start him off in life. Jacob remembered he had an uncle.

Max Oxman, for instance, up in Milwaukee, had been getting pretty rich selling meat to people. Why not talk to Max by long distance. Such things are done. Jake said something like this:

"O, Uncle Max. I got a fine chance to go into business with a friend. The business is making $50,000 a year. He wants a partner bad. I can be a business partner for $1,000. Can you loan me the money."

"Why, sure, Jakey, boy. Sure I can," said Uncle Max.

Obey Gracken Fades.

Jake and Mr. Fritz caught the first train up. Pretty quick they caught another train back. Jake had a check for $1,000 on the Kedzie State Bank of Chicago. Jake and Mr. Fritz beat it to the bank and got the money just before the bank closed.

Back at the hotel were "Mr. Joe Suits" and "Mr. Obey Gracken." Legal papers were spread all around. They phoned to the girls again. They'd be down shortly. A flask was produced and everyone had a drink. Pretty soon everyone wanted another drink. Flipping Jake 50 cents and keeping his $1,000, Mr. Fritz delegated Jake to go and buy. With Jake went Obey Gracken. Down in the bar Obey vanished. Jake thought that odd, but went back to the room to find Joe Suits and friend Fritz.

From 3 o'clock until 7:30 Jake sat in the room with his bottle and waited, and waited, and waited. The three wise men did not return, neither did the $1,000 nor did the three girls keep their appointment.

"You're Stung!"

At 7:30 last night, a young man, a barber to be exact, who for five years has lathered and shaved strange faces in Kapalowich Bros. barber shop, ran breathless to the detective bureau and unfolded the story of his day's adventures.

"Where is this garage you bought?" they asked.

"I don't know," he said.

"You're stung!" they said.

So Jacob Taxen, barber and student at the Greer College of Motoring, is figuring out how long it will take him to save up enough tips to pay Uncle Max his $1,000.

YOUNG EDISON, 72, SHOWS PROWESS

New York, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—On the eve of his seventy-second birthday, Thomas A. Edison was the guest at a luncheon given in Newark today by the men with whom he was associated in inventing and experimenting thirty-five years ago. After renewing old acquaintances he left with Mrs. Edison and their son, Theodore, for a six weeks' vacation on his plantation at Fort Myer, Fla., his first vacation since America entered the war.

"SILENT NELLIE"

Miss Nellie Burke

MOTHER PLEADS FOR GIRL WHO KILLED HER SON

Says Skinner, Dying, Asked Her to Aid Nellie Burke.

"Silent Nellie Burke's" real name became public yesterday when she was placed on trial for the murder of Theopulos C. Skinner, alias Frank Skinner. The young woman is Miss Nellie McFarland, 23 years old, a graduate of McKinley High school, a musician and a stenographer.

When arrested she gave her name as Nellie Burke and from that day, Oct. 5, has steadfastly refused to speak until yesterday. The fact that the state does not expect to convict the woman was shown in the manner in which the jury was selected.

The jurymen were all chosen in twenty-two minutes, less than two minutes to a man. The state asked them their names and addresses and usually little more. The defense is expected to be that Skinner was a dangerous "caveman," and that the young woman shot him with his own gun battling for her life.

Man's Mother Defends Girl.

A most remarkable spectacle at the trial was the appearance of Skinner's mother, Mrs. Nellie Skinner, 65 years old, 105 South Francisco avenue, a witness for the state, pleading for the girl.

She testified that just before her son died he said to her, "Mother, I want you and Nellie to be friends, and I want you to take care of her."

"You and Nellie are still friendly?" asked Attorney W. W. O'Brien for the defense.

"Yes, sir, we are."

"Do you want to see this young woman punished?"

"No."

Statement by Defendant.

In the first statement that "Silent Nellie" has made since her arrest she said:

"Frank was under the influence of drink and quarrelsome. I tried to pacify him and took him to a friend's home at 9 North Oakley avenue and made some soup for him and in other ways tried to sober him up. Finally he said to me, 'You will get the same as my first wife got.'

"He pressed his revolver against my body. I ran into another room. He followed and kept pointing the gun at me. When he got close to me I grabbed the gun from him and he was shot with his own weapon. I thought he was only shot in the ribs and called a taxi and took him to the county hospital and stayed with him until he died."

Quarrel Over Dead Wife.

Skinner was tried for the murder of his first wife by throwing her downstairs. He and Miss McFarland had been engaged for several months. Shortly before Skinner was killed Miss McFarland learned of the death of Skinner's wife and his trial for murder.

She asked him about it and a series of violent quarrels followed, with death as a climax. The state asked for a continuance on the ground that Fred Bertsche, a brother of "Barney" Bertsche, who could not be found, would testify that the young woman had admitted shooting Skinner.

"We will admit that he would testify to that," said the young woman's attorney. "We want this case tried."

Clerk Arrested on Charge of $200 Diamond Theft

Samuel Schaffer, employed at the Hotel Morrison drug store, was arrested yesterday on a warrant charging larceny of a diamond stud valued at $200. Max Kulwinsky, 1859 West Grand avenue, the complainant, declared the larceny was committed Sunday night when he showed the stud to several persons in the drug store. He said it was passed from one to another and disappeared.

AN OPEN LETTER ABOUT THAT PARK COUPE MYSTERY

From: A "Tribune" reporter.
George H. Hadley, Oliver Typewriter company.
His stenographer.
The Lincoln park police.
All others concerned or interested.
Subject: The Nash coupe that hit the Lincoln park lamppost Saturday at midnight.

1. Whoever owns that car, wearing Illinois license 43169, '19, will have to cough up $100 to pay for the lamppost. Capt. Shaw of the park coppers told me so. The car is in Hoskin's garage on Illinois street, but you can't get it till you've seen the captain. The garage boys say you might be able to get it fixed up for about $400.

2. Now, Miss Piatt, maybe you weren't in that car when it hit the post, but the license was issued in your name when you lived at 243 Marquette road with Mrs. W. J. Eddington. Mrs. Eddington told me it was none of my business what your first name is. So I'll call you "Eleanor Josephine," although maybe it's "Emily Jane." And Mrs. E. says you never owned a car.

The Hypnotic Mr. Hadley.

3. Sorry, I couldn't find you, Mr. Hadley, but you weren't at home in Congress park and they said you have moved from the Grasmere hotel up on Sheridan road. A garage man heard you telling a policeman your name Saturday night, and the folks across the street on Lake View avenue heard you tell 'em all you know the mayor, the chief of police, et al. Guess you must, all right, or you hypnotized the coppers, because your name doesn't show in their reports. But Edward H. Smith, secretary of the Oliver Typewriter company, didn't know you owned a car. Neither did Helen Blaine, your stenographer.

4. And Helen, when I called you up last night and asked you if you were going to work today you said, "Do you think I had better?" and "Do you want me to?" That was before I had time to tell you I was a TRIBUNE reporter. What did you mean, Helen? Your mother said you were home Saturday night taking care of her at 969 East Sixty-second street. And you dared me to come out to see if you were cut on the nose like the girl in the accident was. Wish the boss had given me time, Helen.

O, About That Car.

5. Now, Miss Piatt, Mr. Hadley, or whoever does own the remains of that car, you can get it if you'll prove ownership and settle with the park commissioners for that post. If you don't want the old bus, I might take it for garage charges. I picked up a flower holder up in the park and all I need is some wheels and a body.

6. If I were you, Mr. Hadley, I'd get acquainted out in Congress Park. Couldn't find anybody last night that knew you out there and here you know Mr. Thompson, Mr. Garrity, and everybody in the city. I found out, too, that you were divorced some time ago and that Emily Jane Hadley was your wife and that she got her decree by default. Charlie Erbstein was her attorney, but Charlie wasn't home last night.

HELP!

P. S.—If any of you know who the girl was in the coupe, call me up quick. The boss is getting pretty sore.

Yours truly,
CHESTER FOUST.

SPOUSE CARRIED PHOTO OF OTHER WOMAN, SHE SAYS

John A. Karlson, superintendent of the Robbins Conveyor Belt company, was sued for divorce yesterday by Mrs. William Karlson, 7716 Exchange avenue. The bill charges cruelty and alleges Karlson constantly flaunted before his wife his associations with other women. He had a photograph of another woman in his pocketbook, it is charged.

Mary Alice Mellet charges cruelty against James P. Mellet, owner of an express company at 1652 West Madison street. The bill recites that although the husband had an income of $450 a month, he never supported his wife.

Elizabeth W. Goodman, 1234 Independence boulevard, went before Judge David M. Brothers and announced her husband, Jacob, had a habit of breaking up all of the family dishes. She won a divorce.

Frankie F. Ford, 4644 Sheridan road, said Percy James Ford, who sells motor cars and reaps therefrom $750 a month, was a terribly cruel husband. Judge Brothers granted a decree.

Capt. Bassett Takes Over the Great Lakes Station

Great Lakes, Ill., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Capt. Archibald H. Scales, U. S. navy, turned over the command of the Great Lakes Naval Training station this afternoon to Capt. Frederick Brewster Bassett, who was formerly in command of the U. S. S. Utah.

AIN'T IT A GRAND AND GLORIOUS FEELIN'?

"TRIBUNE" STARTS CITY-WIDE STRAW VOTE ON MAYOR

Olson and Sweitzer Lead in First Poll Taken.

Beginning this morning, THE TRIBUNE will announce daily the results of a city-wide straw vote on the primary mayoralty contests—Republican and Democratic—aiming at getting a real forecast of what will happen at this coming post-war primary. Voters in various regions in the city will be canvassed.

A beginning was made yesterday in the Transportation building, in which are located railroad and various other commercial offices. Sixty-five straw ballots were voted. The collection of these represented the work of a single reporter working with blank slips of paper during several hours of the afternoon.

Result of Vote.

In each case the voter was asked to write on the blank slip his politics and his choice for mayor. Here is the result of the sixty-five slips filled out:

For Olson—33 Republicans; 1 Democrat..34
For Thompson—8 Republicans ........ 8
For Merriam—8 Republicans; 2 Independents ....................10

Sweitzer, Democrat, was given nine votes, eight of them being straight Democratic votes, the ninth man saying he voted for Sweitzer, although a Republican, because he believed he must vote so to defeat Mayor Thompson. Two votes went to Thomas Carey, Democrat; one man stated he would vote for Carter H. Harrison "if his name is placed on the ballot," and one stated he would vote the straight Labor ticket.

Plans More Extensive Poll.

BOARD OF REVIEW DENIES OLD JOB TO WOUNDED MAN

The board of county commissioners today will carry a protest to the board of review against the latter body's action in refusing to reinstate George Meehan, a clerk, who was wounded in action. Commissioner Robert J. McKinley yesterday presented a letter in which Meehan told of his case.

"I enlisted in December, 1917, and saw service in the One Hundred and Eighth machine gun battalion, Twenty-eighth division, on the Marne. Aug. 12 I was wounded. I was given an honorable discharge Dec. 13. When I enlisted I was a clerk in the board of review. When I got back I tried to get my old position back, but was unable to do so."

It was decided that Scott Matthews of the recorder's office be sent to Springfield to assist in getting the inheritance tax bill approved. This bill, it is estimated, will bring an increase of $1,500,000 to the annual revenue of Cook county.

Must Support Wife Even Though Army Barred Him

Hugh King, 22 years old, 3553 Rita avenue, was in the Court of Domestic Relations yesterday on a charge of failing to support his wife, Florence King, 2431 Kedzie avenue. He claimed he was unable to perform hard manual labor and cited his discharge from the army for physical disability. "That does not exempt a man from supporting his wife," Judge Gemmill said. "You must pay her $50 before you leave this court and $10 a week."

BEG YOUR PARDON!

THE TRIBUNE of Feb. 1, under On the Broad Street Curb, gave these quotations of the preceding day on Hupp Motor stock: Sales, 500 shares; high, 3⅜; low, 2¼; closing, 2⅞.

Correct figures for that date, Jan. 31, were: High, 6¼; low, 5⅞; closing, 6⅛. The error was in typography.

The issues of Jan. 27 and Feb. 6 named Samuel F. Shaffer as a candidate for alderman in the Thirteenth ward. Samuel O. Shaffer was meant.

In the issue of Feb. 1, in an article by Oscar E. Hewitt on the costs of postbellum reconstruction, a table of figures indicated that appropriations for such work made by France were in the sum of $680,000 and by Italy in the sum of $670,000. The sums should have read, respectively, $680,000,000 and $670,000,000.

Martin Behrman, in a telegram to THE TRIBUNE yesterday, took issue with this newspaper's version of the swindling of James A. Low by New Orleans confidence men as told by Mr. Low and printed in THE TRIBUNE on Feb. 6. Mr. Low stated that he visited a swindling poolroom next door to "Mayor Burnham's residence." The telegram from Mr. Behrman is as follows:

"TRIBUNE of Feb. 6, page 4, quotes James A. Low in connection with race-horse swindle as follows: 'It was across the bay in Algiers, in a place over a saloon right next door to Mayor Behrman's residence.' This story is without foundation; no saloon or poolroom anywhere about my residence.

E. R. LITSINGER WARNS OF BOGUS FUND COLLECTOR

Scores of Chicago taxpayers, largely business men, are believed to have been the victims of a bogus collector, posing as the representative of the Cook County Employees' Benevolent and Protective association, who sought contributions for the organization's fund.

Over the telephone, one man would tell a prospective contributor that if he gave money into the fund, the board of review would slash the tax and if no contribution was made, the tax this year would be increased. The man on the telephone represented himself as representing Edward R. Litsinger, member of the board of review.

When the latter learned of the alleged fraud yesterday he asked that a warning be issued to taxpayers to beware of the "collector," a man about 30 years old, 6 feet tall, of slim build, and wearing a dark gray overcoat and soft black hat.

The Chicago Advertising Score

In the week ending Feb. 9th, 1919, Chicago newspapers published the following number of columns of advertising: (The measurement is on the uniform basis of 300 agate lines per column. Figures from the Washington Press, an independent audit bureau.)

| Morning and Sunday Papers | |
| The Tribune | 1,123.26 cols. |
| Herald and Examiner | 495.49 cols. |
| Total 2 morning and Sunday papers | 1,618.75 cols. |
| Evening Papers | |
| The Daily News | 853.56 cols. |
| The American | 337.01 cols. |
| The Post | 281.61 cols. |
| The Journal | 266.79 cols. |
| Total 4 evening papers | 1,738.97 cols. |

Advertisements printed in other papers not accepted by The Tribune ........97.27 columns

The Tribune led for the week, printing 31% more advertising than the first evening paper, and more than the second, third and fourth evening papers combined.

200,000 HERE TO PAY INCOME TAX OF $300,000,000

Smietanka Trains 150 Experts; District to Pay $400,000,000.

BY THE INCOME TAX EDITOR.

Three hundred million dollars apportioned among approximately 200,000 taxpayers—individuals and corporations—is the sum that Chicago will pay under the provisions of the income and corporation tax sections of the war revenue bill which the house has passed and which the senate is expected to pass immediately for the president's signature.

In anticipation that President Wilson will sign the bill by Feb. 20, the machinery of Collector Julius F. Smietanka's Chicago office of the internal revenue department is being thoroughly oiled so that when the ink of "Woodrow Wilson" is hardly dry, the drive to get the income tax returns from the nineteen counties of the First district of Illinois completed in twenty-five days can get an immediate start.

Begin Training Men.

Collector Smietanka—through whose courtesy experts will be provided in conjunction with a clerical force for THE TRIBUNE income tax bureau starting just after the president signs the bill—said yesterday that he is so sure the bill will become a law in its present form that a school for 150 experts in his department has been opened so that they will be ready to handle their big task.

Mr. Smietanka said the returns this year from Chicago and the First district will be approximately 50 per cent higher than last year. This he attributed to two things: First, individuals have been paid higher incomes, and, second, the tax is considerably higher than last year.

A total of $400,000,000, he said, from about 250,000 individual and corporation taxpayers will be the First district's quota toward the $6,000,000,000 which the treasury department plans to raise under the bill.

Year of Big Incomes.

"This has been a banner year for the salaried worker and for many corporations," said Mr. Smietanka, "and the small taxpayer will stand a big portion of the tax because the rate is higher this year than last.

Instead of a 2 per cent tax those having incomes of $5,000 or less will pay at the rate of 6 per cent. But exemptions of $1,000 in the case of single men and $2,000 for married men are allowed, with additional allowances for children.

Case in Illustration.

The following illustration, the case of a married man with one child was cited by Mr. Smietanka to show the sliding scale of tax that the citizen will pay when earning a salary of $10,000 a year:

|---|---|
| Exemption: | |
| $2,000 as a married man. | |
| 200 for child. | |
| $2,200 total exemption. | |
| Rate of Taxation: | |
| $4,000 at 6 per cent | $240 |
| 3,800 at 12 per cent | 456 |
| Surtax on Income in Excess of $5,000: | |
| 1 per cent on $1,000 | $ 10 |
| 2 per cent on $2,000 | 40 |
| 3 per cent on $2,000 | 60 |
| Total on $10,000 salary | $806 |

Persons paying an income tax of $200 or less will be allowed a 1 per cent reduction if they pay all when they file their returns. This will not be allowed, however, if the tax is paid in quarterly installments, as allowed by the bill.

The corporation tax, which comes under two heads—excess profits and war profits tax—was graduated from 20 to 60 per cent of the net profits in 1918. This year it is on a higher rate, also, being from 30 to 65 per cent.

Blank Forms Due Soon.

Blank forms for making both individual and corporation income tax returns are expected in a few days. These, the collector said, will be mailed out to taxpayers all over the district, a departure from last year's proceedings. If, however, a taxpayer does not receive a blank that will not be accepted as excuse for failure to make returns by March 15, the maximum limit.

Blanks will be placed in the hands of 150 deputies in banks throughout the city and district, or they may be had at the internal revenue office in the federal building.

TRIBUNE PREPARES BUREAU TO ASSIST INCOME TAX PAYERS

QUESTIONS pertaining to the income tax provisions of the war revenue bill will be answered for the convenience of THE TRIBUNE readers if queries are addressed to the income tax editor.

THE TRIBUNE'S income tax bureau will be established on the main floor of The Tribune building the day after the bill becomes a law. This bureau will give personal attention to all income tax questions and may be conveniently reached through either the Madison or Dearborn street entrance.

Articles of a popular vein dealing with complex phases of the new income tax schedules will also appear in this newspaper.

MUSICIANS OUT FOR DISLOYALTY MAY BE RESTORED

Steps will be taken today to bring about the reinstatement of three Chicago musicians, dropped from the Chicago Federation of Musicians and from the Chicago Symphony orchestra last fall for alleged disloyal utterances. They are William Kriegelstein, Otto Hesselbach, and Richard Kuss.

The two former are naturalized citizens. When the federation expelled them on Oct. 10 they were automatically ousted from the Symphony orchestra, as the orchestra employs only union musicians. It is now proposed to them that they can be reinstated under certain terms.

The plan is that they must agree to bring no suits or litigation against the union, and that each must pay a reinstatement fee of $500. The action is subject to the approval of the executive board and the entire membership of the Chicago Federation of Musicians, and the executive board of the National Board of Federated Musicians.

A meeting to discuss the matter will be held at 1 o'clock today at union headquarters. All members of the federation are asked to be present. It is said to be the general belief of members that they should be reinstated, but there is some opposition to demanding the $500 reinstatement fee, which is looked upon as a punitive measure.

Chicago Police Yield Prisoners to Abilene, Tex.

A two year search for Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Moore is over so far as the Chicago police are concerned. Mrs. Moore was wanted for having passed worthless checks and her husband was sought for the embezzlement of between $300 and $400 from the Ryan Granite Quarries corporation.

A telegram was received last night at the detective bureau from Sheriff E. B. Kisser of Pecos, Tex., who said he had the two in custody. They also were wanted in Abilene, Tex., for passing worthless checks. The Chicago police telegraphed back that it would be better to let Abilene have the prisoners.

BUSINESS MEN CITED IN CASE OF MISSING NURSE

New Angles Develop in Effort to Solve Mystery.

Several new and puzzling angles developed yesterday in the mystery of the vanishing of Mrs. Dollie Chesher, nurse in the home of Clarence F. Parker, 999 Lake Shore drive. New persons injected into the hunt for the young woman gone since last Thursday are:

"Mr. Rockwell," supposed to be wealthy, who called upon Mrs. Chesher at intervals and took her to theaters and dinners.

A business man, whose name the police decline to reveal, who is reported as saying he knew "why Dollie Chesher jumped into the lake." Police say they will question him early today.

New Nurse in Parker Home.

Miss Inez Dunning, 4065 Ellis avenue, an old friend of Dollie, took up her place as nurse in the Parker home. Miss Dunning was graduated in the same class as Mrs. Chesher in a Bloomington hospital and after both girls came to Chicago they continued their friendship.

The name of "Mr. Rockwell" came into the affair when women friends of the missing young woman were questioned by Sergt. Quinn. They said that Mr. Rockwell called on Dollie every couple of months or so.

Mr. Parker, in his home on Lake Shore drive, asked about "Mr. Rockwell" last night, said:

"I don't know his first name, but he is head of the Rockwell Silver company of Meriden, Conn. He comes west on business on an average of once every six weeks. I have met him, and he has been in my home here. It is this way—Mrs. Chesher nursed him once.

Grateful for Services.

"He believes she saved his life and has never forgotten it. He makes it a point to be kind to her whenever he comes to Chicago. I do not know, but my impression is that he is single.

"My interest in finding her if she is alive, or her body if she has been killed, is founded in a way on the same reason. I, also, feel that she saved my life when I was very ill and I cannot forget."

Mr. Parker, still anxiously on the trail of the mystery, went to the south side to question Mrs. Gertrude Parsons, 4801 Indiana avenue, and Mrs. Heise, living nearby, at whose home Dollie kept a room the entire two years she was with the Parkers.

"I have come to the conclusion she is dead," said Mr. Parker.

Chauffeur Reënters Case.

The departed chauffeur, Roy Woodward, again revived interest because of the talk of the fashionable apartment building inhabitants. Some one suddenly remembered that the handsome young chauffeur and Dollie had been friends; that they sometimes had little visits together, etc. Then it was figured out that he left the city Wednesday and she went Thursday. Why not together?

The former employers of the chauffeur were under the impression that he intended to go to Seattle. The police showed interest in the clew and wired the Seattle police to watch for his arrival. They think that there is a chance that the chauffeur, in his uniform, may have been mistaken for the "mysterious army officer."

Search Buildings.

Detective Sergeant William Blaul, with a squad of men, made careful examination of every building for blocks around. They had hunted through them before. This time they searched more minutely. They even poked spots that looked as if the ground might be disturbed and prodded ash heaps and piles of earth.

They went through buildings in course of construction and once more examined every square rod of the weeds of Streeterville. In a few places they found where the ground had been raked over. Here they stopped to see if any grave had been dug.

Once they found a pick and a spade in the weeds. That started them upon a feverish hunt of every likely spot for burial of a body nearby. As ever the search was fruitless.

ARREST BARES A NEW ANGLE IN LOVE TRIANGLES

A new angle in "triangles" was unearthed yesterday by Detective Sergeants Tallon and Casey of the Grand Crossing police with the arrest of William Rausch, 5216 Ellis avenue, who is employed by the Sinclair Oil and Refining corporation. He was arrested on a warrant sworn out by Roy C. Klickner, 6350 Maryland avenue, who charged that Rausch took two diamond rings valued at $500 from his wife, Blanche. Rausch, when arrested, defended his actions by saying that the rings were taken to insure the payment of $500 to his wife by Mrs. Klickner for the alienation of his affections.

"I was living with my wife about six months ago," he told the police, "when Blanche—Mrs. Klickner—threatened to shoot me if I refused to love her," he told the police. "I asked her where my wife got off. Then she moved into our home. One day my wife asked her about the money she was to receive—then she moved out, but before she went I took the rings."

While being searched before being placed in a cell a powder puff was found in his pocket. He refused to give it up and taking it from the hands of the lockup keeper, powdered his nose. He will be arraigned in the Hyde Park court today before Judge Swanson.

GOBS WILL GIVE EXHIBITION FOR CITY ALDERMEN

JESS-JACK BOUT FOR NEW YORK

Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey will fight their battle for the heavyweight championship of the world at the Brighton Beach Motordrome, near New York, the afternoon of July 4. The battle will be twenty rounds to a referee's decision.

That these are the plans of Promoter Tex Rickard was made known last night. The authority is a man nationally known, a close friend of Rickard. Assurances of favorable legislation prompted the decision.

BY JOHN L. SPELLMAN.

Can you imagine a boxing exhibition right in the city hall, with the mayor, aldermen, chief of police and prosecutors present? Well, we are going to have just that, but the "fight fans" won't be invited. You will have to have a ticket to get in, but they won't be for sale, and they will be scarce.

Ald. Joseph O. Kostner, chairman of a subcommittee of the city council committee on judiciary, made arrangements for the exhibition yesterday, following the judiciary committee's approval of the draft of a bill legalizing boxing. A committee of 100 citizens was named by the committee to go to Springfield and work for the passage of the bill by the legislature.

Bout in Council Chamber.

The bill was reported to the city council in the afternoon and the council will be asked to approve it in a week or so.

Ald. Kostner obtained the council's permission to use the council chamber for holding the boxing exhibition which will be some day this week. He intends to present boxers from Great Lakes Naval Training station in five bouts directed by Lieut. Jack Kennedy.

The council bill provides for ten round no decision bouts. The city government is to have jurisdiction over these, but a concession may be made on this point so as to allow a state commission to run things.

As the bill now stands the mayor is to appoint a boxing commission of three members, each to be paid a salary.

HERMAN DEFEATS PATSY SCANLON

The champion was entirely too clever for the local boy and stuck his left repeatedly to his opponent's face, bringing the claret. Scanlon seemed to get his courage in the sixth, seventh, and eighth rounds, making the sixth an even break and taking the next two.

Herman let loose in the ninth and tenth, using a hard left to the face and a short right jolt to Scanlon's ribs and stomach that had the local lad weary when the bell rang.

Wambsganss of Indians Referees Ring Battle

"Tribune" Decisions

At Peoria—Pal Moore beat Earl Puryear [10]; Frankie Mason and Stanley Everett fought draw [10].
At Buffalo—Tom Gibbons beat Larry Williams [10].
At New Orleans—Knockout Marx beat Matt Brock [15].

BY RAY PEARSON.

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Introduced to give an exhibition of boxing, Pal Moore, famed conquerer of Jimmy Wilde of England, and Earl Puryear of Denver more than made good for the announcer in the windup of the show staged by the Peoria baseball fans' association tonight.

These sprightly bantams turned loose almost everything expected in a ring and a lot of things not to be expected. Pal played hop-scotch some of the time, sliced a lot of his drives at other times, gave an exhibition of something which resembled wood chopping at others, and turned a few buck and wing steps, but managed to keep his mind on the business at hand long enough to score a shade on points at the end of ten rounds.

Fighters Split Good Purse.

It was a show that pleased everybody and it looked as if about everybody who cares about scrapping was at the ringside in the Fairyland rink. They charge the people here $1, $2, and $3 per peek, and the gate amounted to something like $4,000. As neither Moore nor Puryear suffered any material damage in the night's work, it was a rather pleasant evening for them, for between them they pulled down 50 per cent of the coin. Moore got 30 per cent and Puryear 20.

In figuring Moore as a shade the winner, considerable allowance had to be made for his everlasting aggressiveness.

Many Wild Swings.

Direction was one thing that was a difficult problem, for both boys aimed wallops that did nothing but cleave thin air. Such swings helped to fill out a part of the entertainment, however, and pleased the fans.

The semi-windup was a ten rounder between Frankie Mason of Fort Wayne, Ind., and Stanley Everett of Pekin, also bantamweights. Mason knew a bit too much for the Pekinese and handed him an artistic trimming after taking Everett's measure for a couple of rounds.

DE ORO REDUCES HIS CUE DEFICIT

Outplayed in the afternoon block, 50 to 39, Alfredo De Oro outscored Charley Morin, 67 to 50, in the night session of their 400 point match at Mussey's room and reduced his deficit of 32 points to 15. Morin now is leading, 300 to 285.

The local Adonis took the matinee session in fifty-four innings, each player having a high run of 4. De Oro scored two 4s early in the night game, but Morin soon caught him, and they went along on even terms until nearing the fortieth inning, when the Cuban began to draw away. Morin had 6 and De Oro 5 for high.

DE ORO—10 19 28 40 53 62 67—Innings, 67.
MORIN—9 22 27 32 44 45 50—Innings, 67.

Maupome Victor in Cue Match with Mannassau

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 10.—Pierre Maupome [60] defeated Al Mannassau [44] of Chicago in the three cushion series, 60 to 29. The match went 67 innings. Maupome scored several runs of four with seven as high.

ROFERS WINNER IN CUE MATCH.

Rofers [45] defeated Burton of Leflingwell's [42], 45 to 41, in their Chicago league match at Benzinger's Wabash rooms, going out in 94 innings. Conklin and Capron will play tonight at Mussey's Madison street room at 7 o'clock.

ANDY GUMP IN THE LEAD.

"Andy" first, "Uncle Bim" second, is the standing of the "Gumps" in the Central Y. M. C. A. league after the first week of games. Standing.

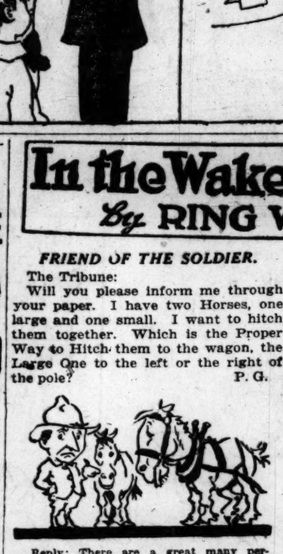
Will you please inform me through your paper. I have two Horses, one large and one small. I want to hitch them together. Which is the Proper Way to Hitch them to the wagon, the Large One to the left or the right of the pole? P. G.



Reply: There are a great many persons in your same pickle, P. G. The proper way of handling the problem is to place the small Horse inside the large Horse and say giddap.

AN APOLOGY.

Chi, Feb. 10.

Friend Harvey:

I haven't seen you since last wk. but some of the boys have been telling me that even if we did meet you wouldn't speak and I asked them why and they said on acct. of that picture of you that appeared in print Saturday A. M. and you think I am the party that got that picture in print.

Well, Harvey, it looks like I ought to come clean and make my apologies and I want to assure you that it wasn't my fault that that picture come out in print and I will tell you how it come off. Well, it seems like some lady sent that picture in to me and also the news about you playing progressive verbarium and winning a prize for writing poetry or something and the minute the picture come in I said to myself here is something he would not want printed so I took it down to the engraving room and I said do you think this picture would reproduce and the man said he thought it might but it wouldn't reproduce very good but still and all it might reproduce. So of course I thought it would not reproduce, so I gave it to this bird and I said the original of this picture would not want to see it appear in the paper, so please try not to reproduce it.

Well, this bird tried as hard as he could to not make it reproduce, but try as he would it come out pretty good in the paper and I want to ask you if that is my fault after all the trouble I took trying to not get it reproduced.

And as for the reading matter that went with it, why I wrote that as a joke never thinking it would come out in the paper and I handed it in and told them to not run it unless your picture was run with it and I never thought your picture would run, but sure enough the picture and the reading matter both reproduced and I am awfully sorry and I hope we will be pals the same as ever and we will be if you will look at it in the right way, which was not my fault.

Respy,
R. W. L.

DEMPSEY SIGNS FOR TITLE BOUT WITH WILLARD

New York, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—In a seldom used, inconspicuous corner of the Weehawken terminal of the New York Central railroad Jack Dempsey, Salt Lake City heavyweight, today signed articles to box Jess Willard title holder, in a heavyweight championship bout to be promoted in July by Tex Rickard.

The bout will be any distance up to forty rounds. Willard will receive $100,000 and one-third of the moving picture rights. Dempsey is guaranteed $27,500 with one-third of the moving picture privileges.

The contract signed by Dempsey is similar to the one which Willard signed Jan. 24 at Chicago. An additional provision sets forth that if the match is promoted outside of North America Promoter Rickard agrees to defray the traveling expenses of the participants.

Offer From Camp Grant.

Promoter Rickard has under consideration an offer from Fred Dyer, Australian welterweight boxer, and James Dougharty, Pennsylvania promoter. Dyer, who is boxing instructor at Camp Grant, Rockford, Ill., made a proposal to have the bout held in a huge stadium at the Illinois camp. This stadium can seat 40,000 spectators. According to Dyer, officials of the camp are favorable to conducting the proposed bout there.

Rickard today delegated Dyer to confer with army and navy officials at Washington on the proposal to have an army-navy championship heavyweight bout precede the Willard-Dempsey contest.

Dempsey on Theatrical Tour.

Dempsey left tonight to begin a six weeks' theatrical tour at Unionport, Pa. Before he left he said to Rickard: "There is nobody other than Jack Kearns who has any claim on my services. Kearns is my manager and any arrangements he makes for me will be satisfactory to me and I will fulfill them. I will live up to the contract I signed with you today and will start training the moment I get through with my tour, six weeks hence."

TIE FOR MEDAL AT PALM BEACH

Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The qualifying round of the annual South Florida championship resulted in a tie for the medal. J. N. Van Buren, Sherwood, and W. J. Baxter, Oakland Country club, both turned in cards of 75 and will play off later in the week.

M. A. Carroll, former Chicago champion, did not enter nor did Walter Fairbanks, Denver.

The field numbered 135, one of the largest that ever started here. Five flights qualified. The 82s drew for the first flight. It took 86 to get into the second, 90 for the third. Scores:

HAP FELSCH APPEARS TO SIGN CONTRACT; SCHALK ALSO IN LINE

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

If Owner Comiskey of the White Sox has two or three more days as successful as yesterday he'll have his entire ball club ready for the spring training trip. Three regulars signed their contracts, the morning mail bringing one from Nemo Liebold. Hap Felsch came in person to sign at noon. Ray Schalk ended the day by signing late in the afternoon after a conference at the Sox office.

With those three regulars besides Red Faber, Eddie Cicotte, Joe Benz, and a number of recruits in line for the coming season, it looks as if the south siders will be all set by March 21 when they plan to start for Texas to train.

No Word from Joe Jackson.

Of course it is assured that Eddie Collins will be back to serve the fifth and last year of his fat contract. The one big star still on the outside is Joe Jackson. With him in the fold the team would look as good as in 1917, when it won the big championship.

Schalk, easily the star catcher of the league, has been busy in an essential job here since last September and has been making good in business, but he didn't feel he could afford to quit the national game at the present time. He has had two or three conferences regarding pay for next season and yesterday went to the park for another talk. After a long session in the private room with the boss Ray emerged smiling and satisfied. He will continue in his present job until about time for the training trip.

Felsch's Visit a Surprise.

The surprise was the visit of Hap Felsch, who had been quoted as declaring he would not return to the Sox until paid some money he claimed was coming to him. All those stories came from his home town, Milwaukee. At the Sox office it was denied there was money coming to Felsch.

Whatever the row was about, it is all settled now, for Hap parted with Comiskey perfectly satisfied. He came down from Milwaukee on a morning train and went immediately to the ball park, where he was in session with the boss for a couple of hours.

Gleason Expected This Week.

"Kid" Gleason, new manager of the Sox, is expected the last of this week or the first of next, and it is thought Comiskey may dispatch him to South Carolina to find out just how Jackson feels about coming back to play.

NOTES OF THE SEMI-PROS.

A "protest commission," composed of newspaper men, to settle disputes between clubs will be named at the next open meeting of the Chicago league, directors of the circuit decided last night.

The Chicago Manufacturers' league will meet at 211 South State street tomorrow night to plan for the coming season. A ten club Saturday afternoon schedule governed the circuit last season.

The Amateur Baseball Trophy Winners' association will meet tonight at 211 South State street to complete plans for a dance at East End hall Feb. 22, at which pennants and cups won in the Boys' league, Liberty league, Junior league and Amateur Managers' league will be awarded. Umpires are invited.

PREP BASKETBALL

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

WITH twenty teams in action, the Chicago High School Basketball league inaugurated its championship race of 1919 in gymnasiums all over the city yesterday. Only lightweight and bantam games were played, the first heavyweight conflicts being scheduled for today. All four divisions, north, south, west, and central, launched their schedules in the minor weight classes.

Marshall took both ends of the double header at Austin in the western section, the lightweights winning, 18 to 9, and the bantams, 22 to 8.

Referee Osborne cautioned the Austin stands to silence while Samkowitz was trying a fill throw for Marshall in the light game, and when the disturbance continued awarded two more free throw chances to penalize Austin, Samkowitz scoring all three. Lineups:

DOUBLES LEAD AT AURORA CHANGES

Aurora, Ill., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Chicago bowlers upset the leaders in the Interstate bowling tournament here again today. They took the lead in the two men event. A. Sindaler and H. L. Empuhl, with 1,198, replaced Johnson and Oberg of Rockford, who took the lead yesterday with 1,180. Kelly and Toemmel of Chicago landed in second place with 1,194, and Murray and Svoma of Chicago tied for third with 1,180. The leaders in the other events, all Chicago men, remain the same.

WISCONSIN, 28; IOWA, 19.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 10.—Wisconsin defeated Iowa tonight, 28 to 19, in a western conference basketball game, the first victory for the Badgers this season. Knapp and Weston were the stars for Wisconsin, the former scoring 12 points.

BASKETBALL AT I. A. C. TONIGHT.

Illinois A. C. and Illinois Steel club will clash in the tricolor gym tonight. The curtain raiser, at 8 o'clock, will be between Lake View Reds and Senora A. C.

NO. PARKS BASKET TOURNEY.

After two extra time periods of five minutes, Welles Park kids managed to win their North Parks Basketball league game from Hamlin, 19 to 17, at Hamlin last night. The other two games at the same park went to the home fives, the heavyweights beating Welles, 16 to 9, and the 115s by 23 to 14. Hamlin Triangle Juniors, the crack 135 pound team of that park, has had nothing but forfeits in its schedule.

SKATERS CREDIT 'TRIB' FOR THEIR SUCCESS ON ICE

Many Boys of Playground Tourneys Raced Well in Milwaukee.

Skating at Humboldt, Garfield, Douglas, and Lincoln parks and on the Midway. No skating at Washington or Jackson parks.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Included in the delegation of Chicago skaters who surprised Milwaukee skating fans Sunday by winning four of six western title events were products of Chicago playgrounds, who first gained prominence in THE TRIBUNE'S playgrounds and public park tourneys, the finals of which this year will be held at Garfield Park Saturday.

Followers of skating in Milwaukee were eager to learn how the boys became so efficient and how the little fellows could hold their own for part of the distance in the longer events against older competition. The boys did not hesitate to tell them that THE TRIBUNE playground tourneys first interested them in skating and started them in the way to class A and championship events.

John Fetz an Example.

John Fetz, skating under the colors of the Lightning A. C., is a product of THE TRIBUNE'S first tourney. He won the half mile race for boys under 16 years Sunday and left the large field of Milwaukee boys so far behind that some judges thought Johnny was a "ringer." He produced his birth certificate.

Morris Baker of Norwegian-American A. A., who finished second to Fetz, skated for Corkery playground in THE TRIBUNE'S second playground tourney. Leon Emmert, who finished fourth, is one of the Swift playground matmen in the finals Saturday.

Boys Show Well at Humboldt.

Local enthusiasts also are beginning to respect these playground kids when they are entered in the various city derbies. In last Saturday's Northwest Sportsmen's club event at Humboldt park nine teams broke into the point column. Four were playgrounds. Polano finished second to the Prussia club, while Avondale and Corkery were tied for fourth place. Swift also scored.

Several stars developed by THE TRIBUNE tourneys are skating for class among the leading speeders of the west.

Clubs Take Some of Them.

The most prominent of these is Julian Steinmetz, the 17 year old boy of the Franklin Skating and A. C. Julian, who took this year's Tribune Junior Silver Skates Derby, first into prominence while skating for the Commercial club in the second tourney. His brother William, who was the western all around champion at Milwaukee Sunday, competed in the same grounds in the first and second tourneys.

Exhibit Is Discounted.

Sentiment in the east as reflected on appearance of the figures, appears to believe that in the public mind the unfavorable exhibit has been largely discounted in estimating the decline in the steel business which will take place during the period of readjustment.

This estimate may not work out accord...ng to the present view, but it still has the importance of representing general opinion at this time. The influence of the figures on the stock market was nil from the unfavorable point. On the contrary the price of Steel common stock advanced as soon as the showing was made public. The fact that it caused no immediate liquidation probably led to short covering with the result of a 1 point rise. However, the action of the market was not so important as what it suggested.

Copper Price Cut Again.

Meanwhile the large producers of cop... ...er made another cut in their quoted ...ales, bringing the figure down to 18 ...nts a pound. Small sellers quoted the ...rice of 17½ cents. No business of con...sequence was reported, however, even at ...hese prices, though an increase in vol...ume of inquiries was reported and cop...per authorities were willing to predict ...hat the market would shortly expand.

The events from day to day in trade ...nd banking activities indicate that the ...adjustment period is now in full swing. ...Thus far it has been free from sugges...tions of drastic unsettlement in busi...ness. The labor situation has been ...united forward to as a matter of course, ...as the factor of underlying potency for ...evil would be public distrust of condi...tions, and that does not exist nor do ...events thus far suggest that it will.

Money Steady Here.

Money in the Chicago federal reserve ...district opened the week steady with a ...fair demand for commercial paper and ...now running at 5 to 5¼ per cent. The ...dealings of treasury certificates which ...banks feel under obligation to absorb ...are not strengthened money to the point ...of advancing quotations.

With commercial paper bearing 5¼ per ...cent interest and the government tax of ...2 per cent on this interest income, it ...has been figured out that the banks are ...slightly better off in the matter of net ...returns by purchasing the 4½ per cent ...certificates, tax free, than by purchasing ...the taxed 5¼ per cent commercial paper. ...This has led to the suggestion in rome ...quarters that before the next Liberty ...loan is out of the way these certificates ...may go to a small premium. This would ...be a new experience with the banks.

Rules on Reserves.

CHICAGO STOCKS

Chicago stocks were quite irregular, but with a general tendency to decline. A feature was the weakness of Commonwealth Edison shares, which sold down to 111½, a loss of 1½ points. No special reason was assigned for the fall. Sears-Roebuck common was also weak, losing 3 points, though the operations in a stock selling at a level of 171 are relatively unimportant. There were no dealings in the issue on the New York exchange.

A few shares of Peoples Gas sold at 47. The impression is gaining that the company has seen the worst of its income days and may be expected to show larger net returns following unfavorable court decisions in matters involving the company.

Union Carbide showed some strength, advancing to 57¾. Stewart-Warner was fractionally lower. The packing house shares held about steady, though Swift & Co. declined fractionally.

AISHTON SHOWS BIG SAVING FOR WESTERN ROADS

Report Puts Economies Under U. S. Control at $34,233,282.

In his annual report covering a résume of the activities undertaken in the western and northwestern region in the operation of the railroads under the government for the year 1918, R. H. Aishton, regional director, places the economies or savings effected at $34,233,282.

Mr. Aishton divides his statement to cover the western region from Jan. 1 to June 30, 1918, and the northwestern region for the full year. The largest economy reported lies in the reduction of passenger train mileage, which for the entire western region amounted to over $22,000,000 and for the northwestern region alone $925,165. In the unification of terminals, especially in Chicago, Mr. Aishton found a great many industries were served by two or more railroads and in some cases as many as nineteen different roads served one plant or district "solely for competitive reasons and with very great waste."

Saves 652 Cars.

The operation of "pick-up" cars on certain days at division points resulted in a saving of 652 cars for the month of November on two railroads alone. The saving of cars in the entire region amounts at present to approximately 15,000 cars per month.

The reduction in passenger train mileage amounted to 23,280,400 miles per annum, the estimated saving of which was $1 per train mile. In the western region this was largely brought about by the elimination of duplicate service, and the lengthening of some of the through train schedules. The reduction in freight train mileage showed an economy of $2,70,552, made up entirely of duplicate service by two or more railroads in the same territory. The salary reductions resulting from transferring corporation pay rolls to the railroad administration totaled $781,439.

Economies as Figured.

COTTON TRADE NEWS

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Sharp rallies followed an early decline in the cotton market today and the close was steady at a net advance of 5@27 points. European buying at the opening was followed by a wave of local and southern selling. Reports of better labor conditions, larger domestic consumption, and further agitation toward restricting southern acreage then bolstered the market and advanced prices.

Low grade discounts are still increasing with good ordinary now quoted 12c per pound below middling in the Montgomery market. Some traders take this as indicating a desire to find buyers for such grades, but the widening of the differences makes it less profitable to deliver them on contracts here.

Exports today, 30,333 bales; so far this season, 2,591,223 bales. Port receipts, 16,737 bales; U. S. port stocks, 1,370,455 bales. Futures:

INDUSTRIAL EARNINGS

PARKE, DAVIS & CO.

A substantial increase in the volume of sales in 1918 was shown in the report submitted to the stockholders of Parke, Davis & Co. at their annual meeting, though it was indicated reserves for federal income and excess profit taxes had made a large cut in net profits for the year. Gross earnings were $5,676,260, against 5,265,081 in 1917. Allowance for federal income and excess profits taxes was $2,070,575, against $1,287,897 a year ago. Net profit was $2,956,339, against $3,034,251 in 1917.

FIGHT AGAINST FAVORITISM TO SOUTH IS WON

Chicago Bankers Object to Change in Certificate Quotas.

BY GLENN GRISWOLD.

Chicago bankers have won in a stubborn fight against a treasury department plan for further taxing northern reserve districts in the matter of financing the government to compensate for and conceal the shortcomings of the south.

Southern districts have consistenly fallen far behind in the purchase of treasury certificates issued in anticipation of the fifth Liberty loan, have lagged far more than they did in previous government financing. The treasury department proposed to reduce the quotas of southern districts, already favored by the percentages, and increase northern quotas an equal amount.

Objections Are Made.

Bankers of New York, Chicago and St. Louis, which have given plus subscriptions in each of the bi-weekly certificate offerings to make the total for the country equal to its quota, despite the failure of from four to seven districts, are willing to continue to dig deeper than is required in equity, but they refuse to let southern districts dodge the onus of failure. Several bankers threatened to quit the government service if the quotas were changed and they were assured yesterday that no change will be made.

There have been five certificate offerings since Christmas, all to be used in paying for the next loan. The Chicago, New York, St. Louis and Minneapolis districts have oversubscribed their quotas on each. The combined quota of the Chicago district for the five offerings was $427,000,000 and total subscriptions were $489,894,500 an oversubscription of 14.7 per cent.

Record of Districts.

The Dallas district has failed in each of the five offerings. Its combined quota was $73,200,000 and total subscriptions were $35,904,500, a deficit of 50.9 per cent. Kansas City and Atlanta failed on four of the five offerings and Richmond lagged in three. Boston, is the only northern district which failed noticeably, having been behind its quota in four floatations. Cleveland lagged in three campaigns, but put over so large an oversubscription in others that it is more than 100 per cent on the series. San Francisco did similarly after two failures.

The sale just closed showed subscriptions of $687,381,500, compared to a $600,000,000 quota. The Chicago district subscribed $103,048,500, as compared to a quota of $84,000,000, the largest oversubscription yet reported.

JOHN G. SHEDD SEES DAWN OF PROSPERITY ERA

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—"Phenomenal business in every line is bound to develop throughout the United States and the rest of the civilized world as the result of peace and America's participation not only in the war but the peace activities," said John G. Shedd, president of Marshall Field & Co., Chicago, who arrived in Pasadena yesterday to occupy his winter home.

"I feel that the present labor unrest is the result of bolshevism, which is the same as pro-Hun, propaganda, and that the more rational majority will soon put an end to it without the necessity of bloodshed, at least in the United States. The world is looking toward this nation for precept in a far greater degree than is popularly supposed. I have no fears for the future of our country. We are too courageous and resourceful to be intimidated by any condition and too just to give the rest of the right thinking world cause for discontent. I believe the next half century will be a period of the greatest prosperity and contentment this nation has ever known."

FINANCIAL NOTES

The south is going systematically about the task of curtailing the acreage of cotton for next year and protecting itself on the supply it is forced to carry over. There will be a meeting of officials of the North Carolina Bankers' association, the Merchants' association, and state officials in Raleigh today to devise means of imposing on every planter a reduction of acreage.

The senate committee on commerce yesterday adopted a resolution calling on the war, navy, interior, and commerce departments and the shipping board for statements of the fuel oil requirements of the government for 1919. The resolution also called for information as to the sources and stored supply of oils under contract, the extent to which Mexican imports have been restricted by embargo, taxes, and changed producing conditions and the known oil bearing territory with the development and exhaustion.

The Lehigh Valley railroad will not be required to pay the Lehigh Valley Coal Sales company $319,000 alleged to have been collected by the carrier in payment of unreasonable rates on anthracite coal. In deciding this case the government held that the decision in the anthracite case decided some time ago relieved carriers from charge of extortionate rates.

There is some anxiety in metal market circles as to the large stocks which are being held by the government. It was said some time ago that there would be no disposal of these supplies for some time and that even when sold they would be parceled out slowly so as not to directly affect the price of metal in the open market. There are reports now that the government has already begun disposing of its supplies.

The report of the Lee Rubber and Tire corporation for 1918, which will be issued in about two weeks, will show net earnings after all taxes, depreciation, and reserves amounting to between $225,000 and $250,000, compared with $22,589 in 1917.

A credit of $5,000,000 has been established in favor of Roumania, the United States treasury announced today. This makes total credits of $10,000,000 for Roumania and $8,678,157,000 for all the allies.

Advices received by mail from London place the world's gold output for 1918 at $405,000,000. This compares with a total of $428,380,000 in the year previous, or a reduction of some $23,000,000. Comparison of the production of the United States in 1918 with that of the previous year indicates that the greater part of the decrease in the world's output was in this country, as our production last year amounted to $68,493,000, against $83,750,000 in 1917, being a reduction of over $15,000,000. The world's stock of gold as of the opening of the new year was placed at $9,675,000,000. Of this amount the United States owned $3,080,510,000, or about 31 per cent.

Real Estate Transfers

Real estate transfers yesterday totaled 86, including 11 Torrens and involving a total consideration of $246,445. There were 68 in the city and 18 outside, as follows:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Rogers Park | 2 | Stickney [city] | 1 |
| Lake View | 6 | Cicero | 8 |
| Jefferson | 15 | Lyons | 1 |
| North Town | 4 | Maine | 1 |
| South Town | 4 | New Trier | 2 |
| Hyde Park | 7 | Proviso | 3 |
| Lake | 10 | Thornton | 1 |
| Calumet [city] | 3 | Wheeling | 1 |
| West Town | 16 | Worth | 1 |

Two transactions involving the construction of high class apartment buildings, with probable costs of from $125,000 to more than $200,000, featured yesterday's real estate news.

One was the purchase by Isaac H. Mayer of the law firm of Mayer, Meyer, Austrian & Platt, from the University of Chicago of the vacant 50x132 feet on the east side of Dearborn parkway, about 170 feet south of North avenue, for a stated consideration of $22,500, which is at the rate of $450 a front foot.

An interesting feature of the transaction is that the property recently was acquired by the university as a part of the La Verne Noyes foundation for the education at the university of men or descendants of men who were engaged in the war. While the plans of the proposed building have not yet been worked out in detail, it is announced that it is Mr. Mayer's purpose to improve the property with an extra high grade apartment building which probably will cost in excess of $100,000. The owner will occupy one of the apartments.

Buys Ravenswood Corner.

In the other transaction Mrs. Emma Buck, wife of Niels Buck, architect and builder, has purchased from Charlotte Merkel the vacant 192x152 feet at the southeast corner of Robey street and Sunnyside avenue, for an indicated consideration of $23,500, subject to $10,000. Mr. Buck said yesterday that as soon as building conditions are more favorable he will improve, probably, with an eighty-eight apartment building of two, three and four rooms, to cost probably in excess of $200,000.

Louise A. Battenbury and W. H. Battenbury, president of the Suburban Trust and Savings bank of Oak Park, have conveyed to Charles W. Eichberger the Thorndale apartments at the southeast corner of Winthrop and Thorndale avenues for a stated consideration of $65,000, subject to an incumbrance of $35,000. The building, which occupies a lot 75x150 feet, contains fifteen apartments of four, five and 6 rooms, having a gross annual rental of $8,200.

Mr. Eichberger conveyed in part payment the business property at the southwest corner of Lawrence and Spaulding avenues, with store and flat improvements on a lot 58x125 feet, at a stated consideration of $30,000. In connection with the deal the Krause State Savings bank has made a loan of $10,000, three years at 6 per cent, on the Lawrence avenue property. The deal was negotiated by J. M. Krause & Sons and J. A. Ritzel.

Six Downtown Leases.

The Hool Realty company reports six leases closed in the State-Lake building with aggregate term rentals of $84,120 as follows: To Mrs. A. S. Helderman, space on fourth floor for beauty parlors at a term rental of $18,300; to W. Harris & Co., office space on the sixth floor at a term rental of $19,120; to Enameled Steel Sign company, office space on eighth floor at term rental of $14,400; to Foley, Greenhouse Manufacturing company, office space on the eighth floor at a term rental of $14,400; to Kilroy & Britton, office space on sixth floor at a term rental of $9,000.

TALK OF THE STREET

An estimate of earnings of the Southern Pacific, made before the appearance of the annual report for 1918, places the profits applicable to the stock at about 12% against 17.65 in 1917, and 12.63 in 1916. The percentage may be increased slightly by allowance of claims for compensation in excess of the amounts certified for the test period, and may be increased by earnings of the California Fuel Oil department.

The showing made by the Northern Pacific for December should make a favorable impression on the market for the shares since there was not only an increase of 36 per cent in operating revenues, but also an increase of 49 per cent in operating income. The figures for the year also show that while there was a decrease of $4,009,795 in operating income for the year, the losses were sustained prior to December, so that the net returns were on the upturn at the end of the twelve months' period.

The copper shares were not adversely affected by the reported reduction in copper metal prices. The stocks of Utah Anaconda, and Inspiration were all fractionally higher and a fairly good tone was exhibited throughout the session.

It was with difficulty that some of the larger eastern commission houses noted improvement in the general list following the appearance of the Steel tonnage report. It was said that the actual decrease was more than the amount given out and should have been close to 1,000,000 tons if account were taken of orders at higher prices which were not specified against.

With the improvement in Steel Common there followed an advance in American Steel Foundries which gained more than two points to 70½. Studebaker Common was another issue displaying firmness with an advance of one point. The railroad list did little, and the miscellaneous stocks were irregular.

The sharpest advance in many weeks carried hog prices to the highest point reached since Nov. 27, 1918. The average moved up to $17.85, standing 14c above Saturday, 35c above the minimum, that much above previous Monday, $1.72 higher than a year ago, and $5.40 above two years ago. Best sold yesterday at $18.10, but the tendency is still higher.

Disapointingly small receipts and big shipping orders were the strengthening factors in the hog trade. Some lightweights sold as much as 25c above last week's close. Late trade was best of the day, with both shippers and big packers short on their orders.

A year ago today top hogs sold off 40c at $16.05, with the general average $15.75. It was Wednesday, Feb. 13, 1918, that the United States food administration in a letter "requested" the packers not to buy their droves below $15.50 and after that date prices advanced sharply, the average reaching $17.43 in less than two weeks' time.

Last week's average weight of hogs at 237 pounds was 3 pounds above the estimate, standing heaviest at Chicago since last September. It was in that month that the average reached 252 pounds, the heaviest during 1918. Average a year ago last week was 229 pounds and two years ago 203 pounds.

Cattle Advance Is Checked.

With receipts larger than generally expected, the advancing cattle market was checked. Barring strictly prime grades the general market was 25c lower, with extreme cases of more decline on medium classes. Low priced cows and heifers sold at relatively most decline.

Quality of Monday's cattle receipts was poor. Best offered sold at $19.75 and only about half a dozen loads went above the $18.00 line. Strictly prime grades were sought and it was questionable just where a suitable load would have landed with so few of the right kind on sale.

Rather light receipts and a general good demand caused an advance of 15@25c for bulk of offerings in the sheep house. Some of the plainer grades failed to get the full advance, but choice lots had a firm undertone all day.

Top Lambs Higher.

Top lambs reached $17.60, being 25c above last week's top, $2.50 higher than low point last December, highest since last September, and 35c higher than top a year ago. General demand for lambs at present is active and predictions of still higher prices are made.

Eleven principal markets received 164,000 hogs Monday, against 116,000 a week ago and 180,000 a year ago. For the year to date arrivals total 4,954,000, being 735,000 more than same period last year, 313,000 more than two years ago, but 150,000 less than corresponding period of 1916, when arrivals were a record. In view of the arrivals during the last few weeks the trade is of the opinion that the decrease from the record year will grow larger.

Receipts for today are estimated at 15,000 cattle, 40,000 hogs, and 22,000 sheep, against 18,234 cattle, 51,767 hogs, and 14,257 sheep corresponding Tuesday a year ago.

COFFEE PRICES.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—The market for coffee futures was quiet today with prices steadier on a little scattered covering or trade buying in the absence of any important selling. The close was 12@20 points net higher with late months relatively firm.

Closing bids: May, 14.12c; July, 13.73c; September, 13.48c; October, 13.40c; December, 13.25c; January, 13.20c.

Spot coffee was quiet: Rio 7s, 15¼c; Santos 4s, 21¼c. The official cables reported no change in the spot market at either Rio or Santos. Santos futures were 25 reis lower to 25 reis higher. Brazilian port receipts, 32,000 bags; Jundiahy receipts, 32,000 bags.

Galveston-Houston Electric Railway.

D. S., Appleton, Wis.—The Galveston-Houston Electric railway has outstanding $2,877,000 of first mortgage bonds and $1,650,000 of stock. The stock is all owned by the Galveston-Houston Electric company, which guarantees the bonds. Separate reports of the subsidiary are not published. The holding company has shown a steady increase in gross for several years past but had a small decline in net in 1916 and 1917. Last year it increased. In the twelve months ended Nov. 30 net was $848,889, an increase of about 25 per cent. Interest plus a heavy sinking fund charge were covered nearly twice. As a part of the sinking fund is for the retirement of this issue, the bonds are well secured.

Utah Power and Light.

M. R., Logansport, Ind.—The Utah Power and Light company has issued $23,566,000 of first mortgage bonds. It also has outstanding $7,400,000 of first preferred stock and is now issuing $600,000 more, $4,937,000 of second preferred and $30,000,000 common, the last being owned by the Utah Securities company. The company has shown a steady increase of gross and net earnings covering bond interest well over twice. The bonds are a conservative investment. On the basis of last year's earnings the dividend on the entire $8,000,000 of first preferred stock is covered more than twice, giving it a strong position.

Southern Railway Notes.

A. W., West Point, Ia.—The new Southern railway notes are issued to retire $25,000,000 of two year notes which mature March 2. They are secured by the same collateral, viz., $43,500,000 par value of development and general mortgage 4 per cent bonds. The company earned its fixed charges nearly twice in 1917 and in 1918 it was one of the few roads reporting an increase in net earnings. This showing gives the notes a good rank among similar obligations of railways. They are rather a business man's investment than one for savings.

Brief Answers.

J. B., Denison, Tex.—The government is contesting the Southern Pacific company's title to some oil lands in California. If the company wins its stock will probably increase in value a little, while if it loses just the opposite result will follow. Nobody can tell which way the Supreme court will decide.

A. P. M.—The Crescent Refining company has been operating for several years. Its refinery at Newkirk, Okla., is of medium size. It has issued $735,000 of stock and at last accounts was paying dividends of 2 per cent a month.

J. S. S.—No recent official information is obtainable from the Factories Merchandise company.

INSURANCE NEWS IN ALL BRANCHES EAST AND WEST

Fire and Theft Rates on Automobiles to Be Changed.

BY THOMAS R. WEDDELL.

The new automobile fire and theft rates, which go into effect throughout the west March 1, were placed in the hands of agents yesterday. Rates are materially increased on the cheaper forms of cars and are reduced on cars selling above $1,800. The increases in rates are due chiefly to the theft hazard, and in order to bring this home to the owners of cars the fire and theft rates are published separately in the districts where the higher theft rates apply. Many companies will publish the rates on their policies, with a notation that the increase is due to the lack of proper police and court protection.

The fire rate is uniform throughout the north, the rate in the south being higher, but with a smaller differential than heretofore. The western fire rate is 75 cents per $100 for new cars listing at $3,500 and over; 80 cents between $3,500 and $2,500; 90 cents between $2,500 and $1,800, and $1 for cars costing less than $1,800. The fire rate increases annually on the older cars.

The theft rates are applied on the same system throughout the country, north and south. The field has been divided into three degrees of hazards, with a schedule for each. The country schedule, which carries the lowest rates, is applicable to rural and small town territory in the west and south, the committee holding that there is no real country territory in the east. It is lower than the present theft rates, except on the higher priced cars. The standard schedule will be used in the smaller cities and towns throughout the country. The penalty schedule applies to all the large cities where the theft hazard has been unusually severe. In the east the only city affected is Philadelphia, but in the west it applies in Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Omaha, St. Joseph, St. Louis, Kansas City, Wichita, Joplin, and Tulsa.

SECRETARY WOOD RESIGNS.

Donald M. Wood of Chicago has resigned as secretary of the National Association of Casualty and Surety Agents and the executive committee has appointed Philip B. Shillito of Chicago to finish his unexpired term. Mr. Wood is a member of Childs, Young & Wood, general agents of the Royal Indemnity. The office lost a number of its best men to military service and it requires so much of Mr. Wood's time to handle his own affairs that it was impossible for him to serve longer. Mr. Shillito is manager of the northwestern department of the Massachusetts Bonding.

WESTCHESTER FIELD CHANGES.

The Westchester Fire has made several changes in its western field, Harry F. McGuren, who has been in the western department offices of the company for some time, has been appointed state agent for Minnesota and North Dakota, with headquarters at Minneapolis. Frank M. De Haven, formerly in the field for the American Interinsurance exchange for Kansas City, has been made state agent for Missouri and Kansas, with headquarters at Kansas City. South Dakota has been added to the territory of William N. Duval, whose territory now comprises Iowa, Nebraska, and South Dakota, with headquarters at Omaha.

PRODUCE TRADE

Egg prices recovered 1½c of the drop made on Saturday, there being more buying due to the lowering of prices. Receipts were 13,404 cases. The finish was weaker than at the start, with sales around 38c. The five markets had 32,970 cases.

Butter met a fair demand in fancy whole milks. Supplies in the street were lighter and prices advanced ½c. Consumption in the east has enlarged owing to the recent drop in prices. New York reported prices unchanged with receipts 6,148 tubs. In Boston most sales were at lower prices with receipts 1,974 tubs. Philadelphia was unsettled with higher grades advanced ½c, and the lower depressed ½ to 1½c. Receipts 2,015 tubs.

Live fowls advanced 2c and springs, stags and roosters 1c, demand being active and receipts 5 cars and 205 coops.

Potatoes were taken in a moderate way, with sales of car lots at $1.70 to $1.85. Receipts 67 cars, against 67 cars a week ago, with 152 cars on team track and 49 cars on outer tracks.

CORN ADVANCES AFTER CHANGE IN SENTIMENT

Selling Pressure Spends Its Force Early in the Day.

BY CHARLES D. MICHAELS.

Selling pressure in coarse grain futures spent its force early yesterday and sentiment changed later in the day, resulting in a good advance which was held at the last, the early sellers turning to the buying side, and there was a little more disposition to take profits for a turn. Closing trades were net gains of ½@1¼c on corn, July leading. Oats closed unchanged on the near futures and ⅝@⅞c higher on the distant deliveries in Chicago.

Corn in St. Louis closed ½c lower to 1c higher, and Kansas City ⅜c lower to ¾c higher. Oats in the southwest were 1@1¼c higher. Oats in Minneapolis gained ⅜c and in Winnipeg ⅞c. Rye in Minneapolis lost ½@1¼c.

Sentiment Changes in Corn.

Houses with eastern connections and strong local professionals were active on the selling side of corn early, but later sentiment underwent considerable change as prices failed to decline as much as expected, and many of the bull element took the bull side for a turn on the grounds that if prices would not decline they might advance. A rally of ¾@¾c followed, with the close about the top. February at the last was $1.21; March, $1.19; May, $1.12⅝, and July, $1.05.

A reduction of 595,000 bu in the visible supply statement attracted some attention, as it usually increases at this season. From now on the primary arrivals will compare very unfavorably with last year's as the railroads were just recovering from the effect of the severe blizzards and low temperatures in January. Domestic shipping sales, 45,000 bu.

July Oats Show Strength.

Bulk of the trade in oats was of a local character, but there was an absence of pressure, and shorts were disposed to cover. July showed the most strength, while the nearby deliveries were relatively easy, but all closed well toward the top, with February, 55¼c; March, 55¾c; May, 56¼c, and July, 54¾c. At one time March was a fraction over to May.

There were export bids here on the basis of 8c over May, track New York, but sellers asked 9c over with prompt authority for shipment. Country offerings small and receipts 105 cars. Domestic shipping sales 65,000 bu. Sample sales were off ½@2c, closing firm with futures. North American clearances for the week of 840,000 bu were below expectations, and the visible supply increased 72,000 bu, mainly at the seaboard.

Rye Flour for Export.

Spot rye declined 4@4½c, with a slow demand early, but later export sales of rye flour for export with bids for more stimulated the demand and the close was firmer. Spot No. 2 sold at $1.91.25½. Receipts, 54 cars. Milwaukee was 5c lower and Minneapolis ½c lower.

Barley offerings were fair, with the poor grades taken at unchanged prices, while some of the good kinds had to be added 1c to make sales. Some export inquiry was in evidence. Spot sales were at @93c. Receipts, 49 cars. Milwaukee was off 3@5c and Minenapolis 1@3c.

Provisions Up Maximum.

Provision prices advanced the maximum amount for one day under the regulations, practically all at the start, and while there were numerous fluctuations during the day, the close was at the top prices. Pork was up $1.00 per brl and lard and ribs ½c per lb. Packers and shorts were the principal buyers. Shorts were made uneasy by the recent reports of liberal allotments for export. Cash lard sold at 24½c.

Shipments of cured meats from Chicago for the forty-eight hours were 4,576,000 lbs, against 1,020,000 lbs last year, and of lard were 2,724,000 lbs, against 260,000 lbs last year. Prices follow:

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Without allowing for any wheat that may be required for enemy countries, Julius H. Barnes, president of the Food Administration Grain corporation, in his testimony at Washington last week, said that they had definite and estimated orders for 165,000,000 bu, with 145,000,000 bu on hand. Exports for the season to Feb. 1 were about 80,000,000 bu. Farm reserves on Feb. 1 were about 150,000,000 bu, out of which would have to come some grain for domestic consumption, and any increase in European requirements. He said the carryover at the end of the crop year might be about 30,000,000 bu over last year, when it was 28,000,000 bu in first and second hands. Millers have bought 13,000,000 bu from the grain corporation of late.

Almost without exception last night local traders said they were even on the corn market, and were waiting for something to happen. Many took the bull side yesterday, although they were bearish at heart, and have not changed their opinion as to the ultimate course of values, which they still believe is lower, although expecting some further upturn. A few said the reckless selling by eastern traders, some of whom do not seem to know the difference between grain and stocks, as a Chicago man who was in New York last week put it, is a big factor in the market at the present time. It was said during the day that part of the selling by commission houses with eastern connections of late may have been for the Pacific coast, where there are a number of large Chicago traders.

It is understood that there will be no general export demand for grains or other commodities of consequence until the question of finances has been arranged to the satisfaction of sellers in this country. Some of the local traders believe that it is not as much a question of demand from abroad as of getting out the grain owned by the food administration. The ocean tonnage situation is attracting more attention. Reports last week said a number of boats were chartered for loads, but the clearances the past week have been small. Recently 105,000 tons of flour were moved from the Pacific coast to Atlantic ports for export by steamer through the Panama canal. Orders have been issued to move wheat, rye and barley to the seaboard for export.

"Is it not possible that current prices of corn and oats discount, for the present at least, the economic conditions of which we hear so much?" asks Elmer Martin of Riordon, Martin & Co. "Corn is as low now as it was last November, after the armistice was signed, and before the government's final report showing 480,000,000 bu less than in 1917. Cattle are higher than ever known in the history of the country, and hogs well above the minimum price."

Some of the largest sellers of oats on Saturday were the best buyers yesterday. Country holders are not selling oats and there was inquiry from the seaboard at 8c over February for shipment when permits are possible. Holders asked 9c over for prompt shipment.

It will be no surprise to those who have been bearish to see prices for May corn touch $1.15 before there is heavy selling by the trade in general. Many of the local shorts covered on the break in May to around $1.11 yesterday. Those who sold at that figure came in on the later bulge, while the early buyers sold on the closing upturn. That cash houses should buy February attracted attention. A few of the larger cash houses reported small purchases of corn to arrive. It was said that the 50,000 bu sold here was at 81.37 track New York, with 15 per cent moisture test, and was for the Belgian relief.

A Portland, Me., wire to the Bureau of Markets says: "It is believed that stocks of coarse grains must be reduced before there will be any active buying by dealers in Maine. Dealers are only buying to meet immediate needs."

Jesse Livermore is quoted in the Magazine of Wall Street as saying: "Wages cannot be reduced materially until there is a normal crop of food products in Europe. The war ended in such a season that full crops cannot be produced before 1920. Europe cannot prepare the soil properly in time for the 1919 crop. Therefore, the quicker business men abandon the idea that wages must be reduced as a part of the readjustment of the immediate future the quicker everybody will get to work along the line of prosperity. Food and clothing must be reduced in price as a result of a surplus of production before the world can afford to reduce the pay of the laborers."

Foreigners covered July corn on the break here yesterday. In response to an inquiry as to what caused the late strength, a commission man cabled: "There is less than 1,000,000 bu corn in store and many millions sold short."

"Farmers, generally speaking, continue their indifferent attitude toward the present prices offered for corn and it is only on occasional one who decides it is useless to combat a world sentiment for lower prices on all commodities," says H. I. Baldwin of Decatur, Ill. "Dealers are offering $1.00 to $1.10, according to quality, and while there are some stations where little corn has been moved, some of the best producing territories have shipped out 50 per cent of their surplus. These shipments have not all shown up in terminal market receipts and the government estimate on farm reserves on March 1 may prove very interesting. The largest unmarketed part of the hog crop is in the corn belt and each one is eating corn every day."

February deliveries yesterday were 3,000 bu corn and 10,000 bu barley.

CASH GRAIN NEWS

Chicago is about the lowest cash wheat market in the west. The bulk of sales were at the government basis figures, but at Kansas City hard winter brought 12@16c over, and at St. Louis red winter was 196@25c over. The latter is rather surprising in view of the food administration's recent offer to sell at cost, plus charges. Local receipts were 67 cars.

Demand for cash corn was fairly good, with shippers taking the through billed grain. Industries were also in the market. Sample values were unchanged to 7c lower as compared with Saturday's sales, but the finish was 1@2c above the inside figure, with a few cars showing a larger advance. St. Louis reported a slow demand and prices 1@6c lower. Kansas City was unchanged to 4c lower, Omaha unchanged to 1c lower, Peoria 3@5c lower, and Milwaukee 5c lower.

Cash oats sold fairly, with prices here ½@2c lower, St. Louis ¼c lower, Kansas City and Peoria ¼c lower, Omaha ½@¼c lower, and Milwaukee ½@1c lower. Cash grain prices in leading markets follow:

LARGE CANADIAN FARM FOR SALE

Owner Retiring and Will Dispose of 758 Acres and Fine Buildings

Situated at Cowley, Alberta, a thriving town on the Crow's Nest Line of the C. P. R. Main buildings within one mile of the town, while part of the farm is actually within town limits. Cowley is in the midst of the Fall Wheat Country, just across border from Montana, and is noted for its fine crops and dairy products. Four hundred and forty acres now in cultivation on this farm. Six hundred and fifty acres tillable.

Mixed farming is the business of the farm now operating. All dairy products are readily salable to the miners' families in the West's greatest mining country—the Crow's Nest—of which there are ten mines now in steady operation. Many American farmers reside in this district.

The farm consists of 758 acres held at $45.00 an acre, including $16,000.00 in buildings alone, and is fenced in eleven fields. A cash payment of $12,000.00 down will handle it, with balance in seven equal payments. The amount of cash asked is actually less than the value of improvements.

Further information may be had direct from the owner, who desires to retire from active participation in operating such a large farm.
